Fresno-Esmeralda Soria the first woman councilmember for District1 and second Latino to serve the Fresno City Council was sworn in today with her parents, family members and supporters present at the public City Council meeting this morning.

Councilmember Soria spoke to her passion to improve public safety, create new jobs and support education during her term as councilmember. She promised to continue the practice of being available to all of her constituents and will continue her practice of the “Soria Sidewalk Hours” which were very popular and provided her with the voice of the community. She stated to her constituency “If you can’t come to City Hall, I will make sure City Hall goes to District 1”.

The Councilmember also commented on her goal of providing the energy to reinvest in the older neighborhoods, many which are located in District 1. Also stating that she wished to see the Tower being connected to the downtown and the West of 99 not to be forgotten.

She closed her remarks with “The real work begins today! I have rolled up my sleeves and am ready to work to make Fresno be the best place that it can be.”
