Fresno Community Leaders Come Together For A Post-Presidential Election Message Of Unity In Response To Uncertainties And Fears Within The Immigrant Community

FRESNO – Fresno City and community leaders hold a press conference on Wednesday, November 16, 2016 at Fresno City Hall.

The Post-Presidential Election has left the immigrant community of Fresno with uneasy feelings of what is to come. Fresno community leaders come together to report on the importance of being inclusive and intentions to protect our immigrant communities.

The City of Fresno has been a model of diversity where immigrants of all nationalities can progress and thousands of them have made it their home. They are our teachers, doctors, lawyers, engineers, architects, friends, and neighbors and we must protect their right to live the American Dream.

Fresno is no different than the rest of the state in defending its people, and we will not allow one election to reverse generations of progress.
