With Delta pumping remaining curtailed because of the Delta smelt court rulings and a new "biological opinion" under the Endangered Species Act promising to make things even worse in the valley and state, it's time to again raise signs and voices. The California Latino Water Coalition invites you to join farm workers, farmers, business people, family members, elected officials and other fellow Californians for a Rally For Water July 1, 2009. With unemployment and social and economic damage on the increase, this latest National Marine Fisheries Service ESA protection plan for salmon, steelhead, green sturgeon and killer whales will hit and harm Central Valley Project and State Water Project users alike and may well extend the massive CVP water supply and farm production cutbacks from the West Side to the East Side. All of California is certain to suffer more!
