EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

ES-05 Executive Summary - 24 CFR 91.200(c), 91.220(b)

1. Introduction

Every five years, the City of Fresno must prepare a strategic plan (known as the Consolidated Plan) which governs the use of federal housing and community development grant funds that it receives from the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). When preparing a Consolidated Plan, grantees must assess the needs and issues in their jurisdictions as a part of their preparation of these documents.

The grant funds received from HUD by the City that are covered by the Consolidated Plan include:

- Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program
- Home Investment Partnerships Act (HOME) Program
- Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG) Program
- Housing Opportunities for Persons with HIV/AIDS (HOPWA) Program.

The City must also submit to HUD separate Annual Action Plans for each of the five years during the Consolidated Plan period. The Annual Action Plans serve as the City’s yearly applications to HUD that are required for the City to receive the annual allocations from the four grant programs. These grants from HUD are known as Entitlement Grant Programs because communities receive the funds every year if they meet program requirements and criteria associated with each of the four grants.

Under HUD’s grant program regulations, the City of Fresno may use its CDBG, HOME, and ESG grant funds only within the city limits, however, Fresno receives and administers its HOPWA funding for the entirety of Fresno County, known as its “Eligible Metropolitan Statistical Area” or EMSA. With its HOPWA funds, the City is required to serve eligible persons living anywhere within the EMSA and not just within city limits.

2. Summary of the objectives and outcomes identified in the Plan Needs Assessment Overview

When preparing a Consolidated Plan, grantees must assess the needs in their jurisdictions as a key part of the process. To inform development of priorities and goals over the next five years, the Consolidated Plan’s Needs Assessment discusses housing, community development, and economic development needs in the city. It relies on data from the U.S. Census, the 2011-2015 5-Year American Community Survey (ACS), and a special tabulation of ACS data known as Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy (CHAS) data that estimates the number of households with one or more housing needs. Local data regarding homelessness and assisted housing is included. Finally, public input gathered through interviews, focus groups, public meetings, and the community survey are coupled with data analysis to identify priority needs.
related to affordable housing, homelessness, assisted housing, community development, and economic development in Fresno. Comments provided by attendees at the community meetings, stakeholders and citizens who were interviewed are listed in the Citizen Participation portion of this report; an abbreviated list is below:

Priority Needs Identified by Participants

- Alternative housing models
- Low barrier housing/shelter
- Housing and programs for people who are homeless or victims of domestic violence

3. Evaluation of past performance

The City’s most recent CAPER (2018-2019) reported on the City’s performance relative to the previous Consolidated Plan’s goals. Select highlights from the 2018-2019 CAPER are provided below, by goal area. Generally, the City has made good progress toward the goals of its previous Consolidated Plan and as such, the priorities and strategies expressed in this 2020-2024 Consolidated Plan largely align with the City’s ongoing approach to program implementation.

Goal 1: Safe and Affordable Housing

- City of Fresno Senior Paint Program: Completed 9 with 9 additional projects to be completed in the PY 2019.
- Minor Code Compliance Program: Completed 11, with 1 project pending completion at the end of the PY 2019.
- CDBG Rehabilitation Program: 1 project pending completion. Targeted Area Rehabilitation Program: Completed 3.
- Habitat for Humanity Senior Paint Program: Completed 13, with 20 projects pending completion.
- Self Help Home Repair Program: Completed 2, with 14 projects pending completion.
- Habitat for Humanity Home Repair Program: Completed 2, with 20 projects pending completion.
Goal 2: Homeless Services

- Based on the Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) reports provided to the City, 795 persons were provided overnight shelter, 68 units of rapid re-housing and 19 units of homeless prevention were provided during PY 2018.
- HOPWA funds were used for supportive services, housing information and referral services, tenant-based rental assistance, and short-term rent, mortgage, and utility (STRMU) assistance to 53 persons.
- The City also contracted with the Fresno Housing Authority to provide HOME funding for Tenant Based Rental Assistance (TBRA) to 17 at-risk families and households for the prevention of homelessness.

Goal 3: Community Services

- City of Fresno After School Program: The Parks, Afterschool Recreation and Community Services (PARCS) department operated the City’s after school program and summer FUN Camp, benefitting 712 youth during PY 2018. The afterschool program is offered at ten locations.
- City of Fresno PARCS Senior Hot Meals: Weekday meals and programming provided for seniors at seven sites within the city. The program served congregate hot meals and shelf stable meals to 997 seniors.
- Boys and Girls Club of Fresno County (B&GC): B&GC utilizes CDBG funds to provide education, job training and recreation for youth ages 6 to 18 at three City park centers located in at-risk neighborhoods experiencing high rates of poverty. During PY 2018, the program served 1,031 youth.
- Stone Soup Fresno Job Development Pilot Program: A total of 90 clients were enrolled into the program, and of those, at least 49 attained new part-time or full-time employment or attained wage progression, and 26 completed training or persisted with their training at program end.

Goal 4: Public Facilities and Public Improvements

- Neighborhood Street Improvements: The Hidalgo neighborhood received new sidewalks, drive approaches, and curb ramps, as well as curb and gutter construction/reconstruction for greater ADA accessibility.
- Park Facilities Improvements: CDBG funds providing for capital improvements to parks and recreational facilities serving low- and moderate-income residential areas. The projects include: Romain (challenger course), CA/Tupman (pocket park playground and fencing), Cary Park (lighting installation), design for renovations to various learner pools, Hinton (restroom and field lighting), Granny’s Park (youth modular center), JSK Victoria West (playground and shade structure), Dickey Playground (tot lot replacement) Fink-White (splash park)
4. Summary of citizen participation process and consultation process

An important component of the research process for this Consolidated Plan involved gathering input regarding housing and community development needs in the Fresno. The project team used a variety of approaches to achieve meaningful public engagement with residents and other stakeholders, including public meetings, focus groups, interviews, a website comment form, and a community-wide survey. Each of these approaches is briefly summarized here, with greater detail provided in the Citizen Participation section of the Plan.

Public Meetings

Three rounds consisting of a total of 16 public meetings were held to inform residents and other stakeholders of the City’s planning process and to gather information for Consolidated Plan. The first round of ten meetings was held in early November to introduce the community to the planning process, provide information on ways to get involved, and collect input on housing and community development needs. These public meetings had both Spanish and Hmong interpreters present and were live-captioned to keep the meeting content accessible to participants with disabilities.

The City of Fresno held three follow-up meetings in December to engage community members in the prioritization of the highest needs identified in the November meetings and community survey. These meetings utilized a small group breakout format, where each group of 2-4 attendees was facilitated by a City of Fresno staff person allowing for more detailed discussion of needs and issues. Finally, a third round of three public meetings was held in January for the purpose of collecting feedback from residents and stakeholders on a draft set of community priorities. These meetings also used a small group breakout format to collect detailed reactions and recommended revisions to the priorities. In all, 168 people attended the public meetings.

Focus Groups

In addition to the public meetings, two focus groups were held to collect input from youth and seniors. As with the public meetings, these groups typically began with an explanation of the Consolidated Plan. The focus group leader facilitated a discussion of fair and affordable housing needs, neighborhood conditions, and community resources in the City of Fresno. The Senior Focus Group included 36 participants and 30 students participated in the Teen/Pre-Teen Focus Group for a total of 66 participants combined.

Stakeholder Interviews

During the week of November 3, 2019, individual and small group stakeholder interviews were held at locations in Fresno. For people unable to attend an in-person interview, telephone interviews were offered. Stakeholders were identified by City staff and represented a variety of viewpoints including fair housing/legal advocacy, housing, affordable housing, community development and planning, education, employment, homelessness, people with disabilities, and others. Interview invitations were made by email and/or phone to a list of stakeholders compiled by the project team with input from the City of Fresno. A total of 40 stakeholders within the Fresno community participated in an interview with the project team.
Intercept Interviews

A team of City staff conducted intercept interviews at Inspiration Park on a busy Saturday afternoon. The interviewers approached families and individuals as they were picnicking and enjoying the playground with a set of short, informal questions designed to engage residents informally about areas and issues they would like to see improved within the city. In all, 13 residents participated in an intercept interview.

Project Website

A standalone website specifically for the City’s Consolidated Plan and Analysis of Impediments project was developed and hosted at www.FresnoConPlanAI.com to be both an information resource for the community and to facilitate input and engagement. The project website was continually updated with meeting details, contained a link to the community survey, and offered fact sheets on each of the City’s grant programs. The website received 994 visits from 818 unique users over the course of the project. Three comments were submitted for the project team’s consideration through an online comment form located on the website.

Community Survey

A final method for obtaining community input was a 29-question survey available to the general public, including people living or working in the City of Fresno or other stakeholders. The survey was available online and in hard copy, in English, Spanish and Hmong, from October to December 2019. Paper copies were available at the public meetings and other related events held throughout the study area. A total of 500 survey responses were received, including four that were completed in Spanish (although 28% of the English version respondents indicated that they live in multi-lingual households).

5. Summary of public comments

The City of Fresno held a public comment period and a public hearing to receive input from residents and stakeholders on the draft Consolidated Plan prior to approval by the Fresno City Council and submission to HUD. Comments received during the public comment period are included in this plan’s Appendix C.

6. Summary of comments or views not accepted and the reasons for not accepting them

All public comments were accepted and taken into consideration in preparing the Consolidated Plan.

7. Summary

This Consolidated Plan describes the City’s priorities for CDBG, HOME, ESG, and HOPWA funding, including how those resources will be allocated geographically, how the specific projects funded by the City will address these priorities, and the outcomes that can be expected as a result.
The priorities represent the highest level needs expected to be addressed over the 2020-2024 Consolidated Plan period using the City’s grant funds. In summary, the priority needs set by this Consolidated Plan are:

1. Provide assistance for the homeless and those at risk of becoming homeless through safe low-barrier shelter options, housing first collaborations, and associated supportive services.

2. Improve access to affordable housing for low-income and special needs households by partnering with interested developers to increase development of low-income and affordable housing in high opportunity areas, and by promoting the preservation and rehabilitation of existing affordable housing units.

3. Promote quality of life and neighborhood revitalization through improvements to current public infrastructure and facilities, and by closing gaps in areas with aging, lower quality, or nonexistent public infrastructure and facilities.

4. Provide services to low-income and special needs households that develop human capital and improve quality of life.

5. Provide services to residents and housing providers to advance fair housing.

6. Plan and administer funding for community development, housing, and homelessness activities with improved transparency, increased community involvement, and full compliance with federal regulations.

The City of Fresno’s Consolidated Plan preparation coincides with the development of the first year Action Plan and the annual Notice of Funding Available (NOFA) process. The City awards CDBG, HOME, ESG, and HOPWA funding to non-profits, public agencies, City departments, and developers that provide public services and housing for low-income and special needs households. It is largely through these partners that the City is able to accomplish progress toward its priority needs.

1. Introduction

The City of Fresno utilized a robust public engagement process to develop its 2020-2024 Five-Year Consolidated Plan. Prior to preparing the draft Plans, the City of Fresno hosted 16 public engagement meetings reaching a total of 168 unique individuals, two focus groups, and offered a public survey. A total of 500 people participated in the survey. Results of these outreach efforts are summarized in the Community Participation section of the Plan.

The City of Fresno will hold a 30-day public comment period and two public hearings to receive input from residents and stakeholders on the draft Consolidated Plan prior to approval by the Fresno City Council and submission to HUD.

Provide a concise summary of the jurisdiction’s activities to enhance coordination between public and assisted housing providers and private and governmental health, mental health and service agencies (91.215(l)).

Through ESG funding, the City of Fresno provides support to the Multi-Agency Access Program (MAP), which serves as the FMCoC coordinated intake program for homeless individuals and families in need of services, including physical and mental health, substance abuse and housing needs. Three MAP Points are located within Fresno’s city limits, with the primary point of entry being at the Poverello House, a local non-profit that provides a clinic and shelter.

The City of Fresno has also developed a database of over 500 local service providers with whom it can distribute information and coordinate activities throughout various Fresno communities. Local service providers include those providers in the fields of workforce development and community advocacy, as well as business owners, and public agencies and concerned individuals.

Throughout the community engagement period in the preparation of this plan, stakeholders were consistently engaged, updated, and encouraged to participate in the Consolidated Plan process. Stakeholders were asked to promote the outreach activities with their constituents and beneficiaries. Elected leaders, community planners, and public agencies and departments (City, County, and region-wide) also worked to promote the Consolidated Planning process by updating their social media pages, speaking with residents, and circulating email notifications and flyers. Many of the organizations forwarded the email to their mailing lists and promoted the events to their local partners.

In addition to citywide outreach, staff also conducted targeted outreach in lower income, CDBG-Eligible communities by distributing flyers at local neighborhood organizations and health centers. City of Fresno staff and partnered organization Helping Others Pursue Excellence (H.O.P.E.) also distributed flyers through a door-to-door effort, engaging citizens in their neighborhoods and encouraging them to attend the meetings and to help spread the word. Flyers and outreach were also conducted door-to-door at affordable housing developments near locations of community meetings.

Describe coordination with the Continuum of Care and efforts to address the needs of homeless persons (particularly chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans, and unaccompanied youth) and persons at risk of homelessness

The City of Fresno is a member of the Fresno Madera Continuum of Care (FMCoC). The FMCoC is responsible for coordinating homeless services throughout Fresno and Madera Counties, such as homelessness prevention, outreach to homeless individuals, short and mid-term emergency housing, supportive services and mental and physical healthcare access.

Together, the City of Fresno and FMCoC received over $12 million in Homeless Emergency Aid Program (HEAP) and California Emergency Solutions and Housing (CESH) funding to provide homeless services throughout the region.\(^1\) Over the period of 2019 to 2021, the city will spend approximately $1.5 million on a triage center, $650,000 on homeless outreach services for families and youth and $100,000 on a work program for homeless individuals.\(^2\) Three triage centers will open within Fresno’s city limits, and will be funded either through the City of Fresno or Fresno County. The former Hacienda Hotel in west Fresno will be converted to a 50-bed triage center operated by Mental Health Services, Inc., an FMCoC member. A second triage center, Belgravia, will open in southeast Fresno and will also be operated by an FMCoC member, Turning Point of Central California. Naomi’s House, a women’s triage center, will open in central Fresno and be operated by FMCoC member Poverello House.\(^3\)

Describe consultation with the Continuum(s) of Care that serves the jurisdiction's area in determining how to allocate ESG funds, develop performance standards and evaluate outcomes, and develop funding, policies and procedures for the administration of HMIS

As part of its PY 2019 planning process, the City of Fresno consulted the FMCoC on its ESG program allocation amounts. The City also coordinated with the FMCoC and Fresno County to establish its ESG performance standards in 2011. These standards remain in effect. The Fresno Housing Authority, as the Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) Lead for the FMCoC, conducts the Point in Time count and manages data around homelessness. The Fresno Housing Authority, as well as all other members of the FMCoC, utilize the Vulnerability Index assessment tool and the Coordinated Entry System.

PR-15 Citizen Participation

1. Summary of citizen participation process/Efforts made to broaden citizen participation

Summarize citizen participation process and how it impacted goal-setting

The City of Fresno follows the process for public participation that is outlined in the City’s Citizen Participation Plan, which complies with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) citizen participation requirements listed in federal regulation 24 CFR 91.105. The Citizen Participation Plan is designed to ensure resident involvement in the 2020-2024 Five-Year Consolidated Plan and 2020 Annual Action Plan for community development programs including CDBG, HOME, ESG and HOPWA programs.

To obtain input from residents, the City of Fresno began by gathering initial input about priority community development, housing, and homeless needs through ten community meetings, two focus groups, stakeholder and intercept interviews, and a community-wide survey open to residents and other stakeholders. In two subsequent community engagement efforts the City held six meetings to gather feedback on initial engagement results and on draft Consolidated Plan priorities. Dates, time, and locations for the meetings are shown below and results are summarized in the table that follows.

Feedback on Draft Priority A: Provide assistance for the homeless and those at risk of homelessness through low-barrier shelter options and housing first collaborations.

• Define “homeless,” “low-barrier shelter,” and “housing first”
• Differing views on funding low-barrier shelters, some support less restrictions, others concerned with “abuse of the system”
• Support for people without substance abuse, domestic violence, or other specific needs should also be available
• Prevent returns to homelessness
• Avoid family separation
• Center where homeless people can access resources
• Pay attention to trauma and criminalization of trauma
• Excellent priority; reword to emphasize how big the need is
• This is not a priority

Feedback on Draft Priority B: Increase development and rehabilitation of affordable housing for low-income and special needs households, particularly in high opportunity areas.

• Define “affordable housing” and “high opportunity area”
• Focus on long-term solutions to affordable housing need
• Support for affordable housing in high opportunity areas, including access to greenspace, grocery stores, low crime, transportation
• Include energy efficiency and ADA compliance
• Fix up empty houses
• Focus on equity and density

Feedback on Draft Priority C: Provide public infrastructure and facility improvements to strengthen neighborhood revitalization.
- Focus on historically underfunded neighborhoods
- Needs to be done equitably
- Fix hazardous areas (sidewalks, lighting)
- Alleys and potholes
- Pools and splash pads
- Community centers
- Deteriorated property perpetuates crime (broken window theory)

Feedback on Draft Priority D: Provide assistance to low-income and special needs households.
- Too vague, needs to be more specific; list example activities
- Differentiate between Priority B
- Provide wraparound services (community services in addition to those needed for addressing homelessness)
- Provide ramps, walking paths, greenspace
- Could include programs for youth/schools
- Prevent returns to homelessness
- Very long wait for housing support

Feedback on Draft Priority E: Provide fair housing education services to help residents and housing providers understand their rights and responsibilities.
- Include legal services
- Readily available information on resources
- Resource education meetings to non-profits/social services
- Train people in neighborhoods to serve on outreach teams
- Focus on housing with public funding; stop funding of issues
- Frequent checks by FHA
- Go beyond fair housing education – equitable housing and anti-displacement

• Strengthen collaboration between City and non-profits/private sector, particularly related to homelessness

• Follow-through and implementation is very important

• Use the City’s grant funds for projects that can be completed quickly, that reduce the consequences of possible failure, and that avoid further unfunded liabilities for the City
• Find an unused parking lot or other space for construction of a "mini-village" of tiny houses and pop-up shops
• Use empty lots to build tiny houses for the homeless
• Help organizations already helping such as the Poverello House and Fresno Rescue Mission
• Re-purpose empty buildings for low-cost housing
• Litter and waste left behind by people who are homeless is a public health concern
• Law enforcement should relocate people who are homeless in the interest of preserving the viability of local businesses |

NEEDS ASSESSMENT

NA-05 Overview

Needs Assessment Overview

To inform the development of priorities and goals over the next five years, this section of the Consolidated Plan discusses housing, community development, and economic development needs in the City of Fresno. It relies on data from the U.S. Census, the 2011-2015 5-Year American Community Survey (ACS), and a special tabulation of ACS data known as Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy (CHAS) data that estimates the number of households with one or more housing needs. Local data regarding homelessness and assisted housing is included. Finally, public input gathered through interviews, focus groups, meetings, and the community survey are coupled with data analysis to identify priority needs related to affordable housing, homelessness, assisted housing, community development, and economic development in Fresno.

NA-10 Housing Needs Assessment - 24 CFR 91.205 (a,b,c)

Summary of Housing Needs

According to the 2011-2015 5-Year American Community Survey, Fresno has a population of 510,450 residents living in 161,915 households. The city's population increased 3% between 2009 and 2015. Estimates from the 2011-2015 ACS data place the median household income in Fresno at $41,531. This figure represents a 3% decrease from the city's median household income from 2009, which was $43,036. Fresno's median income is lower than that of Fresno County, where 5-Year 2011-2015 ACS estimates place the county's median income at $45,233, down from $46,230 in 2009.

Table 6 segments households by income and household type, including small families (2-4 members), large families (5 or more members), households with seniors, and households with young children. There are 78,845 households who are low- or moderate-income, with incomes at or below 80% of the HUD Adjusted Median Family Income (HAMFI). These households constitute nearly half (49%) of all Fresno households. The largest shares of low- and moderate-income households are small families (40%) and families with small children (30%). Large family households make up 18% of these households, while households with older residents are less likely to be low or moderate-income (15% are elderly households and 11% are frail elderly households). Within the designated household types shown in Table 6, households with small children have low or moderate incomes at the highest rate of all family types (64%).

For many low- and moderate-income households in Fresno, finding and maintaining suitable housing at an affordable cost is a challenge. Tables 6 through 11 identify housing needs by tenure based on Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy (CHAS) data. CHAS data is a special tabulation of the U.S. Census Bureau's American Community Survey (ACS) that is largely not available through standard Census products. This special dataset provides counts of the number of households that fit certain combinations of HUD-specified housing needs, HUD-defined income limits (primarily 30, 50, and 80% of HAMFI), and household types of particular interest to planners and policy makers.

To assess affordability and other types of housing needs, HUD defines four housing problems:

1. Cost burden: A household has a cost burden if its monthly housing costs (including mortgage payments, property taxes, insurance, and utilities for owners and rent and utilities for renters) exceed 30% of monthly income.

2. Overcrowding: A household is overcrowded if there is more than 1 person per room, not including kitchens and bathrooms.

3. Lack of complete kitchen facilities: A household lacks complete kitchen facilities if it lacks one or more of the following: cooking facilities, refrigerator, or a sink with piped water.

4. Lack of complete plumbing facilities: A household lacks complete plumbing facilities if it lacks one or more of the following: hot and cold piped water, a flush toilet, or a bathtub or shower.

HUD also defines four severe housing problems, including a severe cost burden (more than 50% of monthly household income is spent on housing costs), severe overcrowding (more than 1.5 people per room, not including kitchens or bathrooms), lack of complete kitchen facilities (as described above), and lack of complete plumbing facilities (as described above).

In the City of Fresno, 70,184 households or 43% of all households experience a housing problem. Twenty-eight percent, or 45,350 households, experience a severe housing problem. The most common housing problem in Fresno is severe cost burden, which affects both renters and homeowners in the greatest numbers. Table 7 shows that 31,030 households, or 44% of households with a housing problem, are severely cost burdened. An additional 22,650 households are cost burdened, spending between 30-50% of their income on housing costs. Together, 76% of all Fresno households with a housing problem are spending more than 30% of their income on housing costs. Cost burdens and severe cost burdens have the greatest impact on very low-income renters. Among cost burdened renters, 44% are very low income (earning between 0-30% AMI). Among severely cost burdened renters, 62% are very low income.

While affordability is the primary issue facing low- and moderate-income residents, overcrowding and substandard housing also affect these households. Fourteen percent (14%) of households with a housing problem (9,465 households) experience overcrowding. In addition, 5% (or 3,430 households) experience severe overcrowding and 2% (1,429 households) lack complete plumbing or kitchen facilities. Another 3% of households are identified as having zero or negative income. Housing problems not related to affordability affect nearly a quarter (24%) of all households with housing problems in Fresno. Other known housing problems outside of HUD-defined housing problems include blight and limited economic viability of neighborhoods (e.g. the co-location of affordable housing with employment centers and proximity to fresh food sources and other retail and service opportunities).
The remainder of this section characterizes local housing needs in more detail. The Market Analysis component of the Consolidated Plan identifies resources available to respond to these needs (public housing, tax credit and other subsidized properties, housing and services for the homeless, and others).

Describe the number and type of single person households in need of housing assistance.

Estimates of the number of non-elderly single person households in need of housing assistance are included in the “other, non-family” category of Tables 9 and 10. This category includes multi-person households whose members are unrelated (e.g., roommates, un-married partners, etc.). Fresno has 12,020 single-person or multi-person unrelated households that are both low- to moderate-income and spend more than 30% of their incomes on housing costs. Single-person and multi-person unrelated households make up approximately one-fifth (21%) of all cost burdened households. Renters of this household type experience cost burdens over five times the rate of “other, non-family” homeowners (84% versus 16%).

Table 9 shows the number of Fresno households that are cost burdened, spending more than 30% of their income on housing costs. The table indicates that nearly half (47%) of all single-person renters who spend more than 30% of their income on housing costs are very low income. Single-person homeowners who are cost burdened are most likely to be moderate income (50%). Severe cost burdens, in which a household spends more than 50% of their income on housing costs, also have severe effects on single-person households. There are 6,475 “other, non-family” renter households that are severely cost burdened. Of these renter households, 63% are very low income. Amongst single-person homeowners, very low-income households make up 37% of severely cost burdened households; moderate income households make up 46%.

In Table 11, CHAS data indicates that 314 “other, non-family” renter households experience overcrowding. Among households experiencing overcrowding, 46% are low-income renter households. CHAS data did not identify any overcrowded single-person owner households.

Estimate the number and type of families in need of housing assistance who are disabled or victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault and stalking.

Data gathered from the 2011-2015 ACS estimates that there are 65,587 individuals with disabilities in Fresno, representing 13% of the population. There is no data available that shows housing needs or households with disabled persons, however, patterns found among CHAS data on household income and housing problems can be used to estimate the need for housing assistance among the disabled population. Assuming the pattern of low- to moderate-income households experiencing housing problems applies, poverty status data could indicate if disabled populations have a greater risk of experiencing housing problems. 2011-2015 ACS estimates that 31% of the disabled population falls below the poverty level of $11,770 for a single person in 2015. In comparison, households with incomes below 30% HAMFI comprised only 15% of all households in Fresno but accounted for 35% of all households experiencing one or more housing problems. Therefore, a larger proportion of low-income residents would likely indicate increased susceptibility to housing problems for disabled persons. Additionally, people with disabilities often face greater difficulty finding appropriate housing, given the scarcity of housing that is both affordable and accessible to people with disabilities.
Open Justice, a criminal justice database published by the California Department of Justice, reports that there were 5,499 domestic-violence related calls for assistance in Fresno in 2018.\(^4\) Compared to other cities in California, Fresno has the highest number of domestic-violence related calls, with 10.25 calls per 1,000 residents, exceeding the similarly-sized Sacramento which has 3.43 calls per 1,000 residents.\(^5\)

Several agencies assist clients who have experienced domestic violence and need housing assistance. The Marjaree Mason Center reports in its 2017-2012 annual report that it provided 156 beds at two safe houses. Naomi’s House, a shelter for single, homeless women, offers 24 beds nightly. The Fresno Housing Authority also allows victims of domestic violence to have priority on its interest list. While other shelter and transitional housing providers exist, such as Rescue Mission and Evangel House, the gap between services and domestic violence calls may indicate the need for significant housing assistance for this population.

What are the most common housing problems?

CHAS data indicates that the most common housing problems in Fresno, regardless of tenure type, are unaffordable housing costs. Severe housing cost burdens affect 19% of all Fresno residents. Households with low and very-low incomes are particularly vulnerable to severe cost burdens. More than half (58%) of very low-income households and 44% of low-income households are severely cost burdened. Another 14% of all Fresno residents experience cost burdens. Cost burdens have their greatest impact on moderate-income households, affecting 38% of households earning 50-80% AMI.

While affordability is the most common housing problem, overcrowding, severe overcrowding and substandard housing affect 12,764 households or 16% of Fresno’s low- to moderate-income households.

Are any populations/household types more affected than others by these problems?

Renters at nearly every income level are more likely than homeowners to experience at least one housing problem. Cost burdens affect renters at twice the rate of homeowners. Severe cost burdens affect renters at three times the rate of homeowners. This is particularly true for very low-income renters, who experience more cost burdens and severe cost burdens than all low-to middle-income homeowners combined. At low and moderate incomes, homeowners do experience greater instances of severe cost burden. At moderate and middle incomes homeowners experience a greater number of severe cost burdens than renters at the same income level.

\(^4\) OpenJustice. Domestic Violence-Related Calls for Assistance. Retrieved from:

Overcrowding also affects more renters than homeowners. Renters are 3 times more likely than homeowners to experience overcrowding, and 5 times more likely than homeowners to experience severe overcrowding.

Describe the characteristics and needs of Low-income individuals and families with children (especially extremely low-income) who are currently housed but are at imminent risk of either residing in shelters or becoming unsheltered 91.205(c)/91.305(c)). Also discuss the needs of formerly homeless families and individuals who are receiving rapid re-housing assistance and are nearing the termination of that assistance

According to 2011-2015 ACS estimates, 25% of Fresno residents live at or below the poverty level. Two-thirds of those residents spend more than 30% of their income for housing, not including childcare, medical or transportation costs. Low wages, rising rental costs, and the scarcity of affordable housing for low- and extremely low-income households place vulnerable households at even greater risk for eviction or homelessness. Individuals and families at imminent risk and those who have experienced homelessness and are receiving rapid re-housing assistance often face a myriad of barriers including prior histories of homelessness or eviction, chronic physical or mental disabilities, poor credit, criminal histories, and limited access to additional education or job skills training. The greatest need of formerly homeless families and individuals receiving rapid re-housing assistance is the availability of standard housing that is affordable to households at or below 50% AMI.

For formerly homeless families and individuals nearing the termination of assistance, the top needs are for increased, sustainable income (earned and unearned); access to Social Security disability and other mainstream benefits; linkages to health, mental health, and legal services; access to affordable transportation and childcare; and ongoing case management and supportive services.

If a jurisdiction provides estimates of the at-risk population(s), it should also include a description of the operational definition of the at-risk group and the methodology used to generate the estimates:

Fresno’s 2015-2023 Housing Element provides a description of persons who are at risk of homelessness. The plan states, “Among the persons at-risk are those leaving institutions (mental hospitals, jail, etc.), victims of domestic violence, people doubled-up in unstable conditions, households with incomes of less than 30 percent of area median income and high housing expenses, farm workers and low-income single-person households.

Specify particular housing characteristics that have been linked with instability and an increased risk of homelessness

The most fundamental risk factor for homelessness is extreme poverty, leading to unaffordable rents or homeowner costs. Renters with incomes under 30% HAMFI and housing cost burdens over 50% are at risk of homelessness, especially if they experience a destabilizing event such as a job loss, reduction in work hours, or medical emergency/condition. Such factors may also put low income homeowners at risk of foreclosure and subsequent homelessness.

NA-15 Disproportionately Greater Need: Housing Problems – 91.205 (b)(2)

Assess the need of any racial or ethnic group that has disproportionately greater need in comparison to the needs of that category of need as a whole.

Introduction

This section assesses the housing needs of racial and ethnic groups at various income levels in comparison to needs at that income level as a whole to identify any disproportionately greater needs. According to HUD, a disproportionately greater need exists when members of a racial or ethnic group at a given income level experience housing problems at a greater rate (10 percentage points or more) than the income level as a whole. Tables 12 through 15 identify the number of households experiencing one or more of the four housing problems by household race, ethnicity, and income level. The four housing problems include: (1) cost burdens (paying more than 30% of income for housing costs); (2) overcrowding (more than 1 person per room); (3) lacking complete kitchen facilities; and (4) lacking complete plumbing facilities.

Income classifications include:

- Very low income – up to 30% of area median income (AMI) or $12,458 for a family of four;
- Low income – 30 to 50% AMI or $12,459 to $20,764 for a family of four;
- Moderate income – 50 to 80% AMI or $20,765 to $33,224 for a family of four; and
- Middle income – 80 to 100% AMI or $33,225 to $41,531 for a family of four.

0%-30% of Area Median Income

Out of 27,695 very low-income households in Fresno, 23,605 (or 85%) have at least one housing problem. Pacific Islander households experience housing problems at a disproportionately high rate. All of the 40 very low-income Pacific Islander households have housing problems. Hispanic households make up the largest number of very low-income households with housing problems (11,710 households), though the rate of housing problems is not disproportionate (89%). Of the remaining very low-income households, 83% of Black households, 82% of white and Asian households and 58% of American Indian households have at least one housing problem.

Discussion

At low and very low incomes, Pacific Islander households experience disproportionately high rates of housing problems compared with the city’s average. At moderate incomes, housing problems disproportionately affect American Indian households. Finally, at middle incomes, Asian households experience a disproportionate rate of housing problems.

While disproportionate rates of housing problems tell us about the comparative housing needs across all racial and ethnic groups, they do not fully indicate the level of need within each group. Pacific Islander households, as defined by US Census data, only make up 40 of the city’s very low-income households, 54 low-income households, and 30 moderate income households. Hispanic households, on the other hand, constitute the majority of households with housing needs. Over 40% of all very low-income Fresno households (11,710 households) are Hispanic households with housing problems.

White households experience housing problems at lower rates than the city’s average at all income levels; however, the number of white households with a housing problem comes second to that of Hispanics at every income level as well.

NA-20 Disproportionately Greater Need: Severe Housing Problems – 91.205 (b)(2)

Assess the need of any racial or ethnic group that has disproportionately greater need in comparison to the needs of that category of need as a whole.

Introduction

This section assesses the severe housing needs of racial and ethnic groups at various income levels in comparison to severe needs at that income level as a whole to identify any disproportionately greater needs. Like the preceding analysis, this section uses HUD’s definition of disproportionately greater need, which occurs when one racial or ethnic group at a given income level experiences housing problems at a rate that is at least 10 percentage points greater than the income level as a whole.

Tables 16 through 19 identify the number of households with one or more of the severe housing needs by householder race and ethnicity. The four severe housing problems include: (1) severe cost burden (paying more than 50% of income for housing and utilities); (2) severe crowding (more than 1.5 people per room); (3) lack of complete kitchen facilities; and (4) lack of complete plumbing facilities.

Income classifications include:

- Very low income – up to 30% of area median income (AMI) or $12,458 for a family of four;
- Low income – 30 to 50% AMI or $12,459 to $20,764 for a family of four;
- Moderate income – 50 to 80% AMI or $20,765 to $33,224 for a family of four; and
- Middle income – 80 to 100% AMI or $33,225 to $41,531 for a family of four.

0%–30% of Area Median Income

Out of 27,690 very low-income households in the city of Fresno, 76% have one or more severe housing problem. Pacific Islander households are disproportionately affected at this income level, with 100% of the 40 Pacific Islander households experiencing a severe housing problem. Hispanic households have the second highest rate of housing problems (81%), followed by Asian households (75%), white households (71%), Black households (69%), and American Indian households (42%).

Discussion

Hispanic households make up the majority of households at all income groups, as well as the majority of households with one or more severe housing problems. Fifty-one percent of all Hispanic households earning less than 100% AMI (22,715 households) have severe housing problems. Comparatively, white households, which make up the second largest number of households earning below 100% AMI, have severe housing problems at a rate of 43%. Only American Indian households experience severe housing problems at a lesser rate of 39%. All other groups experience severe housing problems at a rate higher than Hispanic households: Asian households (53%), Black households (55%), and Pacific Islander households (92%).

At very low, low, and moderate incomes, Pacific Islander households continue to experience a disproportionately higher rate of severe housing problems than the city’s average. Asian households also have a disproportionate rate of severe housing problems at middle incomes.

NA-25 Disproportionately Greater Need: Housing Cost Burdens – 91.205 (b)(2)

Assess the need of any racial or ethnic group that has disproportionately greater need in comparison to the needs of that category of need as a whole

Introduction

This section assesses the need of any racial or ethnic group that has disproportionately greater need in comparison to the needs of that category of need as a whole. While the preceding sections assessed all housing and severe housing problems, Table 20 focuses only on the share of income households spend on housing. Data is broken down into groups spending less than 30% of income on housing costs, those paying between 30 and 50% (i.e., with a cost burden), and those paying over 50% (i.e., with a severe cost burden). The final column, “no/negative income,” identifies households without an income, for whom housing as a share of income was not calculated.

Discussion

Pacific Islanders, Black and American Indian households experience disproportionately greater rates of housing cost burden in Fresno than other racial or ethnic groups. While 44% of the city is housing cost burdened, 65% of Pacific Islander households, 59% of Black households and 56% of American Indian households are housing cost burdened. Hispanic households experience housing cost burdens at a rate of 50%, followed by Asian households (42%) and white households (36%).

American Indian households have the highest rate of cost burden, with 34% spending between 30-50% of their incomes on housing costs. In total numbers, however, Hispanic and white households exhibit a higher number of households experiencing housing cost burden. There are 15,570 Hispanic households and 11,035 white households experiencing housing cost burdens. A similar pattern occurs with severe housing cost burdens. Pacific Islander households have the highest rate of severe cost burden, with 54% of the 174 Pacific Islander households spending over 50% of their incomes on housing costs. It should also be noted that there are 16,880 Hispanic households and 11,175 white households that also experience severe housing cost burden.

NA-30 Disproportionately Greater Need: Discussion – 91.205(b)(2)

Are there any Income categories in which a racial or ethnic group has disproportionately greater need than the needs of that income category as a whole?

Pacific Islander households experience disproportionately greater housing need at very low, low, and moderate-income levels. Pacific Islander households also experience the highest rate of housing cost burden amongst all households spending over 50% of their incomes on housing costs. Asian households experience disproportionately greater housing need at middle incomes. American Indian households have the highest rate of housing cost burden for households spending between 30-50% of their incomes on housing costs.

Are any of those racial or ethnic groups located in specific areas or neighborhoods in your community?

Figures 1 through 5 indicate that Fresnans of all racial and ethnic backgrounds live throughout the city of Fresno. However, some areas show greater clustering of racial and ethnic groups than others. Hispanic residents make up the largest share of Fresno residents at the decennial census (46.7%). However, fewer Hispanic residents are shown residing in northeast and northwest Fresno. Hispanic residents have their greatest presence in areas south of E. Clinton Ave and east of Highway 41, particularly in southeast Fresno.

White residents, who make up the second largest share of Fresnans, primarily live north of Sequoia-Kings Canyon Freeway with clustering particularly in northeast and northwest Fresno. Asian and Pacific Islander residents show clustering patterns in various areas throughout the city, particularly in northeast Fresno between N. Cedar Avenue and the eastern city limit, along Sequoia-Kings Canyon Freeway east of Hwy 41, and along N. Cedar Avenue between E. Butler and E. California Avenues.

Black residents in Fresno show clustering particularly in southwest Fresno, immediately west of Fresno State University, in southeast Fresno along S. Chestnut Avenue, and in west Fresno south of the railroad tracks along N. Santa Fe Avenue. Native American residents in Fresno tend to live north of the Sequoia Kings Canyon Freeway, but do not otherwise show patterns of clustering.

NA-35 Public Housing – 91.205(b)

Introduction

Fresno residents are served by the Housing Authority of the City of Fresno (FH). Between public housing, Housing Choice Vouchers, project-based vouchers, and units under the Section 202 and Section 811 programs, a total of over 13,596 subsidized units are available in the city, housing 35,363 individual residents. Voucher programs are the primary source of these subsidized housing units representing 12,847 (94%) of these subsidized units (10,648 Housing Choice Vouchers and 2,199 Project-Based Vouchers). There are 651 units of conventional public housing and another 98 units designated for elderly and/or disabled households through the Section 202 and 811 programs. The FH provides a range of housing in the City of Fresno, including affordable housing, senior housing, permanent supportive housing, and market rate housing.

Section 504 Needs Assessment: Describe the needs of public housing tenants and applicants on the waiting list for accessible units:

The data from HUD PIH Information Center shows Fresno as having 760 public housing units in use within the city, 122 (16%) of which are held by a family containing one or more people with a disability. Of the city’s 6,792 voucher units, 1,452 (21%) are occupied by a disable household. According to the HUD data, all 760 of the public housing residents and 6,792 voucher households captured in this reporting had requested units with accessibility features. As many people with disabilities live on limited incomes, often just a modest $771/month SSI payment, there are few options for them other than public housing. Availability of additional units with accessibility features is the greatest need of this population.

Most immediate needs of residents of Public Housing and Housing Choice voucher holders

Current residents in public and other assisted housing units are most immediately in need of opportunities and supports to grow and attain a level of self-sufficiency. These supports include programs in areas such as job training and assistance, childcare, transportation, health-related assistance, after school programs, adult education, and child educational enrichment.

How do these needs compare to the housing needs of the population at large

The needs of public housing residents and voucher holders are different from those of the city’s overall low- and moderate-income population primarily in that these residents are housed in stable and decent housing. With this need met, residents are able to work on other needs that families typically face in addition to housing insecurity. These other needs frequently include childcare, healthcare, employment, transportation, and food.

NA-40 Homeless Needs Assessment – 91.205(c)

Introduction

This section provides an assessment of the City of Fresno’s homeless population and its needs. The Fresno Madera CoC conducts an annual homeless “Point-in-time Count” during the last ten days of January each year. The 2019 point-in-time count for Fresno and Madera counties was held on January 29, 2019. It counted 2,508 persons experiencing homelessness in total, including chronically homeless (698 persons, or 28 percent), unaccompanied and parenting youth households (134 persons, or 5 percent), persons in families with children (241, or 10 percent), and veterans (235, or 10 percent).

If data is not available for the categories "number of persons becoming and exiting homelessness each year," and "number of days that persons experience homelessness," describe these categories for each homeless population type (including chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans and their families, and unaccompanied youth):
Of the 2,508 homeless persons counted in the point-in-time count, 698 people were counted as chronically homeless (28 percent). Of the 698 chronically homeless persons, 23 were sheltered in emergency shelter (3 percent), none were in transitional housing, and 675 were unsheltered (97 percent).

The 2019 point-in-time count counted 241 homeless persons in families with children (10 percent of total persons experiencing homelessness), 235 veterans (10 percent of total), and 134 persons in unaccompanied and parenting youth households (5 percent of total). The 241 persons in families with children included 81 households with 154 children under the age of 18. 225 of the 241 persons in these households were sheltered, with 186 persons (77 percent of total persons in family households with children) in emergency shelters and 39 (16 percent of total) in transitional housing. 16 persons in households of families with children were unsheltered (7 percent of total persons in family households with children).

Of the 235 homeless veterans, 40 were in emergency shelters (17 percent), 29 were in transitional housing (12 percent), and 166 were unsheltered (71 percent).

Unaccompanied youth households included 112 unaccompanied youth, 7 parenting youth, and 15 children of parenting youth. Of the 112 unaccompanied youth, 21 were in emergency shelters (19 percent), 7 were in transitional housing (6 percent), and 84 were unsheltered (75 percent). Of the 22 parenting youth and children in parenting youth households, 16 were in emergency shelters (73 percent), and 6 were in transitional housing (27 percent).

Note that these figures do not represent the entire homeless population in the counties, but rather the number of homeless that were sheltered and unsheltered during a point-in-time count. As the inventory of homeless facilities in the area shows, a considerably higher number of homeless persons are assisted within Fresno and Madera counties than the point-in-time count of chronically homeless reflects.

Estimate the number and type of families in need of housing assistance for families with children and the families of veterans.

The 2019 point-in-time count identified 81 households experiencing homelessness with at least one adult and one child, which included a total of 241 people, 154 of whom were under the age of 18 (66 percent). Of the 241 persons in households with at least one adult and one child, 225 (93 percent) were sheltered in emergency or transitional housing, and 16 (7 percent) were unsheltered. Of the 235 veterans counted during the point-in-time count, 69 (29 percent) were sheltered and 166 (71 percent) were unsheltered.

The point-in-time count categorized the number of sheltered and unsheltered individuals who were homeless in Fresno and Madera counties by race and ethnicity. The count found that 67 percent of all sheltered and unsheltered individuals were white, 17 percent were Black, and 10 percent were American Indian or Alaskan Native. People who identified as Asian, Native Hawaiian/ Pacific Islander, and multiple races each comprised 3 percent or less of sheltered and unsheltered individuals in Fresno and Madera counties. Regarding ethnicity, the count found that 46 percent of the total sheltered and unsheltered homeless population in Fresno and Madera counties were Hispanic/ Latino, and 54 percent were non-Hispanic/ Latino.

Describe the Nature and Extent of Unsheltered and Sheltered Homelessness.

The 2019 point-in-time count counted a total of 2,508 homeless persons, including 439 sheltered (18 percent) and 2,069 unsheltered persons (82 percent). Of the 439 sheltered individuals, 353 (80 percent) were in emergency shelters, and 86 (20 percent) were in transitional housing.

Discussion

Data from both the point-in-time count and stakeholder input indicate a high level of need for homelessness services in the City of Fresno. Survey respondents also rated all homeless services at high levels of need. In particular, 80 percent of survey respondents rated homeless prevention as a high need, and 73 percent rated transitional/ supportive housing and permanent housing as high needs. Access to homeless shelters and permanent housing were rated as high needs by 72 percent of survey respondents.

Elderly and Frail Elderly

According to the 2013-2017 ACS 5-year estimates, 10.3 percent of the City of Fresno’s population is elderly, aged 65 and over. 4.3 percent of the population is considered frail elderly, aged 75 and over. Slightly less than half (45.1 percent) of elderly individuals aged 65 and over in the city have a disability.
Persons with Disabilities

Within the city, 13.9 percent of all residents have one or more disabilities, including:

- Hearing difficulty – 3.8 percent
- Vision difficulty – 3.5 percent
- Cognitive difficulty – 6.5 percent
- Ambulatory difficulty – 7.9 percent
- Self-care difficulty- 3.5 percent
- Independent living difficulty – 7.7 percent

Persons with HIV/AIDS and their families

As of 2017, there were approximately 1,801 persons living with HIV in the Fresno MSA region, a rate of 232.6 people living with HIV per 100,000 population. Of the total persons living with HIV in the region as of 2017, 1,482 were adult and adolescent men and 319 were adult and adolescent women. There were 158 new diagnoses in 2017, a rate of 20.2 new diagnoses per 100,000 population. 143 of the 158 new diagnoses were of adult and adolescent men, and 15 were of adult and adolescent women.
Immigrants and Refugees

An estimated 104,829 residents of the City of Fresno are foreign-born, according to American Community Survey 5-Year Estimates for 2013-2017. Of these residents, an estimated 11,614 (11.1 percent) began residing in the United States in 2010 or later. Of the foreign-born population, approximately 43.3 percent are naturalized citizens, and 56.7 percent are not citizens. Of the foreign-born population who entered the United States in 2010 or later, an estimated 64.1 percent were born in Asia, 29.5 percent were born in Latin America, and 4.1 percent were born in Europe.

Persons with Alcohol or Drug Addiction

The region that includes the City of Fresno and its surrounding counties has an estimated 6.77 percent rate of alcohol use disorder in the past year by individuals aged 12 and older, according to 2014-2016 data from the US Substance Abuse & Mental Health Data Archive (SAMHDA). Cocaine use in the region was estimated at 2.06 percent of the population, and heroin use was estimated at 0.21%. There were an estimated 408 drug overdose deaths in Fresno County from 2015 to 2017, a rate of 14 persons per 100,000 population.

Victims of Domestic Violence

The Centers for Disease Control estimates that 34.9 percent of women and 31.1 percent of men in California have experienced any contact sexual violence, physical violence, or stalking by an intimate partner in their lifetimes. This equates to an estimated 92,352 women and 79,124 men living in Fresno, based on the city’s 2017 total population of 519,037. 5.1 percent of women and 6.4 percent of men have experienced any contact sexual violence, physical violence, or stalking by an intimate partner in the past 12 months, equating to an estimated 13,496 women and 16,283 men in Fresno. Special needs of this population include confidentiality, safe housing, accessibility, mental health services, education, and outreach.

Re-entry Populations

In the state of California, an estimated 236,000 residents are on probation, and 90,000 are on parole. As of 2018, there were more than 10,000 adults under probation in Fresno County's

10. 2013-2017 American Community Survey 5-Year Estimates for Total Population in the City of Fresno, Table DP05
Adult Services Division.\textsuperscript{12} The large numbers of county residents under criminal justice supervision indicates a continuing need to address the housing and supportive service needs of this population in Fresno.

What are the housing and supportive service needs of these populations and how are these needs determined?

The primary housing and supportive needs of these subpopulations (the elderly, frail elderly, persons with disabilities, persons with HIV/AIDS and their families, persons with alcohol or drug addiction, victims of domestic violence, and reentry populations) were determined by input from both service providers and the public through the Housing and Community Needs Survey, public meetings, and stakeholder interviews.

Housing that is Affordable, Accessible, Safe, and Low-Barrier

For all vulnerable populations, the high cost of housing is an issue. A high percentage of residents within these population subgroups live at or below the federal poverty level. Low incomes force many people with special needs to live in congregate care, have roommates, or live with family. HUD’s fair market rent documentation for FY 2020 estimates fair market rent for a two-bedroom unit in the Fresno metro as $980 per month.\textsuperscript{13} High housing costs make it difficult for vulnerable populations, who often live on very low incomes, to afford housing.

Because of the high cost of housing, there is a need to increase the availability of affordable housing for vulnerable populations. This could include options such as smaller housing units; accessory dwelling units; cohousing with shared services; and other housing types that support increased levels of affordability.

For the elderly and frail elderly, people with disabilities, and others that may not have access to vehicles, there is a need for housing that is accessible to transportation, recreation, and employment. Group homes and other housing options for people with disabilities are often located outside of urban communities and provide low levels of access to transit and walkability. These groups need housing options that are integrated into the community and reduce social isolation.

Persons living with HIV/AIDS need low-barrier housing free from requirements surrounding drug testing, sobriety, criminal background, and medical appointments. Stakeholders working with persons living with HIV/AIDS and/or the HOPWA program emphasized that a ‘housing first’ model, in which permanent housing is provided without other barriers, is needed. Similar to other vulnerable populations, persons living with HIV/AIDS need housing that provides easy access to health services, resources, and employment.

Housing may be inaccessible to vulnerable populations for a variety of reasons. Persons with disabilities may find that their housing options are not ADA compliant or are outside the service range for public transportation. People living with HIV/AIDS, immigrants and refugees, people with criminal histories, and other vulnerable populations are often discriminated against in housing application processes.

Housing that is safe and clean is another need for vulnerable population groups. Units that are not clean or have other unhealthy conditions can worsen health issues for groups that are already vulnerable, such as persons living with HIV/AIDS.

Transportation

Access to transportation is an important concern for vulnerable population groups. Persons with disabilities and others without access to vehicles need housing in close proximity to transportation services in order to access employment, health services, and recreation opportunities. If transit is not within walking distance, vulnerable populations need accessible, reliable transportation services to provide access to everyday needs. Specifically, persons with intellectual or developmental disabilities may need companion assistance in transportation services in order to reach their destinations. Persons with HIV/AIDS need housing nearby transportation services in order to access health services and other resources. Accessible, reliable transportation also makes it easier for service providers to reach people for in-home services.

Specialized Housing and Supportive Services

Specialized housing is often needed to target needs of specific vulnerable populations. For example, people with intellectual or developmental disabilities and people with alcohol or drug addiction have specific housing needs that may be addressed through housing with wraparound services. Specifically, people with intellectual or developmental disabilities often need programming such as case management or life skills programming that does not violate direct service requirements.

Persons living with HIV/AIDS may also need case management services and other supportive services, although stakeholders interviewed as part of this planning process emphasized that supportive services should not be required for people living with HIV/AIDS to access housing.

Workforce Development and Employment Services

Vulnerable populations may also need workforce development and employment services. These programs may include employment navigation, job training, education, transportation services, and case management focused on employment, among others.

Physical and Mental Health and Treatment Services

Access to healthcare is a need for vulnerable populations. Stakeholders and focus group participants noted a need for increased access to mental and physical health services for low-income residents. Stakeholders also emphasized a need for a wider range of drug and alcohol outpatient services.
Education/Combating Perceptions

Combatting stigmas is an important concern for many vulnerable populations. In particular, for adults with criminal histories and people living with HIV/AIDS, it may be especially difficult to find adequate housing. Stakeholders noted that landlords often perceive persons with criminal histories or people living with HIV/AIDS as high-risk applicants. Because of this, they noted that others frequently get priority over these groups in accessing housing. Further, a lack of understanding regarding the transmission of HIV may cause people to lose housing or employment, and many people become homeless for this reason.

Outreach

Outreach to vulnerable populations to ensure they are aware of available services is another need. This includes development of relationships and trust so that people feel comfortable seeking out needed services. There is also a need to provide clarity in marketing and in public buildings about what services are available.

Discuss the size and characteristics of the population with HIV/AIDS and their families within the Eligible Metropolitan Statistical Area:

The Fresno region ranked 17th among Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSAs) in the rate of diagnoses of HIV infection as of 2017. There were 158 new diagnoses in the MSA in 2017, a rate of 20.2 new diagnoses per 100,000 population. 143 of the 158 new diagnoses were of adult and adolescent men, and 15 were of adult and adolescent women. 127 of the 143 newly diagnosed men contracted HIV from male-to-male sexual contact. 13 of the 15 newly diagnosed women contracted HIV from heterosexual contact. At the end of 2016, there were a total of 1,801 persons living with HIV in the region, a rate of 232.6 cases per 100,000 population. Of the total persons living with HIV in the region as of 2017, 1,482 were adult and adolescent men and 319 were adult and adolescent women.

Teens and men aged 13 to 24 had the highest number of new cases (46), followed men aged 25 to 34 (43 cases). Men aged 25 to 34 were diagnosed with HIV at the highest rate (55.2 diagnoses per 100,000 population in 2017), followed by teens and men aged 13 to 24 (51.8 new diagnoses per 100,000 population). Although younger men tended to be diagnosed more frequently, almost half of adult men living with the disease are over age 45 (820, or 46 percent), and almost one in four are aged 55 and over (417, or 23 percent). New diagnoses for women occurred in small numbers across all age groups, with the highest rate of diagnoses occurring amongst women aged 35 to 44 (8.2 new diagnoses per 100,000 population). About 3 in 5 women living with HIV are over 45 (61 percent), and almost one third (31 percent) are aged 55 and over.

By race and ethnicity, the largest number of new diagnoses occurred amongst Hispanic adult and adolescent males. In 2017, there were 89 new diagnoses for Hispanic/Latino males, 27 for white males, 15 for Black/African American males, 7 for Asian males and 1 for American Indian/Alaskan native males. Black males experienced the highest rate of infection at 80.9 cases per 100,000 persons, compared to 44.9 for Hispanic males and 21.9 for white males. There were 789 Hispanic/Latino male adults or adolescents living with the disease in the Fresno region, the highest number of any population group. Hispanic/Latino women had the highest number of new diagnoses amongst women, with 8 of the 15 new cases among women in 2017. Black women experienced the highest rate of new diagnoses among women at 11 diagnoses per 100,000 compared to 4.1 for Hispanic/Latino women and 1.5 for white women. Hispanic women had the highest numbers for women living with HIV in the region, making up 142 of the 319 women in the region living with HIV (45 percent).

Data is not available regarding prevalence and diagnoses of AIDS at the metro, county, or city level.

NA-50 Non-Housing Community Development Needs – 91.215 (f)

Describe the jurisdiction’s need for Public Facilities

Buildings and infrastructure open to the general public, whether owned by the government or by nonprofits, may be considered public facilities under the CDBG program. Survey respondents in the City of Fresno ranked public facility needs in the community as follows, with one as the highest priority:

1. Homeless and domestic violence shelters
2. Community parks, gyms, and recreational fields
3. Youth centers
4. Health care facilities
5. Community centers

In particular, homeless and domestic violence shelters were rated as a high need by 71 percent of survey respondents and as a moderate need by 22 percent of respondents. Community parks, gyms, and recreational fields were rated as a high need by 62 percent of respondents and as a moderate need by 23 percent of respondents. 57 percent of respondents rated youth centers as a high need, and 31 percent rated them as a moderate need.

In addition to the needs rated in the survey, participants noted a need for:

- Maintenance of facilities located in south Fresno
- Community centers, libraries, parks and landscaping in central, south, and west Fresno
- Increasing the availability and quality of parks and libraries in south Fresno
- Substance abuse, domestic violence, and homeless shelters available evenly throughout the community
- Low- or no-barrier overnight and daytime shelters
- Low-barrier transitional housing
- Shelters and housing that provide supportive services
- Shelters focused on LGBTQ and transgender populations
- Domestic violence shelters that accept pets
- Areas for people who are homeless to park cars or camp
- Space in vacant buildings for nonprofits to provide public services
- Redevelopment of vacant properties
- Adaptive reuse of vacant buildings as affordable housing
- Mobile home rehab
- Efforts to support energy efficiency in housing
- Shaded play structures and water features in parks
- Investment in areas that have experienced disinvestment
- A centrally located senior center

Public facility goals identified in the City of Fresno General Plan (2015-2023) and other local plans include:

- Expand the availability of permanent supportive housing, so our homeless residents can move from constant crisis, into safe, stable and supported housing until they are self-sufficient.
- Focus funding efforts on increasing the number of Neighborhood and Community Parks, especially within the areas south of Shaw Avenue
- Seek dedicated funding sources for parkland acquisition, improvement, and ongoing maintenance costs, in both growth areas and established neighborhoods
- Identify underutilized and vacant land within the city that can be acquired and developed as parks to meet the needs of existing residents and cure deficiencies in established neighborhoods

How were these needs determined?

The public facility needs listed above were generated based on input from multiple stakeholders consulted through interviews, public meetings, and a community survey completed by 500 city residents and stakeholders. Stakeholders included City staff and elected officials, Fresno Housing Authority staff, nonprofit organizations, homeless housing and service providers, organizations serving people with disabilities, housing developers, civic organizations, and Fresno residents.

Needs were also determined based on a review of previous local and regional plans, such as the Fresno General Plan (2015-2023), Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018), the Fresno Madera 10 Year Plan to End Homelessness (2006-2016), the Fresno Parks Master Plan (2017), and the Downtown Neighborhoods Community Plan (2016).

Describe the jurisdiction’s need for Public Improvements:

Survey respondents rated street, road, or sidewalk improvements as the highest public improvement need in the city. 69 percent of survey takers identified these improvements as a high need, 22 percent identified them as a moderate need. Biking or walking trails were also rated as a high need by 46 percent of survey respondents and as a moderate need by 30 percent of respondents. Survey respondents also prioritized ADA accessibility improvements, with 28 percent of respondents identifying them as a high need for the city and 43 percent identifying them as a moderate need.

In addition to the needs rated in the survey, respondents also described a need for:

- Improved lighting
- Crosswalks and other pedestrian infrastructure
- Bus stop shelters, trash cans and benches
- ADA accessibility improvements in mobile home parks, and
- Street trees

FIGURE 7 – PUBLIC FACILITY AND INFRASTRUCTURE NEEDS IN THE CITY OF FRESNO

Public improvement needs identified in the City of Fresno General Plan (2015-2023) and other local plans include:

- Provide safe, well-maintained, accessible streets
- Implement ADA accessibility improvements
- Create an urban form that facilitates multi-modal connectivity
• Create unified plans for Green Streets, using distinctive features reflecting Fresno's landscape heritage
• Preserve and strengthen Fresno's overall image through design review and create a safe, walkable and attractive urban environment for the current and future generations of residents
• Establish and maintain a continuous, safe, and easily accessible bikeways system throughout the metropolitan area to reduce vehicle use, improve air quality and the quality of life, and provide public health benefits
• Establish a well-integrated network of pedestrian facilities to accommodate safe, convenient, practical, and inviting travel by walking, including for those with physical mobility and vision impairments

How were these needs determined?

The public improvement needs detailed above were generated based on input from multiple stakeholders consulted through interviews, public meetings, and a survey. These stakeholders included City staff and elected officials, Fresno Housing Authority staff, nonprofit organizations, homeless housing and service providers, organizations serving people with disabilities, housing developers, civic organizations, and Fresno residents.

Needs were also determined based on a review of previous local and regional plans, such as the Fresno General Plan (2015-2023), Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018), the Fresno Madera 10 Year Plan to End Homelessness (2006-2016), the Fresno Parks Master Plan (2017), and the Downtown Neighborhoods Community Plan (2016).

Describe the jurisdiction’s need for Public Services:

Public services, such as case management, childcare, transportation assistance, job training, and programming for youth and senior centers, are important to the City’s community development strategy. Needs identified by respondents to the Housing and Community Needs Survey were ranked as follows, with one as the highest priority:

1. Neighborhood cleanups
2. Drug education/ crime prevention
3. Child abuse prevention
4. After school services
5. Employment training
6. Domestic abuse services
7. Youth services
8. Medical and dental services
9. Food banks/ community meals
10. Job search assistance
11. Transportation assistance
12. Senior services
13. Housing counseling
14. Legal services
In particular, neighborhood cleanups were noted as a high need by 59 percent of survey respondents and as moderate needs by 31 percent of respondents. Drug abuse education/crime prevention was noted as a high need by 61 percent of survey respondents and as a moderate need by 27 percent of respondents. 58 percent of respondents ranked child abuse prevention as a high need, and 29 percent ranked it as a moderate need.

Survey participants and stakeholders also noted a need for additional services, including

- LGBTQ-inclusive services and programming
- Affordable childcare
- Home visits for senior care
- Senior programming
- Mental health services
- Enforcement of public safety in alleyways
- Social programs, including mental health, recovery, recreation, job training, and food access
- Improved public education
- Mentoring programs
- Municipal broadband
- 24/7 bus service
- Housing support
- Parenting programs

Public service needs identified in the City of Fresno General Plan (2015-2023) and other local plans include:

- Provide youth development opportunities
- Expand the range and availability of homelessness prevention strategies, increase immediate accessibility, and improve their long-term effectiveness
- Provide transitional case managed services at all levels of homeless service access, especially in emergency shelter facilities and prior to discharge from public care programs/institutions, to ensure linkage to appropriate and necessary community resources and supports
- Increase the level of coordinated and comprehensive services provision to the hard to serve and those who are not served, in areas of mental health, physical health and social wellbeing
- Increase opportunities and avenues for community individual and business partnerships that will promote housing availability, employment and promote broader formal community supports
- Increase job training, skills development and employment opportunities to increase self-reliance, decrease reliance on public supports and promote successful independent living and self-sufficiency
• Support local business startups and encourage innovation by improving access to resources and capital and help overcome obstacles hampering economic development.
• Cultivate a skilled, educated, and well-trained workforce by increasing educational attainment and the relevant job skill levels in order to appeal to local and nonlocal businesses
• Maintain and improve community appearance through programs that prevent and abate blighting influences.

How were these needs determined?

The public services needs listed above were generated based on input from multiple stakeholders consulted through interviews, focus groups, public meetings, and a survey. These stakeholders included City staff and elected officials, Fresno Housing Authority staff, nonprofit organizations, homeless housing and service providers, organizations serving people with disabilities, housing developers, civic organizations, and Fresno residents.

Needs were also determined based on a review of previous local and regional plans, such as the Fresno General Plan (2015-2023), Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018), the Fresno Madera 10 Year Plan to End Homelessness (2006-2016), the Fresno Parks Master Plan (2017), and the Downtown Neighborhoods Community Plan (2016).
HOUSING MARKET ANALYSIS

MA-05 Overview

Housing Market Analysis Overview

While housing choices can be fundamentally limited by household income and purchasing power, the lack of affordable housing can be a significant hardship for low- and moderate-income households, preventing them from meeting other basic needs. Stakeholders and residents reported that affordable housing for families and individuals is a significant issue in the city of Fresno. While American Community Survey data shows that rents in the city have increased relatively moderately since 2010, there is a lack of housing in the city that is affordable to low- and moderate-income residents, and a high proportion of residents are cost-burdened or severely cost-burdened by housing costs.

In addition to reviewing the current housing market conditions, this section analyzes the availability of assisted and public housing and facilities to serve homeless individuals and families. It also analyzes local economic conditions and summarizes existing economic development resources and programs that may be used to address community and economic development needs identified in the Needs Assessment.

Introduction

The 2011-2015 Five-Year American Community Survey estimates that there are 174,590 housing units in the City of Fresno (see Table 27). The largest share of units are single-family detached structures (61 percent), followed by units in small multifamily buildings of 5 to 19 units (14 percent). About 13 percent of the region’s units are in duplexes, triplexes, and fourplexes. Units in large multifamily buildings (20 or more units) account for 7 percent of housing units, and 1-unit attached structures account for 3 percent of units. There are an estimated 4,105 units of other types of housing in the city, including mobile homes, RVs, and vans, which make up 2 percent of residences in the city.

About 47 percent of the city’s units are owner-occupied, and 53 percent are renter-occupied (see Table 28). A large majority of owned housing in the city have at least two bedrooms: 15 percent have two bedrooms and 84 percent have three or more bedrooms. Rental units tend to be smaller: 22 percent of units are studios or one-bedroom units. The most common rental unit contains two bedrooms (43 percent), while more than one third (35 percent) of renters live in homes with three or more bedrooms.

Input from stakeholders indicates that new construction of affordable rental units is the greatest housing need in the community.

Describe the number and targeting (income level/type of family served) of units assisted with federal, state, and local programs.

According to the Fresno Housing Authority, more than 17,000 households were served with publicly assisted housing in 2019. The Fresno Housing Authority utilizes several types of assistance, including public housing, low-income housing tax credits, and housing choice vouchers. Through these programs, the Fresno Housing Authority manages 2,290 units of public housing; 2,414 LIHTC units, including 118 units of permanent supportive housing; and nearly 13,000 housing choice vouchers.\(^\text{15}\)

Data on assisted housing from HUD indicate that 630 public housing units are located within the city of Fresno.\(^\text{16}\) There are also 59 tax credit properties that together provide 5,794 units of housing affordable to households with incomes at or below 60% AMI, and 2,203 Project Based Section 8 units in the city. Other multifamily properties include housing developed through HUD’s Section 202 and 811 programs, which provide affordable supportive housing for seniors and people with disabilities.

Provide an assessment of units expected to be lost from the affordable housing inventory for any reason, such as expiration of Section 8 contracts.

The Housing Element of the City’s General Plan notes that from 2015 to 2025, 1,449 units of federally assisted housing are at risk of converting to market-rate housing because of contracts that allow owners of project-based Section 8 units to opt out every five years. However, affordability covenants on individual projects or ownership by mission-driven nonprofit organizations may prevent conversion of some units.

The plan also notes that all LIHTC projects placed into service up to 2010 may be at risk of conversion to market-rate housing, as they have passed the initial 15-year compliance period and owners may be permitted to exit the LIHTC program under certain circumstances. While HUD statistics indicate that most LIHTC properties remain affordable despite having passed the 15-year period of compliance, the complex nature of affordability restrictions associated with these projects put them at some level of risk of conversion.

In total, the plan estimates that there are 5,339 affordable units (including both federal and LIHTC units) at risk of conversion to market-rate housing. The cost of developing replacement units is estimated at $1 billion.

In addition to concerns surrounding the risk of conversion of federal and LIHTC affordable units, increases in housing prices and a loss of ‘naturally occurring’ affordable housing pose additional risks to low- and moderate-income households. Stakeholders interviewed as part of this planning process described increasing housing costs and a lack of affordable housing stock as primary concerns.

Cost burden data shows that affordability needs are particularly severe for renters with incomes under 30% of HUD Area Median Family Income (HAMFI), affecting over 15,000 households. Input collected from stakeholders and public meeting attendees strongly suggests that a scarcity of affordable rental units combined with low incomes and high unemployment makes housing increasingly unaffordable to Fresno residents.

On the ownership side, income and home value data indicate that starter home prices in the city are out of reach for many moderate- and middle-income households. Affordability data in the Needs Assessment supports this, with cost burdens impacting considerable shares of households up to 100% HAMFI.

In terms of unit size, overcrowding impacts a large number of households, particularly renters. Considering that the majority of rental units contain two bedrooms or fewer (65 percent), future affordable housing development should reflect continued need for 3+ bedroom rental units for larger families.

Describe the need for specific types of housing:

Data discussed in the Housing Need Assessment and in the following section indicates the need for rental housing for very low-income households. The greatest need is for affordable rental housing units, particularly units that are affordable to households with income at or below 30 percent of the area median income.

Stakeholders interviewed in the development of the Consolidated Plan also emphasized the need for:

- Affordable rental housing, including multifamily housing
- Affordable homeownership opportunities, including starter homes
- Affordable senior housing
- Affordable housing for a variety of family sizes
- Housing affordable to people with very low incomes (30% AMI and below)
- Housing accessible to people with disabilities, with supportive services
- Housing that accepts Housing Choice Vouchers
- Housing rehab for elderly residents
- Family housing
- Housing with supportive services, including case management services, medical, mental health, childcare
- Housing with supportive services for people transitioning from homelessness
- Rehabilitation of existing housing stock
- Housing in safe areas with access to opportunity

MA-15 Housing Market Analysis: Cost of Housing - 91.210(a) Introduction

This section reviews housing costs and affordability in the City of Fresno. The median home value in the city is estimated at $177,500 (see Table 29). Home values in the city fell during the years following the Great Recession and have not recovered to pre-recession levels (see Figure 9). Median rent is $758 in the City of Fresno, an 8 percent increase since 2009. 60.6 percent of the city’s rental units cost between $500 and $999 per month, and 15.5 percent have rents under $500 per month. Rental rates are $1,000 or more for about 24 percent of rental housing units (see Table 30). Median rents in the city have increased moderately but consistently since 2009 (see Figure 10).
The need for improvement or construction of affordable housing is one of the most commonly identified housing issues in the city, with data and local perceptions both indicating affordability issues, particularly for households with incomes below 80% of the area median. Ability to afford housing is tied to other needs identified in the city, including homelessness, housing and services for people with disabilities, housing and services for people living with HIV/AIDS, senior housing, and availability of housing for people re-entering the community from long-term care facilities or other institutions.

Is there sufficient housing for households at all income levels?

Table 31 estimates the number of units affordable to renters and owners at a variety of income levels, which can be compared to the number of households at each income level, as provided in Table 6 of the Needs Assessment.

According to CHAS estimates, there are 25,190 renter households with incomes under 30 percent HAMFI in the city but only 3,980 rental units affordable at that income level (see Table 31). There are 17,465 renter households with incomes between 30 and 50 percent HAMFI in the city but only 12,205 rental units affordable at that income level. Thus, there is insufficient rental housing for households with very low incomes. There appears to be a sufficient number of renter units affordable to renter households at the other income levels. However, these figures do not take into account unit condition or size; nor do they reflect the possibility that a unit that would be affordable to a low or moderate income household may be unavailable to them because it is occupied by a higher income household.

Turning to owners, there are an estimated 11,245 owner households with incomes 50% HAMFI and below in the city, but only 4,150 owner-occupied housing units affordable at that income level (see Table 31). At the next income levels there appear to be adequate affordable units. As with rental housing, these figures do not take into account housing size or condition, or the possibility that higher income households will choose to occupy lower cost units.

The National Low Income Housing Coalition’s Out of Reach data examines rental housing rates relative to income levels for counties and metro areas throughout the U.S. To afford a two-bedroom rental unit at the Fresno MSA Fair Market Rent (FMR) of $956 without being cost-burdened would require an annual wage of $38,240. This amount translates to a 40-hour work week at an hourly wage of $18.38, a 61-hour work week at minimum wage, or a 57-hour work week at the MSA’s average renter wage of $12.81. To afford a three-bedroom unit at the FMR of $1,364 would require an annual wage of $54,560.

How is affordability of housing likely to change considering changes to home values and/or rents?

Median home value decreased by 31 percent from the 2005-2009 ACS to the 2013-2017 ACS, and median rent increased by 8 percent (see Table 29). While home values fell and rents stagnated within the period during the Great Recession, housing values are recovering more quickly in recent years, and rents have surpassed their pre-recession levels (see Figures 9 and 10). Affordability has, in turn, decreased, particularly for renters. A tight rental market, a lack of affordable for-sale housing, and slow wage growth all indicate that housing affordability is likely to continue as an issue in the city.

How do HOME rents / Fair Market Rent compare to Area Median Rent? How might this impact your strategy to produce or preserve affordable housing?

Table 32 shows HUD Fair Market Rents and HOME rents for the region. The median contract rent of $758 is slightly less than the fair market rent for a 1-bedroom unit. However, many lower-income families with children may require larger units, which are largely unaffordable to those working low-wage jobs.

Note that this data does not reflect housing condition, which is an important consideration. While the rent may be affordable, substandard housing conditions may make a unit unsafe or lead to exceptionally high utility costs, negating any savings in rent as compared to a more expensive unit.

Discussion

Based on 2011-2015 ACS data provided by HUD, it appears that there is a need for additional housing for those at or below 30% HAMFI. There are only 3,980 rental units identified that meet that need, resulting in a shortage of more than 21,000 units relative to households in this group. This also supports the need for Section 202 and Section 8 developments. There is also a need for owner housing for those at or below 50% HAMFI.
MA-20 Housing Market Analysis: Condition of Housing – 91.210(a)

Introduction

This section examines the condition of housing in the city of Fresno, including the presence of selected housing conditions: (1) lack of complete plumbing facilities, (2) lack of complete kitchen facilities, (3) more than one person per room, and (4) cost burden greater than 30%. This section also examines the age of housing stock, vacancy rate and suitability of vacant housing for rehabilitation, and the risk of lead-based paint hazards.

Renters in the city of Fresno are more likely than owners to experience one or more of the selected housing conditions. About 63 percent of renter-occupied units and 34 percent of owner-occupied units have at least one of the conditions described above (see Table 33). CHAS data discussed in the Needs Assessment indicates that cost burdens are by far the most common housing condition. About 32 percent of owner-occupied units in the city have one selected condition (24,060 units), and 2 percent have two or more selected conditions (1,680 units). In contrast, 54 percent of renter-occupied units have one condition (46,365 units), and 9 percent have two conditions (7,925 units). These figures indicate that rental units are more likely to be physically substandard (i.e., lack a complete kitchen or plumbing). Less than 1 percent of both renter- and owner-occupied units have three or more conditions (165 renter-occupied units and 45 owner-occupied units).

Age of housing reflects periods of development in Fresno. The city contains a significant supply of housing built prior to 1980, of which 37,810 units are owner-occupied (50 percent of owner-occupied units) and 50,135 are rental units (58 percent of rental units) (see Table 34). 50 percent of owner-occupied units and 42 percent of rental units were built in 1980 or later. Renters are more likely than owners to occupy housing built between 1950 and 1979, while owners are more likely to occupy the newest housing, built in 2000 or later. While some older units may be well-maintained, the considerable share of housing built prior to 1980 indicates potential need for rehabilitation assistance.

Definitions

For the purpose of this Consolidated Plan, the City of Fresno defines units to be in “standard condition” if they meet HUD Section 8 housing quality standards. A unit is defined as “substandard” if it lacks complete plumbing, a complete kitchen, or heating fuel (or uses heating fuel that is wood, kerosene, or coal). A unit is “substandard but suitable for rehabilitation” if it lacks complete plumbing, a complete kitchen or a reliable and safe heating system but has some limited infrastructure that can be improved upon. These units are likely to have deferred maintenance and may have some structural damage such as leaking roofs, deteriorated interior surfaces, and inadequate insulation. They may not be part of public water or sewer systems but have sufficient systems to allow for clean water and adequate waste disposal.

Need for Owner and Rental Rehabilitation

Community input from local stakeholders and residents indicates substantial need for owner-occupied housing rehabilitation. About 46 percent of survey respondents rated “help for homeowners to make housing improvements” as a high need in the city, and 33 percent rated it as a moderate need. Data regarding housing conditions indicates that 1,725 owner-occupied units (about 2 percent of total owner-occupied units) in the city have at least two housing conditions, which are likely to include cost burdens and one other condition (overcrowding, lack of complete kitchen, or lack of complete plumbing). Additionally, 8,785 owner-occupied housing units (12 percent of total owner-occupied units) in the city were built before 1950, indicating the highest risk for deferred maintenance and rehabilitation need. 29,025 units of owner-occupied housing (38 percent of total owner-occupied units) in the city were built between 1950 and 1980, and as this housing ages, maintenance needs will continue to grow.

Owners are less likely to lack complete kitchens or plumbing and therefore are less likely to live in substandard housing. However, housing age indicates that some owner-occupied units are at risk of deferred maintenance and may currently or in the near future be in need of some rehabilitation, given that 37,810 units (50 percent of total owner-occupied units) were built prior to 1980. Additionally, seniors living on Social Security or retirement income who have paid off their mortgages may now be unable to afford necessary repairs and maintenance as their homes age.

Results of public participation efforts and data on the city’s housing stock also indicate a high level of need for rehabilitation of rental units. About 55 percent of survey respondents rated “rehabilitation of rental housing” as a high need, and 28 percent rated it as a moderate need. 11,235 rental housing units in the city (13 percent of total rental units) were built before 1950, and 38,900 units were built between 1950 and 1980 (45 percent of total rental units). Further, a greater number of rental units (8,090) than owner units (1,725) have at least two housing conditions, likely including cost burdens and at least one other housing condition. Combined, these factors indicate that while there is a high level of need for rehabilitation of both renter- and owner-occupied housing, renters in Fresno experience the highest levels of need.

Estimated Number of Housing Units Occupied by Low or Moderate Income Families with LBP Hazards

Exposure to lead-based paint represents one of the most significant environmental threats from a housing perspective. Housing conditions can significantly affect public health, and exposure to lead may cause a range of health problems for adults and children. The major source of lead exposure comes from lead-contaminated dust found in deteriorating buildings, including residential properties built before 1978 that contain lead-based paint.

Unfortunately, measuring the exact number of housing units with lead-based paint hazards is difficult. However, risk factors for exposure to lead include housing old enough to have been initially painted with lead-based paint (i.e., pre-1978), households that include young children, and households in poverty. Table 35 identifies the total number of housing units built before 1980 and the total number of renter and owner units built before 1980 that house children under age 6. In the City of Fresno, this includes 17,750 owner-occupied units (23 percent of total owner-occupied housing units) and 7,550 renter-occupied units (9 percent of total renter-occupied housing units) with at least two risk factors for exposure to lead-based paint (built before 1980 and housing young children).

Introduction

The needs of public housing residents and voucher holders are different from those of the city’s overall low- and moderate-income population primarily in that these residents are housed in stable and decent housing. With this need met, residents are able to work on other needs that families typically face in addition to housing insecurity. These other needs frequently include childcare, healthcare, employment, transportation, and food.

Describe the supply of public housing developments. Describe the number and physical condition of public housing units in the jurisdiction, including those that are participating in an approved Public Housing Agency Plan:

According to HUD PIC data, there are 766 public housing units in the City of Fresno, which are part of 5 traditional public housing sites. The FH reports in its 2020 Annual Plan that it has 506 public housing units. The Fairview Heights Terrace is a 74-unit multi-family development. Pacific Gardens is a 56-unit apartment complex built in 1970; its last major renovation took place in 2011. Parc Grove Commons is a newer complex, built in 2011, which is composed of 215 townhomes and apartments. Yosemite Village contains 69 townhomes first built in 1952. The development has completed four major renovations between 1992 and 2009.

Describe the restoration and revitalization needs of public housing units in the jurisdiction:

The FH 2020 Annual Plan states that three of the city’s public housing sites are being considered for disposition and conversion to a different low-income housing type or community facility. These three sites are Pacific Gardens, Yosemite Village – Phase 2, and Fairview Heights Terrace. Seventy-four of the units at Yosemite Village – Phase 2 are also being considered for demolition or disposition to be converted to a Low-Income Housing Tax Credit site. Three sites are also planned for conversion under the RAD program between 2019 and 2021: Yosemite Village (69 units), Parc Grove II (31 units), and Pacific Gardens (22 units). Conversion of these sites under the RAD program may include either demolition, rehabilitation or new construction at these sites.

Describe the public housing agency's strategy for improving the living environment of low- and moderate-income families residing in public housing:

As part of its on-going efforts to improve resident and staff safety and its properties, the FH conducts several joint projects with partners such as the Fresno Police, Sanger Police and California Highway Patrol to build relationships and provide information on property safety, telephone scams and car seat safety. The FH also trains its staff in de-escalation techniques, emergency protocols and conducts property safety assessments.
Introduction

This section summarizes homeless facilities and services. It was completed with data from the Fresno Madera Continuum of Care, including the 2018 Housing Inventory Count.

Facilities and Housing Targeted to Homeless Households

Based on a review of emergency, transitional, and permanent supportive housing that serves homeless persons in Fresno and Madera counties, there are an estimated 411 year round emergency shelter beds, about 55 percent of which are individual beds (225 beds) and about 45 percent of which are family beds (186 beds). The counties’ homeless facilities also include 114 transitional housing beds and 1,931 permanent housing beds, including 1,353 permanent supportive housing beds.

Describe mainstream services, such as health, mental health, and employment services to the extent those services are used to complement services targeted to homeless persons

There are a variety of mainstream services that are used to complement targeted services for homeless persons. The Continuum of Care focuses on supporting coordination and collaboration among these systems so that homeless persons can access mainstream resources to assist them in transitioning to and remaining stable in permanent housing. Examples of health, mental health, and employment services that complement services targeted to homeless persons include:

- Workforce Connection (the Fresno Regional Workforce Development Board) provides basic career services, career guidance, skill level evaluations, educational and training opportunities, job readiness workshops, training, and supportive services.
- The County of Fresno Department of Behavioral Health provides employment services and preparation, job placement, education support, computer lab access, and mental health services.
- The County of Fresno Department of Public Health provides specialty care programs, including the Medically Indigent Services Program, which assists qualified low-income Fresno County residents who have a medical need, but have no source of health coverage available and no other way to pay for necessary medical care.
- The Fresno Economic Opportunities Commission provides educational programs, including Head Start and ABE/GED programs; employment training for young adults; and financial and social enterprise services.
- West Care provides treatment and rehabilitation, veterans services, transitional reentry programs, and crisis psychiatric response services.
- Kings View provides mental health services, drugs and alcohol treatment, and youth skills programs.
- The Poverello House provides a medical clinic with free health and dental services, substance abuse and rehabilitation treatment, case management services to navigate housing and mental health services, and classes on peer counseling, life skills, agency referrals, health education, and self-esteem.
- The Holy Cross Center for Women and Children provides counseling and referral services, education and skills training, clothing distribution, laundry and shower facilities, social activities, and a six-week summer program for children and teens.
- Centro La Familia Advocacy Services provides victims assistance programs, parenting and families programs, navigation of mental health support and services, health insurance enrollment, and CalFresh enrollment.
- The Marjaree Mason Center provides counseling, crisis support, and domestic violence education and training.
List and describe services and facilities that meet the needs of homeless persons, particularly chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans and their families, and unaccompanied youth. If the services and facilities are listed on screen SP-40 Institutional Delivery Structure or screen MA-35 Special Needs Facilities and Services, describe how these facilities and services specifically address the needs of these populations.

Services and facilities that meet the needs of persons experiencing homelessness include:

- MAP (Multi-Agency Access Program) is an integrated intake process that includes screening and service navigation for social and health services, public benefits, housing, and other immediate necessities. MAP is funded by the County of Fresno Department of Behavioral Health.
- Multiple organizations in Fresno provide outreach to people experiencing homelessness. For example, the Poverello House provides access to clothing, showers, laundry, healthcare, and food, and the Fresno Rescue Mission provides a mobile community response unit, food services, chapel services, warming and sobering centers, and 24-hour emergency services with case management, and educational programs, including computer learning centers and GED and literacy programs; behavioral health programs; life skills training; and counseling.
- Multiple organizations provide emergency and transitional housing for persons experiencing homelessness, including Fresno County, the Fresno Economic Opportunities Commission, the Marjaree Mason Center, Turning Point of Central California, West Care, and Valley Teen Ranch, among others.
- Multiple organizations and agencies provide services to support people experiencing homelessness in transitioning to permanent housing, including permanent supportive housing and rapid rehousing services, including the Fresno Economic Opportunities Commission, the Fresno Housing Authority, Turning Point of Central California, and West Care, among others.
- Multiple organizations and agencies provide transitional and permanent housing opportunities for veterans and their families, including the VA Central California Health Care System, which provides emergency shelter for veterans; West Care, which provides transitional housing and rapid rehousing for veterans; the Fresno Housing Authority, which provides permanent housing for veterans.
- Multiple organizations provide emergency shelter and transitional housing options for unaccompanied youth, including the Fresno Economic Opportunities Commission, which provides emergency shelter for unaccompanied youth, and Valley Teen Ranch, which provides transitional housing for unaccompanied youth.

HOPWA Assistance, Including the elderly, frail elderly, persons with disabilities (mental, physical, developmental), persons with alcohol or other drug addictions, persons with HIV/AIDS and their families, public housing residents and any other categories the jurisdiction may specify, and describe their supportive housing needs

The Elderly and People with Disabilities

The elderly and people with disabilities need housing that provides access to transit or transportation services in order to facilitate access to employment, resources, and services. There is a need for supportive housing in areas close to transit and within short distances to needed resources and services. These needs should be primary considerations in the location of supportive housing for people with disabilities and seniors. Housing should also focus on integrating these populations into the community and reducing social isolation through programming and facilitating access to resources and services. In addition to housing located near transportation and needed services, people with intellectual and developmental disabilities often need case management or life skills programming that does not violate direct service requirements.

Persons Living with HIV/AIDS

Persons living with HIV/AIDS need low-barrier housing free from requirements such as those surrounding drug testing, sobriety, criminal background, and medical appointments. A ‘housing first’ model in which housing is provided without these kinds of barriers is needed. Similar to other vulnerable populations, persons living with HIV/AIDS need housing that provides easy access to health services, resources, and employment. Persons living with HIV/AIDS may need case management services, although stakeholders interviewed as part of this planning process emphasized that supportive services should not be required for people living with HIV/AIDS to access housing.

Public Housing Residents

Public housing residents may have a need for supportive services such as access to childcare and afterschool programs, transportation to and from these and other services and employment, health services, access to fresh and affordable food, and workforce development and training services.

Describe programs for ensuring that persons returning from mental and physical health institutions receive appropriate supportive housing

Supportive housing is frequently a need for people with mental health and substance abuse disorders after being discharged from inpatient treatment in order to prevent homelessness. Persons returning from these institutions need access to affordable housing and health services and may also require supportive services such as case management and transportation assistance.

Multiple supportive housing providers in Fresno make mental and physical health services available through supportive housing. For example, West Care provides treatment and rehabilitation and crisis psychiatric response services; Kings View provides mental health services and drugs and alcohol treatment; and the Poverello House provides a medical clinic with free health and dental services, substance abuse and rehabilitation treatment, case management services to navigate mental health services, and classes on peer counseling, life skills, agency referrals, health education, and self-esteem. Additional supportive services available in the community are described in section MA-30.

Supportive services are also available outside of supportive housing programs. For example, the County of Fresno Department of Behavioral Health provides employment services and preparation, job placement, education support, computer lab access, and mental health services. Local service providers are well-networked and often make referrals to one another to provide shelter, temporary food, clothing, and other immediate services.

Persons returning from mental and physical health institutions also need access to housing that is affordable, close to needed health services, and accessible to transportation options. The use of funds such as those provided through the HOME program to support the development of affordable housing that provides access to services and transportation facilitates persons with mental and physical health challenges in accessing needed care and resources and supports the use of in-home services.

Specify the activities that the jurisdiction plans to undertake during the next year to address the housing and supportive services needs identified in accordance with 91.215(e) with respect to persons who are not homeless but have other special needs. Link to one-year goals. 91.315(e)
The City of Fresno’s first year Annual Action Plan specifies the activities it plans to support over the 2020 program year to address housing and supportive service needs. These include:

- Housing rehabilitation
- Senior paint program
- Affordable housing development or rehabilitation
- Community Housing Development Organization set-aside
- Tenant-based rental assistance
- Nonprofit public services
- PARCS after school program
- PARCS senior hot meals program
- Neighborhood street and sidewalk improvements
- Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS/HIV
- Fair housing
- Micro-enterprise assistance

For entitlement/consortia grantees: Specify the activities that the jurisdiction plans to undertake during the next year to address the housing and supportive services needs identified in accordance with 91.215(e) with respect to persons who are not homeless but have other special needs. Link to one-year goals. (91.220(2))

The City of Fresno will address housing and supportive service needs of residents through the development of new affordable rental housing through a Community Housing Development Organization (CHDO), which will meet HUD requirements that any new construction with five or more dwelling units have a minimum of 5 percent of units be accessible to individuals with mobility impairments and an additional 2 percent be accessible to individuals with sensory impairments.

The City will also fund a housing rehabilitation program, which may be used by seniors to complete home improvements they could otherwise not afford, thereby allowing them to stay in their homes longer, and/or by people with disabilities who need accessibility modifications to remain in their homes. The City’s HOPWA program will fund rent, mortgage, and utility assistance for homelessness prevention and tenant-based rental assistance.

MA-40 Barriers to Affordable Housing – 91.210(e)

Negative Effects of Public Policies on Affordable Housing and Residential Investment

In the 2019 report, “Evicted in Fresno: Facts for Housing Advocates,” several researchers writing on behalf of the grassroots organization Faith in the Valley found that evictions were an important factor in overall housing instability. Eviction records also posed a major barrier for many residents seeking to obtain housing, particularly quality affordable housing.

The report found that most evictions occurred for various reason, primarily due to late rent. Renters who were one month late with rent or owed one month’s rent plus fees made up 72% of all rent-related evictions. Another 11% of rent-related evictions occurred due to the tenant owing less than one-month’s rent. Other reasons for evictions included domestic disturbances, housing tenants who were not on the lease, owning unauthorized pets, marijuana or other substance use, or without any reason given. Fees associated with court and other potential costs tended to exacerbate the financial hardship for tenants, making the process of finding new housing even more strenuous. Most importantly, evictions remain on an individual’s rental history for 7-years, serving as a major barrier to obtaining quality affordable housing for an extended period of time.

The report Evicted in Fresno: Facts for Housing Advocates identified “the inadequate supply of decent quality affordable housing” as a causal factor in evictions, explaining that the smaller supply leads to greater demand for affordable units, and that the impact to evicted tenants is much more severe than the impact to landlords who can quickly fill a vacant unit. Policy solutions proposed in the report include the creation of anti-displacement ordinances and the implementation of initiatives identified in the 2015-2023 Housing Element. Additional anti-displacement ordinances in Fresno would fill important gaps left by the state’s Tenant Protection Act, which provides a cap on rent increases to 5% plus inflation, up to twice per year, for residents in a unit longer than 12 months.

As shown in the Business Activity table above, the employment sectors in Fresno with the largest number of jobs are education and health care services (45,380 jobs or 26 percent of all jobs); retail trade (22,191 jobs or 13 percent); and arts, entertainment, and accommodations (21,409 jobs or 12 percent).

The jobs in which the most city residents are employed reflect these major employment sectors. The largest numbers of Fresno residents are employed in education and health care services (35,288 workers or 23 percent of all workers); retail trade (19,326 workers or 13 percent); and arts, entertainment, and accommodations (19,100 workers or 12 percent).

The largest mismatch between the share of workers (i.e., employed residents) and the share of jobs by sector is also in agriculture, mining, and oil and gas extraction (5 percentage point difference in the share of workers and the share of jobs). In this way, agriculture, mining, and oil and gas extraction workers make up a much larger proportion of the population in the city of Fresno than do agriculture, mining, and oil and gas extraction jobs of city’s jobs, indicating that these workers live in Fresno but commute outside of the city for employment. Differences between the share of workers and share of jobs by sector are 3 percentage points or less in all other sectors.

Describe the workforce and infrastructure needs of the business community:

The City of Fresno Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (2015-2020) identifies needs related to workforce and business infrastructure. Workforce development and infrastructure goals identified in the CEDS include:

- Upgrade and expand the capacity for skill training and development in Fresno in order to have a workforce that is compatible with current labor demands and commensurate with the economic growth trends of Fresno County and the industrial diversification of the economy that Fresno City and Fresno County are striving to attract to the area.
- Stabilize and enhance the business and economic environment of the overall area of the City of Fresno. Activities should be designed and pursued that will help the City attract more industrial diversification and become a greater participant in the regional economic sector while maintaining the viability of the existing retail, commercial and distribution entities.
- Provide assistance to existing local businesses, through supporting area revitalization initiatives of existing commercial retail centers, where needed, and improving the access to and availability of capital and credit for local businesses.
- Promote labor support programs which enhance the quality of the target area’s labor force and assist them in obtaining new employment opportunities.
- Develop collaborative relationships between all private and other government entities within the Central Valley to affect and maintain a comprehensive and coordinated economic development process.
Additional opportunities identified in the CEDS include:

- Expansion of workforce training programs
- Expansion of business retention programs
- Attraction of large companies
- Marketing agriculture as an area strength
- Re-Branding the City of Fresno
- Encouragement of innovation and entrepreneurship, and
- Positive media coverage

The Greater Fresno Region DRIVE plan (2019) also identifies workforce and infrastructure needs and opportunities, including:

- A world-class “precision food systems” industry cluster that supports advanced, sustainable agricultural production and food manufacturing, focused on cross-disciplinary engineering capabilities in digitalization and data science, mechatronics, equipment, and systems integration
- A suite of best-in-class supports for small business owners including a “Fail Fast Incubator” to help validate and support early business concepts, hands-on back-office support and technical assistance to help existing businesses scale, and a flexible pool of capital to directly address the unique capital challenges for small businesses owned by women and people of color
- Deploy a patient capital fund and increase economic development capacity to proactively attract and retain the types of jobs and employers needed in the Greater Fresno Region
- Develop an innovative, end-to-end talent pipeline and training program for diverse aviation professionals, the strategic framework needed to position the San Joaquin Valley to capture the emerging electric aviation market, and the blueprint for a world-class electric aviation testing lab and innovation hub
- A suite of initiatives that meaningfully support the monitoring, re-investment, and distribution of the region’s water to better ensure low-income and vulnerable populations have access to safe, affordable, and clean groundwater while ensuring the Greater Fresno Region has the water resources needed to help agricultural and other businesses thrive
- A multi-pronged strategy to reshape the workforce development system, including 1:1 case management for at-risk residents, family support and training funds, and a career network hub for work-based learning
- Expand evidence-based programs including high-quality early childcare and education, group prenatal care, nurse and para-professional home visits, and 2-generation coaching to ensure a healthy and equitable start to life
- Building the culture and technical infrastructure for longitudinal, cross-agency data sharing, starting with a proof-of-concept pilot for children ages 0-5 and their families
- A multi-pronged strategy aimed at increasing the number of bachelor’s degree graduates in Fresno, including growing dual enrollment, providing significant financial support to students for college completion, providing job training and placement support, and creating a regional college pipeline coordinating entity
Community stakeholders also noted the need for workforce training and job search assistance for low- and moderate-income households. 58 percent of survey respondents described employment training as a high need, and 51 percent rated job search assistance as a high need.

Describe any major changes that may have an economic impact, such as planned local or regional public or private sector investments or initiatives that have affected or may affect job and business growth opportunities during the planning period. Describe any needs for workforce development, business support or infrastructure these changes may create.

Plans for economic and workforce development in Fresno and the region are likely to impact job and business growth over the planning period. For example, the Greater Fresno Region DRIVE plan (2019) proposes a 10-year vision for major changes to economic and workforce development systems in Fresno that have the potential to shape the city and county’s economy over the next 10 years and beyond. The plan calls for more than $4 billion in public, private, and philanthropic investment in economic, development, workforce development, affordable housing, and neighborhood reinvestment by 2030 (see Figure 12 below). If implemented, this vision would increase access to jobs, workforce development, and economic development opportunities for Fresno residents.
Socioeconomic changes anticipated over the next several years are also likely to impact workforce needs and job growth opportunities in Fresno. Affordable housing, including housing near job centers, will be an increasingly important component to supporting workforce and business attraction and retention. Stakeholders interviewed as part of this planning process emphasized the need for affordable housing that is close to jobs, resources, and transportation, including a need for a variety of housing types and sizes. This housing is of particular need for seniors, people with disabilities, people transitioning from homelessness, and people living with HIV/AIDS. With increasing demand for housing in the city and region, affordable housing close to jobs, resources, and transportation is becoming more difficult to find, and low-income residents are often unable to access areas of higher opportunity or are displaced by rising housing costs. Rising housing costs are also a primary contributor to high levels of homelessness in the region. To that end, there is a growing need to devote resources to the development of affordable housing with access to jobs, services, and transportation.

How do the skills and education of the current workforce correspond to employment opportunities in the jurisdiction?

The city’s CEDS and the Greater Fresno Region DRIVE plan both identified the need for skilled labor and knowledge workers in Fresno.

The City of Fresno Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (2015-2020) emphasizes the need for workforce enhancement and improving the availability of skills development and work-force training to address low skills in the workforce and low levels of educational attainment.
The Greater Fresno Region DRIVE plan (2019) describes weaknesses related to education and workforce readiness as including:

- Adult Bachelor’s degree completion is almost 30% lower than the state average. These outcomes have implications for the labor market, where the supply of skilled workers often does not meet demand: For occupations that require a certificate or a postsecondary degree, there is a projected labor market gap of ~32,000 jobs by 2033. This gap is defined as the projected shortage of qualified graduates to fill open positions if current historical trends for postsecondary graduates and job openings continue to hold.
- In addition to the labor market gap, Fresno faces a higher education capacity gap: Today, ~2,800 students that are eligible to join a 4-year institution are turned away due to the lack of capacity in the region.
- For many un- or underemployed adults in Fresno, a lack of educational attainment is a major barrier to achieving more meaningful employment.
- Once residents have access to training, they may not receive sufficient work-based learning (WBL) opportunities, resulting in credentials that do not provide employability skills.
- Before children are even born, mothers and families of color are disproportionately at risk for adverse early childhood outcomes due to insufficient access to quality care.
- Only 34 percent of Fresno children are kindergarten-ready at the time of enrollment.
- Insufficient access to programs and services persists after birth and through early childhood, impacting healthy growth and development into adulthood.

Describe any current workforce training initiatives, including those supported by Workforce Investment Boards, community colleges and other organizations. Describe how these efforts will support the jurisdiction’s Consolidated Plan.

The Fresno Regional Workforce Development Board funds education and training to ensure individuals have skills necessary to find jobs with family-sustaining wages and meet the workforce needs of regional employers. Workforce training initiatives include:

- One-Stop Centers, in which adults and dislocated workers have access to education, training and employment services, as well as referrals (when deemed appropriate) to other services available through a network of partner agencies
- Basic career services, including access to computers, fax and copy machines, telephones to contact employers, veterans’ services, labor market information, career exploration tools, and job listings
- Individualized career services, including one-on-one work with an Employment Readiness Specialist to assist with career guidance, skill level evaluations, educational and training opportunities, and job readiness workshops
- Access to occupational skills training and on-the-job training opportunities
- Supportive services to assist with purchasing items necessary to secure a job, provide training supplies, interview clothing and transportation needs
• Academic assistance, job readiness, mentoring, guidance, financial literacy training, and leadership development opportunities for youth, and
• Business assistance, including accommodations for business meetings, presentations, trainings, one-on-one and/or group interviews, business workshops and trainings, connection to business consultants, funding to upskill existing employees, confidential human resource hotline, and recruitment assistance.

The County of Fresno Department of Social Services (DSS) offers the following services to qualified employers for DSS clients hired:

• Employee recruitment
• Employee screening
• Specialized employee training
• Employee retention services, including support and engagement of clients, equipment, transportation and childcare
• Wage subsidies up to a year depending on the needs of the DSS client

Local colleges and universities, including California State University, Fresno; Fresno Pacific University; State Center Community College District; West Hills Community College District; Fresno City College; Fresno school districts, and other educational institutions provide a variety of types of education and training to increase the skills of the region’s workforce.

The Fresno County Department of Behavioral Health provides Workforce Education and Training as a component of the Mental Health Services Act, intended to address identified occupational shortages and education and training needs of the public mental health workforce.

Programs offered by the Fresno Regional Workforce Development Board and other workforce development stakeholders closely align with workforce development needs identified in the Consolidated Plan, including job skills training and job search assistance.

Does your jurisdiction participate in a Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (CEDS)? If so, what economic development initiatives are you undertaking that may be coordinated with the Consolidated Plan? If not, describe other local/regional plans or initiatives that impact economic growth.

The City of Fresno participated in the City of Fresno Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy, a plan prepared by the City of Fresno Economic Development Department. The strategy serves as the Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (CEDS) in accordance with the U.S. Economic Development Administration’s requirements, and as a guide for policies, programs, and investments to support economic development in the city.

The CEDS identified operational economic development goals for the city, including:

• Goal 1: Enhanced Infrastructure Improvement District
  o a. Complete the fiscal and economic analysis for the Enhanced Infrastructure Improvement District for the Fresno Industrial Triangle.
b. Conclude the engineering work to at least 30% for the Fresno Industrial Triangle public infrastructure.

- Goal 2: Build, brand and market the Fresno Industrial Triangle (FIT) as a master planned industrial park of more than 500 acres.
- Goal 3: Attract at least one major company distribution center with at least 200 plus employees to build in Fresno.
- Goal 4: Receive approval from the Economic Development Administration for the South Van Ness Industrial area improvement application and begin the construction.
- Goal 5: Attract the HSRA Heavy Maintenance Facility to Fresno.
- Goal 6: Attract at least one Silicon Valley Company to open a major facility in Fresno.
- Goal 7: Complete the annexation of 120 acres of land in the sphere of influence into the City for industrial purposes.
- Goal 8: Conduct and complete the Brookings Institute GCI export strategic plan and Implement recommendations.
- Goal 9: Establish a new and updated Economic Development Website.
- Goal 10: Continue and Expand the Fresno business expansion and retention program.

Activities the City anticipates undertaking over the next five years will support several of the strategies listed in the CEDS, including providing connections to workforce development programs. The City will continue efforts with the Fresno Regional Workforce Development Board to provide job training and employment readiness education.

MA-50 Needs and Market Analysis Discussion

Are there areas where households with multiple housing problems are concentrated? (include a definition of "concentration")

HUD defines four types of housing problems: (1) cost burden of more than 30%, (2) more than 1 person per room, (3) lack of complete kitchen facilities, and (4) lack of complete plumbing facilities. The HUD-provided map of housing needs and race/ethnicity in Fresno shows the share of households within each census tract that have at least one of these housing problems.

A concentration of households with housing needs is defined as a census tract where more than 40% of households have at least one housing need. Using this definition, there are 89 census tracts either totally or partially within the city limits with a concentration of housing problems. Census tracts without high percentages of housing problems can be found primarily north of E. Nees Avenue in northeast Fresno, and north of N. Santa Fe Avenue in northwest Fresno. Several other tracts with low percentages of housing problems can be found in the city, such as the census tracts immediately south of the City of Clovis, two tracts between Peach Avenue and S. Clovis Avenue in southeast Fresno, and a tract north of East McKinley Avenue between N. Fruit Avenue and N. Van Ness Blvd.

Census tracts where more than 40% of households have a housing need are generally located in areas of the city that are predominantly populated by Hispanic residents. Although the population of the city is majority Hispanic, the map that follows shows patterns of disproportionate representation of Hispanic residents in census tracts with high percentages of housing problems.

Are there any areas in the jurisdiction where racial or ethnic minorities or low-income families are concentrated? (include a definition of "concentration")

Geographic patterns for people of color residing in Fresno are shown in the maps of people of color by block group in Fresno. Concentration is defined as a census tract in which more than 50% of residents are people of color. Hispanic residents make up more than 50% of the population in many census tracts in central, west and southeast Fresno. Asian residents make up 50% of the population in one census block group in southeast Fresno, between S. Maple and S. Cedar Avenues, south of E Butler Avenue. Black and Native American residents do not make up more than 50% of any census tract in the city.

In its fair housing planning guidance, HUD defines racially or ethnically concentrated areas of poverty (RECAP) where more than one-half of the population are people of color and the individual poverty rate is over 40%. There are 40 RECAP census tracts in Fresno, most of which are located in central, southwest and southeast Fresno. Three RECAP tracts are located north of Shaw Avenue; tracts 54.08 and 54.03 include Fresno State University, and RECAP tract 45.05 is located along Highway 41 between Bullard and Shaw Avenues.

What are the characteristics of the market in these areas/neighborhoods?

RECAP census tracts in Fresno tend to have high percentages of renter tenure. Eighteen of the 40 RECAP tracts have renter rates greater than 74%. Despite a high percentage of renters in the city, the percentage of affordable housing units is very limited. The highest rates of affordable housing units can be found in central and southwest Fresno, where 40-50% of rental units in census tracts 1, 2, 3, and 8 are considered affordable to households earning 50% AMI. Census tract 9.02 in southwest Fresno and census tract 14.08 in southeast Fresno are composed of 67% and 71% affordable units respectively, as recorded in the HUD AFFH Tool.

Are there any community assets in these areas/neighborhoods?

The RECAP tracts in Fresno contain many of the city’s civic, cultural and educational resources. RECAP tracts in central Fresno, including census tracts 1, 2, 3, 5.02, 6, contain the Community Regional Medical Center, Fresno City Hall, the Fresno Superior Court, and the Fresno Convention and Entertainment Center. Census tracts 54.03 and 54.08 in north Fresno are home to California State University – Fresno and the Bulldog Stadium. Census tract 20 in west Fresno contains the Fresno Chaffee Zoo. Census tracts 34 and 35 hold Fresno City College, the Fresno Art Museum, and the Veteran Affairs Medical Center. Other RECAP tracts are home to many parks, schools and other local amenities for the community.

Are there other strategic opportunities in any of these areas?

Due to the number of RECAPs in the city, these areas benefit from many strategic opportunities based on location and existing resources. RECAPs located in central Fresno, particularly downtown, are adjacent to Highways 99, 41 and 180. The city’s Downtown Neighborhoods
Community Plan also note that a number of historic buildings in downtown can be rehabilitated for residential and commercial purposes. The city is also anticipating the construction of a high speed rail line that will run through central Fresno, providing 171 miles of commuter access through the San Joaquin Valley.

Data Source: HUD AFFH Data and Mapping Tool, https://egis.hud.gov/affht/
Describe the need for broadband wiring and connections for households, including low- and moderate-income households and neighborhoods.

Broadband wiring and connectivity are critical needs for all households, particularly low- to moderate-income households, who use the internet for both personal and professional use. To that end, uninterrupted broadband service is provided throughout nearly all residential areas of Fresno. Wireline broadband service is offered by both Comcast and AT&T California. Wireless providers are numerous and include Verizon, T-Mobile, Sprint, and AT&T Mobility. According to the California Interactive Broadband Map, those locations with access to residential wireline and wireless service typically receive download speeds greater than 10 Mbps and upload speeds greater than 1 Mbps.

In the city’s 18 lowest-income census tracts, wireline and wireless broadband service is provided uniformly, and at high speeds. Tracts where wireline coverage are absent on the map tend to be the locations of non-residential uses such as the industrial area south of Highways 41 and 99, the Fresno Chaffee Zoo and Woodward Park in north Fresno. Maps indicate that there is inconsistent wireline and wireless coverage in downtown Fresno and in the area southeast of downtown to S. East Avenue. These areas also have commercial, civic and industrial use as primary land uses. However, there may be residential use present in the downtown area with limited wireless and wireline connectivity. In lieu of services, members of this community may need to utilize wireless services at local community anchor institutions, such as the Central Library.
Wireless Broadband Coverage in Fresno

Data Source: http://www.broadbandmap.ca.gov/
Describe the need for increased competition by having more than one broadband Internet service provider serve the jurisdiction.

The City of Fresno is largely served by two wireline providers, Comcast and AT&T California. The city is also served by at least four wireless providers: Verizon, T-Mobile, Sprint and AT&T Mobility.
Describe the jurisdiction’s increased natural hazard risks associated with climate change.

The impacts of environmental hazards on low- and moderate-income households is an important consideration for regional planners, city staff, and housing and service providers in the city of Fresno and Fresno County. From 2017 to 2018, Fresno County drafted an update to the Fresno County Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan. The plan identified hazards most likely to impact the county.

The Fresno County Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan notes that climate change may have dramatic impacts on the county’s ecosystems, including the following areas of high vulnerability:

- Vulnerability to Drought (High)
  - Reduced snowpack, resulting in earlier snowmelt and reduced downstream water availability during summer and early fall.
  - Reduced capacity to address future drought and wildfire risk related to climate change due to projected temperature increases and shortages in water.
  - Greater variation and uncertainty regarding the availability of water supplies, which are already under tremendous stress.

- Vulnerability to Wildfire (High)
  - Overall, warming will lead to increased heat wave intensity but decreased cold wave intensity. Future heat waves signify a potential increase in the wildfire hazard intensity and severity in Fresno County, as well as a year-long fire season.
  - Fresno County potentially has less capacity to address future wildfire risk related to climate change due to shortages in water, vital to combating wildfires.

- Vulnerability to Agricultural Hazards (High)
  - Changes in weather patterns can have dramatic impacts on the ecosystem, including agriculture systems; more severe impacts can be expected into the future.

- Vulnerability to Flood/Levee Failure (High)
  - Potential for increased flooding because higher temperatures result in increased water vapor to form precipitation.

- Vulnerability to Dam Failure (High)
  - The potential for climate change to affect the likelihood of dam failure is not fully understood at this point in time. More extreme precipitation events as a result of climate change could result in large inflows to reservoirs. However, this could be offset by generally lower reservoir levels if storage water resources become more limited or stretched in the future due to climate change, drought and/or population growth.
To mitigate environmental hazards in the county, the plan identifies a variety of techniques focused on protection, prevention, emergency services, coordination, and public education and awareness.

Describe the vulnerability to these risks of housing occupied by low- and moderate-income households based on an analysis of data, findings, and methods.

The degree to which low- and moderate-income households are vulnerable to increased natural hazards associated with climate change is an important consideration for jurisdictions and regions as they prepare environmental resiliency and other plans. The Fourth National Climate Assessment (2018) notes that vulnerable populations, including lower-income and other marginalized communities, have lower capacity to prepare for and cope with extreme weather and climate-related events. Because these communities are expected to experience greater impacts, it is important that jurisdictions prioritize adaptation actions for the most vulnerable populations.20

The Fresno County Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan further notes that Fresno County has higher levels of social vulnerability to hazards because of the high proportion of low-income households and households below the poverty level. American Community Survey data for 2013-2017 indicate that:

- Median household income for residents of the city of Fresno is $44,853;
- An estimated 49,036 (29.7 percent) of the city’s 165,067 households have incomes of less than $25,000 per year; and
- 28.4 percent of Fresno residents were living below the poverty level in the past 12 months.

In this way, a large proportion of the city’s residents have reduced capacity to prepare for and cope with extreme weather and climate-related events.

STRATEGIC PLAN

SP-05 Overview

Strategic Plan Overview

This Strategic Plan describes the City’s priorities for Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), HOME Investment Partnerships Act (HOME), Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG), and Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS (HOPWA) funding, including how those resources will be allocated geographically, how the specific projects funded by the City will address these priorities, and the outcomes that can be expected as a result.

The priorities represent the highest level needs expected to be addressed over the 2020-2024 Consolidated Plan period using the City’s CDBG, HOME, ESG, and HOPWA funds. In summary, the priority needs are:

- Provide assistance for the homeless and those at risk of becoming homeless through safe low-barrier shelter options, housing first collaborations, and associated supportive services.
- Improve access to affordable housing for low-income and special needs households by partnering with interested developers to increase development of low-income and affordable housing in high opportunity areas, and by promoting the preservation and rehabilitation of existing affordable housing units.
- Promote quality of life and neighborhood revitalization through improvements to current public infrastructure and facilities, and by closing gaps in areas with aging, lower quality, or nonexistent public infrastructure and facilities.
- Provide services to low-income and special needs households that develop human capital and improve quality of life.
- Provide services to residents and housing providers to advance fair housing.
- Plan and administer funding for community development, housing, and homelessness activities with improved transparency, increased community involvement, and full compliance with federal regulations.

The City of Fresno’s Consolidated Plan preparation coincides with the development of the first year Action Plan process. The City awards CDBG, HOME, ESG, and HOPWA funding to non-profits, public agencies, City departments, and developers that provide public services and housing for low-income and special needs households. It is largely through these partners that the City is able to accomplish progress toward its priority needs.

General Allocation Priorities

Describe the basis for allocating investments geographically within the jurisdiction (or within the EMSA for HOPWA)

The Consolidated Plan generally allocates CDBG, HOME, and ESG dollars according to low- and moderate-income (LMI) census tracts without specification of target areas. The City's LMI areas include much of south Fresno as well as neighborhoods such as El Dorado Park, Herndon Town, Highway City, Manchester, and Pinedale.

HUD generally awards HOPWA funds on a regional basis to the largest city within a HOPWA-eligible region. Fresno therefore receives and administers HOPWA funding for the entirety of Fresno County, known as its “Eligible Metropolitan Statistical Area” or EMSA. The City is required to serve eligible persons living anywhere within the EMSA and not just within City limits.
Priority Needs

Based on the Needs Assessment, Market Analysis, and community outreach conducted for this Consolidated Plan, the City has set the priority needs described below. To be considered for funding through the City’s CDBG, HOME, ESG, or HOPWA allocations, projects must address one or more of these priority needs.

Basis for priority
The 500 respondents to the Fresno Housing and Community Needs Survey ranked the City's homelessness needs above all other types of needs surveyed, with homeless prevention standing out as the highest-ranked among all the homelessness needs. Survey-takers’ passion for this issue is further underscored by the open-ended comments some included such as: “We just need to do everything we can”, “MOST IMPORTANT!!!”, “Housing First!”, and “This has to be the number one priority for our city.” Additionally, public meeting participants frequently discussed needs related to homelessness. These included needs for more low-barrier shelter space, case management for people experiencing homelessness, job and skills training, drug/alcohol counseling, and shelters for LGBTQ people that are not coupled to requirements for religious participation.

Consolidated Plan

FRESNO

Basis for priority | More than one in three Fresno households (36%) is cost burdened, spending more than 30% of its income on housing expenses; nearly a quarter of the city’s households (22%) spend more than 50%. Cost burdening is particularly pervasive among renters, who make up more 75% of the city’s cost burdened households. Compounding the housing affordability issue is the fact that housing prices have increased far more steeply than household income, meaning that a housing supply that meets all of Fresno’s affordability needs today will be insufficient to do so in the future. Public meeting participants and stakeholders interviewed as part of the development of the Consolidated Plan identified a wide variety of needs related to housing affordability in Fresno. For many, the issue was primarily related to expanding the supply and improving the quality of rental housing. Other needs identified in public meeting breakout groups and ranked highly by survey respondents included energy efficiency improvements, rental assistance, homebuyer assistance, and housing for specific subpopulations (large families, seniors, people with disabilities).

Priority need | Public Infrastructure and City-Owned Facilities
---|---
Priority level | High
Population(s) served | Extremely low income
| Low income
| Moderate income
| People with physical disabilities
| Non-housing community development
Geographic area(s) affected | Citywide
Associated goal(s) | Public Infrastructure and Facilities
Description | • Improvements to streets, curbs, sidewalks, and street lighting, particularly in south Fresno neighborhoods
• Renovation and improvement of existing recreation centers, senior centers, and similar facilities
• Improved amenities within existing public parks, such as playground equipment and athletic facilities, particularly in south Fresno neighborhoods
• Development of youth-oriented recreation facilities
• Acquisition of additional park space in south Fresno
Basis for priority | Public Infrastructure: Other than homelessness-related needs, street, road, and sidewalk improvements were ranked more highly than any other needs queried in the public survey. Public Facilities: In public meetings and through the Community Need Scorecard exercise, meeting participants tended to rank parks, gymnasiums, outdoor recreation space, and youth centers among the highest priorities. The priority is also supported by survey results, where these types of city-owned facilities were given priority just behind street, road, and sidewalk improvements.

The Community Need Scorecard exercise used in public meeting settings generally shows these types of needs as lower priority than those related to homelessness and affordable housing, yet many of the activity types included in the description of this priority were nonetheless ranked highly by survey respondents. The top five public services needs ranked by survey respondents included drug abuse and crime prevention, child abuse prevention, afterschool services, employment training, and neighborhood deterioration. These needs were frequently named in public meeting settings as well. |

| Basis for priority | Survey responses reveal a gap in the community’s understanding of fair housing and a need for greater education and enforcement around this subject. While 64% of respondents reported knowing their fair housing rights, fewer than half (45%) knew where to file a complaint of housing discrimination. Further, 20% of respondents (91 individuals) said they had experienced some form of housing discrimination since living in Fresno, with more than four in five of those instances going unreported. Stakeholder interviews further support this priority and particularly indicate wrongful evictions as a fair housing issue to be addressed. |

Introduction

Table 51 shows the City’s anticipated grant funding for the 2020 program year, along with an estimate of anticipated grant funding for the remaining years covered by this Consolidated Plan. The estimates for CDBG, HOME, ESG, and HOPWA assume level funding over the five years of the Consolidated Plan period at 100% of the 2019 allocation amounts.

Fresno has received $15,225,650 in CARES Act funding as of June 16, 2020, with additional allocations possible. The City will receive $4,184,132 of CDBG-CV, $2,103,510 of ESG-CV, $8,845,443 of ESG-CV2 and $92,574 of HOPWA-CV funding. The city anticipates these funds will be spent during PY 2020-2021. Discussion of these funds can be found in amendments to the 2019 Annual Action Plan and subsequent CAPERs.

Explain how federal funds will leverage those additional resources (private, state and local funds), including a description of how matching requirements will be satisfied

Leverage, in the context of entitlement funding, means bringing in other local, state, federal, and private-sector financial resources to maximize the reach and impact of the City’s HUD funded programs. Like many other federal agencies, HUD encourages its grant recipients to strategically leverage additional funds in order to achieve greater results. Leverage is also a way to increase project efficiencies and benefit from economies of scale that often come with combining sources of funding for similar or expanded scopes.

In addition to the entitlement dollars listed in Table 51, the federal government has several other funding programs for community development and affordable housing activities. These include: Fair Housing Initiatives Program; Lead Based Paint; Choice Neighborhoods; the Supportive Housing Program; Section 202, Section 811; Youthbuild; the Housing Choice Voucher Program; the Affordable Housing Program (AHP) through the Federal Home Loan Bank, and others. It should be noted that in most cases the City would not be the applicant for these funding sources as many of these programs offer assistance to affordable housing developers and nonprofits rather than local jurisdictions.
In California, the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) and the California Housing Finance Agency (CalHFA) administer a variety of statewide public affordable housing programs that offer assistance to nonprofit affordable housing developers. Examples of HCD’s programs include the Multifamily Housing Program (MHP), Affordable Housing Innovation Fund (AHIF), Building Equity and Growth in Neighborhoods Program (BEGIN), and CalHOME. Many HCD programs have historically been funded by one-time State bond issuances and, as such, are subject to limited availability of funding. CalHFA offers multiple mortgage loan programs, down payment assistance programs, and funding for the construction, acquisition, and rehabilitation of affordable ownership units.

The National Housing Trust Fund (HTF) is a new affordable housing production program that will complement existing federal, state and local efforts to increase and preserve the supply of decent, safe, and sanitary affordable housing for extremely low- and very low-income households, including homeless families. States and state-designated entities are eligible grantees for the HTF. HUD will allocate HTF funds by formula annually. A state must use at least 80 percent of each annual grant for rental housing; up to 10 percent for homeownership; and up to 10 percent for the grantee’s reasonable administrative and planning costs.

The State also administers the federal Low Income Housing Tax Credits program, a widely used financing source for affordable housing projects. As with the other federal grant programs discussed above, the City of Fresno would not apply for these funding sources. Rather, local affordable housing developers could apply for funding through these programs for particular developments in the City.

Over the Consolidated Plan cycle, there are several specific sources of additional funding, particularly related to homelessness, already identified and planned for use within the greater Fresno community. These sources include:

- HUD funding to the Fresno-Madera Continuum of Care estimated at $10.7 million per year based on 2018 figures (estimate is based on 46% of the CoC’s total award representing the City’s share of the Fresno and Madera County populations);
- CalHome funding of $2 million for mobile home rehabilitation;
- Homeless Housing, Assistance, and Prevention Program (HHAPP) funding through a one-time state bond issue ($6.15 million for the City of Fresno and $2.95 million for the Fresno-Madera CoC).

As a recipient of HOME and ESG funding, the City is required to generate matching funds. For the HOME Program, the City is required to match twenty-five percent of all project expenditures. In recent years, and for PY 2020, HUD has waived the City’s HOME match requirement based on fiscal distress criteria. In PY 2020, the City will continue to seek HOME match funds to contribute to future year match liabilities. Examples of matching funds under the HOME Program include private financing and interest subsidies from homebuyer and residential rehabilitation programs.

ESG requires a 100% match of program funds. The City generally passes this matching requirement on to the service providers receiving ESG funds from the City. ESG providers meet this requirement through the use of private donations, state and other federal grants, and/or volunteer hours.

If appropriate, describe publicly owned land or property located within the jurisdiction that may be used to address the needs identified in the plan

In accordance with AB 1486, the City provides a notice of availability for surplus properties to be posted on the California Housing and Community Development (HCD) website, and gives priority consideration to the development of affordable housing. Notices have been provided for two properties to date that may be consistent with the objectives in this strategic plan. The City will continue to assess its inventory of publically-owned land for opportunities to meet the strategic needs of this plan, as well as offering notices of availability in advance of any disposition of City-owned property, placing particular emphasis on potential sites of affordable housing in areas of high opportunity.

SP-40 Institutional Delivery Structure – 91.215(k)

Explain the institutional structure through which the jurisdiction will carry out its consolidated plan including private industry, non-profit organizations, and public institutions.

Agencies through which the City of Fresno will carry out its consolidated plan are shown in Table 52. In addition to those listed in the table, the City will also rely on a variety of non-profit and private sector housing developers, including Community Housing Development Organizations (CHDOs), Low Income Housing Tax Credit developers, and others. As of the last program year, the City has three organizations certified as CHDOs, including Community Housing Assistance Program, Self-Help Enterprises, and Visionary Homebuilders of California.22

Assessment of Strengths and Gaps in the Institutional Delivery System

Based on information included in Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018), strengths of the institutional delivery system include:

- Tremendous enthusiasm was expressed about the Multi-Agency Access Program (MAP) Point’s ability to assess, link, and connect individuals and families to community resources.
- FMCoC Coordinated Entry System (CES) provides assessment, triage, and linkage to available permanent and transitional housing resources dedicated to serving homeless families and individuals.\(^{23}\)

Based on information in Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018), gaps of the institutional delivery system include:

- There is a need to develop a collective impact initiative of influential community leaders who can deploy human or financial resources and keep track of the big picture, including representatives from philanthropy, business, the faith community, affordable housing and homelessness experts, and human services experts.

- There is a need to use the impact initiative to engage the entire community in homelessness issues, including partners, elected officials, community leaders, and the public.
- There is a need to strengthen data analysis to expand on the FMCoC’s Homelessness Management Information System (HMIS) and the annual Point-In-Time (PIT) Count.
- There is a need to implement strategies to enhance the Multi-Agency Access Program and Coordinate Entry System to utilize diversion and to ensure the households with the longest histories of homelessness and the greatest vulnerability receive these scarce resources.\(^{24}\)

Describe how the service delivery system (including, but not limited to, the services listed above) meets the needs of homeless persons (particularly chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans and their families, and unaccompanied youth)

The City of Fresno partners with the Fresno Madera Continuum of Care and a variety of agencies and organizations to provide services to the homeless. The City of Fresno uses ESG funds for outreach, rapid rehousing, emergency shelter, homelessness prevention, and data collection and analysis. Housing providers and street outreach workers seek to provide outreach and service navigation to persons experiencing homelessness. As described in Section MA-30, housing providers in the city work closely with the Fresno County Department of Behavioral Health and nonprofit organizations to provide mental health services and case management. The City will also continue to provide information and training to service providers on how their staff can assist clients in accessing mainstream benefits.

The Fresno Madera Continuum of Care uses a coordinated entry process and the Multi-Agency Action Program (MAP) to standardize the access, assessment, prioritization, and referral procedure for all people across all participating providers. The coordinated entry process includes assessment, navigation and case conferencing, housing referral with choice, and data collection and communication. The system uses a vulnerability index to prioritize the most at-risk individuals. This approach means that individuals and families who are experiencing homelessness or at-risk of homelessness are identified early, screened, and connected with the most appropriate intervention or best match possible that addresses their immediate needs.

Describe the strengths and gaps of the service delivery system for special needs population and persons experiencing homelessness, including, but not limited to, the services listed above

The City of Fresno works with its partners in the community to collaborate on projects to ensure that individuals and families who are chronically homeless are housed and provided necessary supportive services. The collaborating agencies will coordinate funding and resources to make additional permanent housing beds available for the chronically homeless community. Efforts include increasing outreach to chronically homeless individuals and families, increasing homelessness prevention, increasing permanent supportive housing, and streamlining the assessment and referral process. Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018) identifies the following strengths in the service delivery system:

- Since 2011 Fresno has made progress with a 60 percent overall reduction in homelessness.
- While overall homelessness and unsheltered homelessness is up in 2018 compared to 2017, chronic homelessness is down significantly. The decrease is attributed to intentional strategic and investment decisions to increase the amount of permanent supportive housing and target this resource to this vulnerable and expensive population.\textsuperscript{25}

The primary gaps in the service delivery system for special needs populations are the lack of funding needed to create additional beds and services. There is also a gap in services delivery for difficult-to-place special needs clients. The lack of long-term affordable rental housing in the city and county presents another gap in the service delivery system. \textit{Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action} (2018) identifies the following gaps in the service delivery system:

- While chronic homelessness is down considerably, homelessness overall is trending slightly upwards.
- The rise of unsheltered homelessness is likely due to the rising cost of rent and the severe lack of affordable rental housing in Fresno County.
- Once a person becomes homeless, the housing resources to help them exit homelessness are also very scarce. Current permanent housing options available through the Fresno-Madera Continuum of Care, permanent supportive housing (PSH), and rapid re-housing (RRH) are at capacity.
- Chronic homelessness is projected to rise if no additional permanent supportive housing is added.
- There is a need to preserve existing affordable housing.
- There is a need to align community programs to create a comprehensive crisis response network that provides person-centered and housing-focused service. There is particularly a shortage of residential programs that offer safe temporary shelter and services; generally emergency shelter is highly specialized to a narrowly defined population or program model such that for most single adults there is effectively no access to emergency shelter.
- There is a need to create new low-barrier crisis housing options.
- There is a need to enhance housing placement options and supports.
- There is a need to scale up rapid re-housing.
- There is a need to increase permanent supportive housing.
- There is a need to aggressively expand non-traditional permanent housing options.
- There is a need to design and fund a cross-sector demonstration for people who experience street homelessness and are frequent users.\textsuperscript{26}

Provide a summary of the strategy for overcoming gaps in the institutional structure and service delivery system for carrying out a strategy to address priority needs

The City of Fresno will take the following steps to overcome gaps in the institutional delivery structure and service delivery system for persons experiencing homelessness and other special needs populations:

- The City will allocate funding for homelessness prevention, outreach/ emergency shelter, Rapid Rehousing, and Housing Opportunities for Persons with HIV/ AIDS.
- The City will continue to fund housing rehabilitation and affordable housing development.
- The City will continue to provide funding to Community Housing Development Organizations to support the production of affordable housing in Fresno.

Improve access to affordable housing for low-income and special needs households by partnering with interested developers to increase development of low-income and affordable housing in high opportunity areas, and by promoting the preservation and rehabilitation of existing affordable housing units.

Goal 3: Public Infrastructure and Facilities

Promote quality of life and neighborhood revitalization through improvements to current public infrastructure and facilities, and by closing gaps in areas with aging, lower quality, or nonexistent public infrastructure and facilities.

Goal 4: Community Services

Provide services to low-income and special needs households that develop human capital and improve quality of life.

Goal 5: Fair Housing

Goal 6: Compliance

Plan and administer funding for community development, housing, and homelessness activities with improved transparency, increased community involvement, and full compliance with federal regulations.

Estimate the number of extremely low-income, low-income, and moderate-income families to whom the jurisdiction will provide affordable housing as defined by HOME 91.315(b)(2)

Using HOME, CDBG, and HOPWA funding sources, the City of Fresno will provide affordable housing to extremely low-income, low-income, and moderate-income households through:

- The development of 130 HOME-assisted housing units,
- Assistance to 900 households in accessing affordable housing through tenant-based rental assistance, and
- Housing rehabilitation assistance to 220 households.
SP-50 Public Housing Accessibility and Involvement – 91.215(c)

Need to Increase the Number of Accessible Units (if Required by a Section 504 Voluntary Compliance Agreement)

For affordable housing developments, the requirement is that 5% of the total development units are to be accessible units.

Activities to Increase Resident Involvements

The FH offers a number of activities for residents to increase their involvement in management and set them on the path to homeownership. As identified in its 2020 Annual PHA Plan, the FH conducts a financial literacy course through its Faith and Finance Program. The housing authority has also partnered with Self Help Enterprises to create a homeownership class and financial literacy workshop for residents with higher incomes. FH partners with Habitat for Humanity to help residents achieve homeownership.

Is the public housing agency designated as troubled under 24 CFR part 902?

The FH is designated a “Standard Performer” based on its 2012 score report in the Public Housing Assessment System, with a score of 84 on a 100-point scale.

Plan to remove the ‘troubled’ designation

Barriers to Affordable Housing

In the 2019 report, “Evicted in Fresno: Facts for Housing Advocates,” several researchers writing on behalf of the grassroots organization Faith in the Valley found that evictions were an important factor in overall housing instability. Eviction records also posed a major barrier for many residents seeking to obtain housing, particularly quality affordable housing.

The report found that most evictions occurred for various reason, primarily due to late rent. Renters who were one month late with rent or owed one month’s rent plus fees made up 72% of all rent-related evictions. Another 11% of rent-related evictions occurred due to the tenant owing less than one-month’s rent. Other reasons for evictions included domestic disturbances, housing tenants who were not on the lease, owning unauthorized pets, marijuana or other substance use, or without any reason given. Fees associated with court and other potential costs tended to exacerbate the financial hardship for tenants, making the process of finding new housing even more strenuous. Most importantly, evictions remain on an individual’s rental history for 7-years, serving as a major barrier to obtaining quality affordable housing for an extended period of time.
Strategy to Remove or Ameliorate the Barriers to Affordable Housing

The report Evicted in Fresno: Facts for Housing Advocates identified “the inadequate supply of decent quality affordable housing” as a causal factor in evictions, explaining that the smaller supply leads to greater demand for affordable units, and that the impact to evicted tenants is much more severe than the impact to landlords who can quickly fill a vacant unit. Policy solutions proposed in the report include the creation of anti-displacement ordinances and the implementation of initiatives identified in the 2015-2023 Housing Element. Additional anti-displacement ordinances in Fresno would fill important gaps left by the state’s Tenant Protection Act, which provides a cap on rent increases to 5% plus inflation, up to twice per year, for residents in a unit longer than 12 months.

Reaching out to homeless persons (especially unsheltered persons) and assessing their individual needs

The City of Fresno is an active member of the Fresno Madera Continuum of Care. The goals of this strategic plan align with the goals developed as part of the Continuum of Care’s planning and evaluation processes focused on homelessness in Fresno. Recommendations for outreach and engagement from Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018) include:

- Use HMIS as tool for coordinating street outreach to ensure streamlined and non-duplicative access to housing and other resources.
- Use a hotline to screen and refer individuals to MAP Point for in-person services or to the coordinated outreach team for follow up with unsheltered persons who need immediate assistance.
- Create a mechanism to coordinate street outreach. Encourage all outreach teams to participate in HMIS and the BNL (by name list) processes that are hosted by FMCoC and the Veterans Affairs Medical Center (VAMC).

These goals are reflected in the strategic plan goals of this Consolidated Plan. The City funds outreach and related service providers through the Emergency Solutions Grants program. In 2020, the City’s ESG program will receive funds to support street outreach.

Addressing the emergency and transitional housing needs of homeless persons

Recommendations for addressing emergency and transitional housing needs of persons experiencing homelessness included in Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018) include:

- Create new low-barrier crisis housing options, including bridge housing, engagement centers, navigation centers, and safe havens. Specifically, invest in small 24/7 low-barrier residential programs (30–75 people daily) in diverse locations.
- Provide adequate ongoing operating and services funding for the crisis housing option to ensure that the program is high-quality, effective, and cost-efficient.
• Choose sites that are convenient to public transportation. Don’t over-concentrate crisis housing options in one neighborhood.
• Consider creative reuse of existing structures, even if only available for a transitional basis (e.g. 2–5 years).

These goals are reflected in the strategic plan goals of this Consolidated Plan. The City funds emergency and transitional housing and related service providers through the CDBG and Emergency Solutions Grants program. In 2020, the City’s ESG program will receive funds to support emergency shelter and transitional housing (TBD).

Helping homeless persons (especially chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans and their families, and unaccompanied youth) make the transition to permanent housing and independent living, including shortening the period of time that individuals and families experience homelessness, facilitating access for homeless individuals and families to affordable housing units, and preventing individuals and families who were recently homeless from becoming homeless again.

The City of Fresno and the Fresno Madera Continuum of Care support a Housing First model that prioritizes permanent housing and offers case management and other support services.

Recommendations for addressing emergency and transitional housing needs of persons experiencing homelessness included in Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018) include:

• Increase permanent supportive housing
  o Deploy housing vouchers with services for chronically homeless individuals and families
  o Preserve affordable housing and set aside a portion of the units for PSH
  o Build new PSH using Low Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) and other affordable rental housing development tools

• Aggressively expand non-traditional permanent housing options
  o Improve and expand independent living—privately owned homes or complexes that provide housing for adults with mental illness and other disabling health conditions o Develop worker dormitories/bunk houses for employed individuals.
  o Develop shared housing options, including using written agreements to formalize the co-residence of two or more families within the same housing unit where each family contributes to the household’s finances using their own income or benefits.

• Scale up rapid rehousing to connect families and individuals experiencing homelessness to permanent housing through a tailored package of assistance that may include the use of time-limited financial assistance and targeted supportive services.

• Ensure sufficient investment in housing resources to avoid bottleneck in crisis housing options. These include housing relocation and landlord mitigation funds, rapid re-housing, permanent supportive housing and other housing options.
• Recruit landlords to participate in a centralized listing process by making currently vacant units available to individuals and families in search of housing.

• Create a risk mitigation fund to cover costs due to excessive damage done to a unit beyond what the security deposit will pay.

Over the next five years, the City will continue to support homeless service providers, funders, and stakeholders who recognize the need to shift focus and resources to long-term, permanent housing in order to end homelessness. The City will fund organizations that provide rapid rehousing, case management, and housing navigation services to assist homeless individuals and families, including those staying in emergency shelter, make the transition to permanent housing and prevent returns to homelessness.

In 2020, the City will fund organizations that provide rapid rehousing, case management, and other supportive services for people transitioning from homelessness to permanent housing. The City will also work to increase the availability of affordable housing in Fresno by using CDBG funds for home rehabilitation and to support the development of new affordable rental housing.

Help low-income individuals and families avoid becoming homeless, especially extremely low-income individuals and families who are likely to become homeless after being discharged from a publicly funded institution or system of care, or who are receiving assistance from public and private agencies that address housing, health, social services, employment, education or youth needs.

Housing and service providers in Fresno work together to prevent homelessness in populations who are vulnerable to or at risk of homelessness. These groups include extremely low-income individuals and families, people discharged from institutions, and those receiving assistance from agencies addressing a variety of needs, such as housing, health, social services, education or youth needs.

Recommendations for helping low-income individuals and families avoid becoming homeless included in Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018) include:

• Scale up diversion and make consistent across community. For households that are screened as currently homeless or at imminent risk, a diversion consultation should be offered.

These goals are reflected in the strategic plan goals of this Consolidated Plan. The City funds homelessness prevention through Emergency Solutions Grants and HOPWA programs. In 2020, the City’s ESG program will receive funds to support homelessness prevention. The HOPWA program will fund a variety of homelessness prevention programs, including supportive services, housing information and referral services, tenant-based rental assistance, and short-term rent, mortgage, and utility assistance.
SP-65 Lead based paint Hazards – 91.215(i)

Actions to address LBP hazards and increase access to housing without LBP hazards

The City of Fresno follows HUD’s Lead Safe Housing Rule requirements in all of its federally funded affordable housing development activities. The City also participates in community education to increase awareness of the potential danger of children’s exposure to lead; home environmental screenings; public health nurse case management; and monitoring child health providers to ensure lead testing in high risk children through Fresno County’s Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention program.

How are the actions listed above related to the extent of lead poisoning and hazards?

Following the Lead Safe Housing Rule requirements in federally funded housing activities reduces risk of lead poisoning and hazards. The Lead Safe Housing Rule is designed to reduce hazards relating to lead-based paint in housing, which include irreversible health effects, brain and nervous system damage, reduced intelligence, and learning disabilities. Children, pregnant women, and workers are most at risk of experiencing negative health effects resulting from exposure to lead-based paint hazards. More than 20 million homes built before 1978 contain lead-based paint hazards. For these reasons, it is vital that the City of Fresno reduce lead-based paint hazards in all federally funded housing activities.

How are the actions listed above integrated into housing policies and procedures?

The City of Fresno integrates Lead Safe Housing Rule requirements into housing policies and procedures by participating in the County’s Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention program, as described above, and following HUD’s Lead Safe Housing Rule requirements in all of the City’s federally-funded affordable housing development activities.

SP-70 Anti-Poverty Strategy – 91.215(j)

Jurisdiction Goals, Programs and Policies for reducing the number of Poverty-Level Families

According to the 2013-2017 American Community Survey 5-year estimates, the city of Fresno’s poverty rate is estimated at 28.4 percent, above the statewide poverty rate of 15.1 percent. The city’s poverty rate has increased slightly since the 2008-2012 5-year estimates, which estimated poverty in the city at 27.5 percent.

The City of Fresno General Plan (2015-2023), Street2Home Fresno County (2018), the City of Fresno Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (2015-2020), and other local and regional plans detail goals for reducing poverty in the city of Fresno and the county, including:
Economic and Workforce Development

- Upgrade and expand the capacity for skill training and development in Fresno in order to have a workforce that is compatible with current labor demands and commensurate with the economic growth trends of Fresno County and the industrial diversification of the economy that Fresno City and Fresno County are striving to attract to the area.
- Stabilize and enhance the business and economic environment of the overall area of the City of Fresno. Activities should be designed and pursued that will help the City attract more industrial diversification and become a greater participant in the regional economic sector while maintaining the viability of the existing retail, commercial and distribution entities.
- Provide assistance to existing local businesses, through supporting area revitalization initiatives of existing commercial retail centers, where needed, and improving the access to and availability of capital and credit for local businesses.
- Promote labor support programs which enhance the quality of the target area’s labor force and assist them in obtaining new employment opportunities.

Housing and Homelessness

- Preserve affordable housing options.
- Create new, low-barrier crisis housing options.
- Scale up rapid rehousing.
- Increase permanent supportive housing.
- Aggressively expand non-traditional permanent housing options.
- Align community programs to create a comprehensive crisis response network that provides person-centered and housing-focused service.
- Emphasize the opportunity for a diversity of districts, neighborhoods and housing types.
- Provide adequate sites for housing development to accommodate a range of housing by type, size, location, price, and tenure.
- Assist in the development of adequate housing to meet the needs of extremely low-, very low-, low-, and moderate-income households.
- Address, and where possible, remove any potential governmental constraints to housing production and affordability.
- Conserve and improve the condition of Fresno’s existing housing stock.
- Continue to promote equal housing opportunity in the City’s housing market regardless of age, disability/medical condition, race, sex, marital status, ethnic background, source of income, and other factors.

How are the Jurisdiction’s poverty reducing goals, programs, and policies coordinated with this affordable housing plan

The affordable housing, workforce development, and homelessness programs detailed in this plan aim to support the achievement of the housing and economic development goals in Fresno. To combat poverty and reduce the number of poverty-level families, the City has devoted resources to public service programs, including supporting individuals and families in poverty through workforce development, job training, and employment referral. Workforce Connection also provides support in all aspects of employment, including basic career services, career guidance, skill level evaluations, educational and training opportunities, job readiness workshops, training, and supportive services. This Plan continues to identify assisting persons living in poverty as a goal for the CDBG program. The City will continue to fund services to assist individuals in obtaining housing, employment, and other needs.

In addition to economic development programs, many homelessness programs and homeless service providers also address expanded employment opportunities as an avenue for combating poverty. The Fresno Economic Opportunities Commission, for example, offers vocational training, counseling, and job placement services. Programs aimed at educating youth, young adults, and adults also combat poverty by developing skills that will allow residents to secure better jobs at higher wages. This plan also calls for continued support for case management services that connect individuals with employment opportunities while also supporting individuals in meeting other needs, such as housing and supportive services.

Describe the standards and procedures that the jurisdiction will use to monitor activities carried out in furtherance of the plan and will use to ensure long-term compliance with requirements of the programs involved, including minority business outreach and the comprehensive planning requirements

Monitoring Plan

The City of Fresno has established a monitoring system to ensure that federal regulations, local policies and program guidelines are met. The monitoring system encompasses both entitlement program monitoring and project monitoring. The City of Fresno's Monitoring Plan for the Consolidated Plan and each annual Action Plan was established to meet three primary goals:

1. Ensure that all activities and initiatives funded, in part or in whole, with HUD funds are consistent with the approved Consolidated Plan.
2. Ensure that all projects and or programs funded are implemented by a competent subrecipient and administered in a timely and financially prudent manner; and that all funds expended are in compliance with federal regulations.
3. Ensure that all activities funded are evaluated and monitored regularly, and that performance is assessed and reported.

Entitlement Program Monitoring

Each entitlement program has specific monitoring requirements such as timely use of funds, commitment requirements, and uniform administrative requirements that must be met. The City of Fresno tracks these activities throughout the fiscal year.
Project/Activity Monitoring and Administration

City of Fresno Staff will determine that the national objective, activity eligibility and appropriate regulatory requirements to monitor the activity/project are established. Monitoring activities include, but are not limited to, compliance with national objectives, labor standards, financial management, and environmental assessments. Staff conducts desk monitoring of drawdown requests quarterly. Site monitoring of financial documents and activities occur at least once during the program year. Agencies that are new to receiving grant funds are monitored more frequently, generally two to three times during the program year.

Site visits of the activity/project funded are conducted once a year. However, rehabilitation and construction projects are monitored by Project Managers, Housing Specialists and a labor standards review throughout the construction period and the affordability terms.

Minority Business Outreach (MBE/WBE)

The City of Fresno has established a Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (MBE) Program in accordance with the regulations of the U.S Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The City of Fresno in the past has received federal financial assistance from HUD and as a condition of receiving this future/ongoing assistance, the City of Fresno has signed an assurance that it will comply with 24 CFR Subtitle A, Part 85, Subpart C, §85.36.

It is the policy and commitment of the City of Fresno to ensure that MBEs as defined in part 24, have an equal opportunity to receive and participate in HUD-assisted contracts. It is also our policy:

1. To ensure nondiscrimination in the award and administration of HUD-assisted contracts;
2. To create a level playing field on which MBEs can compete fairly for contracts and subcontracts relating to construction, professional services, supplies, equipment, materials and other services for HUD-assisted contracts;
3. To ensure that the MBE Program is narrowly tailored in accordance with applicable law;
4. To ensure that only firms that meet 24 CFR Subtitle A, Part 85, Subpart C, §85.36 eligibility standards are permitted to participate as MBEs;
5. To help remove barriers to the participation of MBEs in HUD-assisted contracts;
6. To assist the development of firms that can compete successfully in the marketplace outside the MBE Program; and
7. To outreach to local firms and encourage certification and participation in the MBE Program.
EXPECTED RESOURCES

AP-15 Expected Resources – 91.220(c)(1,2)

Introduction

Table 55 shows the City’s anticipated grant funding for the 2020 program year, along with an estimate of anticipated grant funding for the remaining years covered by this Consolidated Plan. The estimates for CDBG, HOME, ESG, and HOPWA assume level funding over the five years of the Consolidated Plan period at 100% of the 2020 allocation amounts.

Fresno has received $15,225,650 in CARES Act funding as of June 16, 2020, with additional allocations possible. The City will receive $4,184,132 of CDBG-CV, $2,103,510 of ESG-CV, $8,845,443 of ESG-CV2 and $92,574 of HOPWA-CV funding. The city anticipates these funds will be spent during PY 2020-2021. Discussion of these funds can be found in amendments to the 2019 Annual Action Plan and subsequent CAPERs.

Explain how federal funds will leverage those additional resources (private, state and local funds), including a description of how matching requirements will be satisfied

Leverage, in the context of entitlement funding, means bringing in other local, state, federal, and private-sector financial resources to maximize the reach and impact of the City’s HUD funded programs. Like many other federal agencies, HUD encourages its grant recipients to strategically leverage additional funds in order to achieve greater results. Leverage is also a way to increase project efficiencies and benefit from economies of scale that often come with combining sources of funding for similar or expanded scopes.

In addition to the entitlement dollars listed in Table 55, the federal government has several other funding programs for community development and affordable housing activities. These include: Fair Housing Initiatives Program; Lead Based Paint; Choice Neighborhoods; the Supportive Housing Program; Section 202, Section 811; Youthbuild; the Housing Choice Voucher Program; the Affordable Housing Program (AHP) through the Federal Home Loan Bank, and others. It should be noted that in most cases the City would not be the applicant for these funding sources as many of these programs offer assistance to affordable housing developers and nonprofits rather than local jurisdictions.

In California, the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) and the California Housing Finance Agency (CalHFA) administer a variety of statewide public affordable housing programs that offer assistance to nonprofit affordable housing developers. Examples of HCD’s programs include the Multifamily Housing Program (MHP), Affordable Housing Innovation Fund (AHIF), Building Equity and Growth in Neighborhoods Program (BEGIN), and CalHOME. Many HCD programs have historically been funded by one-time State bond issuances and, as such, are subject to limited availability of funding. CalHFA offers multiple mortgage loan programs, down payment assistance programs, and funding for the construction, acquisition, and rehabilitation of affordable ownership units.

The National Housing Trust Fund (HTF) is a new affordable housing production program that will complement existing federal, state and local efforts to increase and preserve the supply of decent, safe, and sanitary affordable housing for extremely low- and very low-income households, including homeless families. States and state-designated entities are eligible grantees for the HTF. HUD will allocate HTF funds by formula annually. A state must use at least 80 percent of each annual grant for rental housing; up to 10 percent for homeownership; and up to 10 percent for the grantee's reasonable administrative and planning costs.

The State also administers the federal Low Income Housing Tax Credits program, a widely used financing source for affordable housing projects. As with the other federal grant programs discussed above, the City of Fresno would not apply for these funding sources. Rather, local affordable housing developers could apply for funding through these programs for particular developments in the City.

Consolidated Plan FRESNO

OMB Control No: 2506-0117 (exp. 06/30/2018)
Over the Consolidated Plan cycle, there are several specific sources of additional funding, particularly related to homelessness, already identified and planned for use within the greater Fresno community. These sources include:

- HUD funding to the Fresno-Madera Continuum of Care estimated at $10.7 million per year based on 2018 figures (estimate is based on 46% of the CoC’s total award representing the City’s share of the Fresno and Madera County populations);
- CalHome funding of $2 million for mobile home rehabilitation;
- Homeless Housing, Assistance, and Prevention Program (HHAPP) funding through a one-time state bond issue ($6.15 million for the City of Fresno and $2.95 million for the Fresno-Madera CoC).

As a recipient of HOME and ESG funding, the City is required to generate matching funds. For the HOME Program, the City is required to match twenty-five percent of all project expenditures. In recent years, and for PY 2020, HUD has waived the City’s HOME match requirement based on fiscal distress criteria. In PY 2020, the City will continue to seek HOME match funds to contribute to future year match liabilities. Examples of matching funds under the HOME Program include private financing and interest subsidies from homebuyer and residential rehabilitation programs.

ESG requires a 100% match of program funds. The City generally passes this matching requirement on to the service providers receiving ESG funds from the City. ESG providers meet this requirement through the use of private donations, state and other federal grants, and/or volunteer hours.

If appropriate, describe publicly owned land or property located within the jurisdiction that may be used to address the needs identified in the plan

The City maintains a list of vacant city-owned real estate parcels that could potentially be used for opportunities arising in connection with needs identified in this plan. The current list consists of 176 parcels. Of those, 150 (approximately 204 total acres) are located south of Shields Avenue and 7 (totaling 18 acres) are within what the City terms “High Opportunity Areas”. City staff are currently assessing the list of vacant parcels against the priorities and objectives of the draft strategic plan and will provide additional information on anticipated use of any of these city-owned properties in the final report.

Describe the reasons for allocation priorities and any obstacles to addressing underserved needs

The City’s allocation priorities reflect its focus on highest-priority needs identified through data analysis, extensive community engagement, public survey results, consultation with stakeholders, and reviews of other plans and studies developed for Fresno and its region. The key strategic priorities that emerged from the Consolidated Plan process and that these projects are designed to address are listed below:

Homelessness
The 500 respondents to the Fresno Housing and Community Needs Survey ranked the City’s homelessness needs above all other types of needs surveyed. Additionally, public meeting participants frequently discussed needs related to homelessness. These included needs for more low-barrier shelter space, case management for people experiencing homelessness, job and skills training, drug/alcohol counseling, and shelters for LGBTQ people that are not coupled to requirements for religious participation.

Affordable Housing
More than one in three Fresno households (36%) is cost burdened, spending more than 30% of its income on housing expenses; nearly a quarter of the city’s households (22%) spend more than 50%. Cost burdening is particularly pervasive among renters, who make up more 75% of the city’s cost burdened households. Compounding the housing affordability issue is the fact that housing prices have increased far more steeply than household income, meaning that a housing supply that meets all of Fresno’s affordability needs today will be insufficient to do so in the future. Public meeting participants and stakeholders interviewed as part of the development of the Consolidated Plan identified a wide variety of needs related to housing affordability in Fresno. For many, the issue was primarily related to expanding the supply and improving the quality of rental housing. Other needs identified in public meeting breakout groups and ranked highly by survey respondents included energy efficiency improvements, rental assistance, homebuyer assistance, and housing for specific subpopulations (large families, seniors, people with disabilities).

Public Infrastructure
Other than homelessness-related needs, street, road, and sidewalk improvements were ranked more highly than any other needs queried in the public survey.

Public Facilities
In public meetings and through the Community Need Scorecard exercise, meeting participants tended to rank parks, gymnasiums, outdoor recreation space, and youth centers among the highest priorities. The priority is also supported by survey results, where these types of city-owned facilities were given priority just behind street, road, and sidewalk improvements.

Community Services
Stakeholders and public meeting participants, including groups of seniors and teens, were instrumental in identifying these high-priority community services needs. The Community Need Scorecard exercise used in public meeting settings generally shows these types of needs as lower priority than those related to homelessness and affordable housing, yet many of the activity types included in the description of this priority were nonetheless ranked highly by survey respondents.
The top five public services needs ranked by survey respondents included drug abuse and crime prevention, child abuse prevention, afterschool services, employment training, and neighborhood deterioration. These needs were frequently named in public meeting settings as well.

Fair Housing
Survey responses reveal a gap in the community’s understanding of fair housing and a need for greater education and enforcement around this subject. While 64% of respondents reported knowing their fair housing rights, fewer than half (45%) knew where to file a complaint of housing discrimination. Further, 20% of respondents (91 individuals) said they had experienced some form of housing discrimination since living in Fresno, with more than four in five of those instances going unreported. Stakeholder interviews further support this priority and particularly indicate wrongful evictions as a fair housing issue to be addressed.

Programmatic Compliance
These are necessary administrative costs associated with ensuring effective coordination and delivery of services to Fresno residents. The City of Fresno is committed to ensuring compliance with federal regulations.

The City does not anticipate any obstacles to completing the projects it has identified for the 2020 program year.

AP-50 Geographic Distribution – 91.220(f)

Description of the geographic areas of the entitlement (including areas of low-income and minority concentration) where assistance will be directed

Geographic Distribution

Not applicable. The City has not established specific target areas to focus the investment of entitlement funds.

<tr>
<th>Target Area</th>
<th>Percentage of Funds</th>
</tr>
</thead>

Rationale for the priorities for allocating investments geographically

The Consolidated Plan does not formally identify any specific target areas, however input from stakeholders and members of the public has strongly suggested a particular need for investment in south Fresno communities. Southwest and southeast Fresno were frequently described as having the greatest need for public infrastructure and improvements (such as sidewalks and park space) as well as for programs and services to strengthen human capital (such as job training and afterschool programming). The City will spread resources throughout the City, with the understanding that most funding will go toward the improvement of predominantly low- and moderate-income residential areas to include south Fresno.

HUD generally awards HOPWA funds on a regional basis to the largest city within a HOPWA-eligible region. Fresno therefore receives and administers HOPWA funding for the entirety of Fresno County, known as its “Eligible Metropolitan Statistical Area” or EMSA. The City is required to serve eligible persons living anywhere within the EMSA and not just within City limits.
AFFORDABLE HOUSING

AP-55 Affordable Housing – 91.220(g)

Introduction

Although entitlement dollars are limited, the City does anticipate expending a significant portion of its federal allocation dollars on the preservation and provision of affordable housing. Over the 2020 program year, the City of Fresno estimates that it will support a total of 260 low- and moderate-income households through rental assistance and the construction and rehabilitation of affordable housing units. Of these 260 households, 180 are expected to be experiencing homelessness and assisted with a tenant-based housing voucher. Of the remaining 80 households 26 are expected to be able to access newly constructed affordable housing and 54 will have their homes rehabilitated.

AP-60 Public Housing – 91.220(h)

Introduction

Fresno residents are served by the Housing Authority of the City of Fresno (FH). HUD PIC data reports that there are 651 units of conventional public housing and another 98 units designated for elderly and/or disabled households through the Section 202 and 811 programs. The FH 2020 Annual PHA Plan identifies 506 traditional public housing units, many of which will undergo demolition, disposition, or conversion to RAD in coming years.

Actions planned during the next year to address the needs to public housing

The FH is continually planning for and working toward improvements to its housing and communities in order to provide its residents with quality housing options. In it’s 2020 Annual Plan, the FH contemplates several mixed-finance developments that would potentially draw upon a variety of financing options, including Public Housing Capital Funds, rental subsidy, Project Based Vouchers, Project Based Rental Assistance Vouchers, and/or Public Housing Operating reserves. In some cases, the FH has planned for the demolition of housing that is obsolete; where public housing units are demolished, the FH will replace them with housing of better quality elsewhere within the city. The FH 2020 Annual Plan states that three of the city’s public housing sites are being considered for disposition and conversion to a different low-income housing type or community facility. These three sites are Pacific Gardens, Yosemite Village – Phase 2, and Fairview Heights Terrace. Seventy-four of the units at Yosemite Village – Phase 2 are also being considered for demolition or disposition to be converted to a Low-Income Housing Tax Credit site. Three sites are also planned for conversion under the RAD program between 2019 and 2021: Yosemite Village (69 units), Parc Grove II (31 units), and Pacific Gardens (22 units). Conversion of these sites under the RAD program may include either demolition, rehabilitation or new construction at these sites.

Actions to encourage public housing residents to become more involved in management and participate in homeownership

The FH offers a number of activities for residents to increase their involvement in management and set them on the path to homeownership. As identified in its 2020 Annual PHA Plan, the FH conducts a financial literacy course through its Faith and Finance Program. The housing authority has also partnered with Self Help Enterprises to create a homeownership class and financial literacy workshop for residents with higher incomes. FH partners with Habitat for Humanity to help residents achieve homeownership.

If the PHA is designated as troubled, describe the manner in which financial assistance will be provided or other assistance

AP-65 Homeless and Other Special Needs Activities – 91.220(i)

Introduction

The City of Fresno is covered by the Fresno Madera Continuum of Care, a network of service providers covering Fresno and Madera counties. The Fresno Madera Continuum of Care brings together housing and service providers to meet the needs of individuals and families experiencing homelessness.

Reaching out to homeless persons (especially unsheltered persons) and assessing their individual needs

Over the next year, the Fresno Madera Continuum of Care and other homeless housing and service providers in the city of Fresno will continue reaching out to homeless persons, including unsheltered persons, through street outreach, day centers, and emergency shelter services. For the 2020 program year, the City will fund organizations and/or projects for a variety of activities, including street outreach and needs assessment, through the Emergency Solutions Grants program.

Addressing the emergency shelter and transitional housing needs of homeless persons

During the 2020 program year, the City will fund nonprofit organizations and/or projects for the following emergency shelter and transitional housing activities:

- Emergency shelter and supportive services
- Rapid rehousing services

Helping homeless persons (especially chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans and their families, and unaccompanied youth) make the transition to permanent housing and independent living, including shortening the period of time that individuals and families experience homelessness, facilitating access for homeless individuals and families to affordable housing units, and preventing individuals and families who were recently homeless from becoming homeless again

During the 2020 program year, the City of Fresno will prioritize the funding of permanent housing for people experiencing homelessness. In determining allocation of CDBG and ESG, the City will prioritize low-barrier permanent housing and optional supportive services for individuals and families living in permanent housing, consistent with a Housing First approach.

The City will fund nonprofit organizations for the following activities to prevent homelessness and to support people experiencing homelessness make the transition to permanent housing:
• Homelessness prevention
• Rapid Rehousing

The City will also work to increase the availability of affordable housing in the city by using HOME funds to support the development of affordable housing, including housing for seniors and people with disabilities, and to provide housing rehabilitation for low-income homeowners.

Finally, the City will take steps to implement the strategies in its Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice, which includes strategies to support housing affordability in the city.
Helping low-income individuals and families avoid becoming homeless, especially extremely low-income individuals and families and those who are: being discharged from publicly funded institutions and systems of care (such as health care facilities, mental health facilities, foster care and other youth facilities, and corrections programs and institutions); or, receiving assistance from public or private agencies that address housing, health, social services, employment, education, or youth needs

Over the next year, housing and service providers in the City of Fresno will continue to work together to prevent homelessness in populations who are vulnerable to or at risk of homelessness. The City will support the following homelessness prevention programs during the 2020 program year:

- Homelessness prevention

The City will continue to prioritize short-term rent, mortgage, and utility assistance; tenant-based rental assistance; and transitional housing throughout the 5-year period covered by this Consolidated Plan. Goals for the number of households to be provided housing through HOPWA funds have increased in proportion with funding increases for the HOPWA program for the 2020 program year.

AP-75 Barriers to affordable housing – 91.220(j)

Actions planned to remove or ameliorate the negative effects of public policies that serve as barriers to affordable housing such as land use controls, tax policies affecting land, zoning ordinances, building codes, fees and charges, growth limitations, and policies affecting the return on residential investment:

The City of Fresno will continue to implement activities that remove barriers to affordable housing, such as its 50% permit fee reduction for residential projects in inner city areas, such as Highway City, Pinedale and Herndon Townsite. In its 2019 Downtown Displacement Report, the City also acknowledged its current opportunity to help preserve affordable housing in downtown and plans to prevent the displacement of current residents through its Downtown Displacement Program. Finally, the city will strengthen its police services in high crime areas and increase its provision of fair housing services to aid neighborhoods where affordable housing already exists.

AP-85 Other Actions – 91.220(k)

Introduction

This section details the City of Fresno’s actions planned to ensure safe and affordable housing for its residents, along with plans to meet underserved needs, reduce poverty, develop institutional structure, and enhance coordination between public and private sector housing and community development agencies.

Actions planned to address obstacles to meeting underserved needs

To help remove obstacles to meeting underserved needs and improve service delivery, the City of Fresno supports the continued development of the Fresno Madera Continuum of Care, a comprehensive coordinated homeless housing and services delivery system that assists people experiencing homelessness in making the transition from homelessness to independent or supportive permanent housing, and in accessing education, health and mental health services, employment training, and life skills development. The City will provide funding for the following to address underserved needs:

- Homelessness prevention
- Outreach/ emergency shelter
- Rapid Rehousing
- Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS/HIV

Actions planned to foster and maintain affordable housing

The City of Fresno will fund multiple programs to foster housing affordability, including continuing to use HOME funds to support development of affordable housing by a local CHDO. In addition to specific programs designed to foster and maintain affordable housing, the City will review its zoning ordinances for prospective barriers to affordable housing development and make amendments as needed. The City is also currently in the process of developing an updated Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice. As a result of this study, the City will undertake additional approaches to fostering fair and affordable housing.

Actions planned to reduce lead-based paint hazards

Over the next year, the City of Fresno will continue to conduct lead-based paint inspections and, if a hazard is found, remediation. These actions will both reduce lead exposure risk and help to maintain the city’s older, lower and moderately priced housing. Any housing rehabilitation activities conducted using HOME and CDBG funds will continue to monitor closely for any potential lead exposure.

Actions planned to reduce the number of poverty-level families

Over the 2020 program year, the City of Fresno will continue to collaborate with the Continuum of Care through the ESG program to coordinate with homeless, housing, and service providers. Homeless service providers will continue to offer job search and resume assistance and connections to workforce development opportunities, as well as emergency shelter, transitional housing, and services such as food, clothing, and childcare. A focus on development of affordable housing and permanent housing that is located near transportation will also help poverty-level families access more employment opportunities, while lowering transportation and housing costs.

Actions planned to develop institutional structure

The City of Fresno has developed a robust administrative structure to manage its CDBG, HOME, ESG, and HOPWA funds. The City’s Department of Housing and Community Development offers seminars for potential subrecipients, CHDOs, and contractors to learn more about the CDBG and HOME programs. In addition to working with organizations, the City’s citizen participation process is designed to make engaged and informed citizens another vital part of the institutional structure. City plans focused on affordable housing, homelessness, and workforce development provide overarching goals and frameworks for collaboration among agencies and the use of federal, state, local, and other funding.

Actions planned to enhance coordination between public and private housing and social service agencies

The City will work to enhance coordination between public and private housing and social service agencies by working to implement the strategies detailed in the Street2Home Fresno County: A Framework for Action (2018) plan, including addressing the gaps in the institutional and service delivery systems discussed in section SP-40 of this plan.

Public housing in Fresno is managed by the Fresno Housing Authority. The quasi-governmental authority is governed by 14 Commissioners – seven of whom are appointed as City Commissioners and seven of whom are appointed as County Commissioners. According to HUD’s data on assisted housing, there are 630 public housing units in the city of Fresno. The Fresno Housing Authority will continue to partner with area agencies and organizations to offer opportunities for residents including:
• Housing counseling for first-time homebuyers
• Self-sufficiency training
• Services and housing for people experiencing homelessness, through programs such as the Fresno Housing Homeless Pilot Program and rapid rehousing programs
• Homelessness prevention

HOME Investment Partnership Program (HOME) Reference 24 CFR 91.220(l)(2)

1. A description of other forms of investment being used beyond those identified in Section 92.205 is as follows:

The City will not employ other forms of investment beyond those identified in Section 92.205.

2. A description of the guidelines that will be used for resale or recapture of HOME funds when used for homebuyer activities as required in 92.254, is as follows:

The City will use the recapture provisions in all cases where a homebuyer subsidy exists. For HOME-funded homebuyer assistance loans, the Promissory Note, Deed of Trust, Declaration of Restrictions, and the Homebuyer Agreement are the enforcement mechanisms for the City's recapture provisions. The City will enforce minimum periods of affordability based on the amount of homebuyer subsidy provided to the buyer of not less than:

- Five years for less than $15,000,
- Ten years for between $15,000-$40,000, and
- Fifteen years for more than $40,000.

Recapture provisions are based on 24 CFR 92.254 (a) (5) (ii), which stipulates the conditions for recapture of the HOME investment used to assist low-income families in purchasing a home. Homebuyer recapture provisions are included in, or as a deed restriction rider, to the recorded deed of trust that secures a HOME loan Note, and requires recapture of funds if the home does not continue to be the borrower's principal residence or if all or any part of the property or any interest in it is sold, rented, conveyed or transferred during the duration of the period of affordability. Recapture provisions also stipulate that only the direct subsidy to the homebuyer is subject to recapture, which includes down payment assistance, closing cost, other home assistance provided directly to homebuyer, and the difference between fair market value and the sales price.

The net proceeds are the sale price minus the senior loan repayment (other than HOME funds) and any closing costs. If the net proceeds are not sufficient to recapture the full HOME investment plus enable the homeowner to recover the amount of the homeowner’s down payment and any capital improvement investment made by the owner since the purchase, the City may share the net proceeds. The net proceeds may be divided proportionally between the City and the homeowner as set forth in the following mathematical formulas:

\frac{(\text{HOME subsidy} \times \text{Net proceeds})}{(\text{HOME subsidy} + \text{Homeowner investment})} = \text{HOME amount to be recaptured}

\frac{(\text{Homeowner investment} \times \text{Net proceeds})}{(\text{HOME subsidy} + \text{Homeowner investment})} = \text{Amount to homeowner}
In the event of foreclosure, the amount subject to recapture is based on the amount of net proceeds (if any) from the foreclosure sale.

3. A description of the guidelines for resale or recapture that ensures the affordability of units acquired with HOME funds—see 24 CFR 92.254(a)(4)—are as follows:

The City does not refinance existing debt for multifamily housing projects.

4. Plans for using HOME funds to refinance existing debt secured by multifamily housing that is rehabilitated with HOME funds along with a description of the refinancing guidelines required that will be used under 24 CFR 92.206(b), are as follows:

As required, a portion of funds will be awarded to a City-certified Community Housing Development Organization (CHDO) and the general development community for the new construction or substantial rehabilitation of affordable housing units available to lower income residents.

The TBRA program will be administered by the Fresno Housing Authority and will be targeted to homeless households as outlined in the Status Update of the City and County of Fresno 10-Year Plan to End Chronic Homelessness. Interested parties apply in person at the Fresno Housing Authority located at 1331 Fulton Street, Monday through Thursday between the hours of 8:00 am and 4:00 pm. An assessment and case management assignments are made in order to determine the level of assistance and program determination.
Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG) Reference 91.220(l)(4)

1. Include written standards for providing ESG assistance (may include as attachment)

   The City will continue to work cooperatively with Fresno County and the Fresno Madera Continuum of Care (FMCoC) to update the ESG Policies and Procedures. A copy of the current document is included in the Appendix. In addition, the City, County and FMCoC are also continuing to update and document written standards.

2. If the Continuum of Care has established centralized or coordinated assessment system that meets HUD requirements, describe that centralized or coordinated assessment system.

   The Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) is used by all local homeless providers participating in the FMCoC. HMIS is a database used to track performance and outcomes for the agencies. As the HMIS Lead of the FMCoC, the Fresno Housing Authority plays a critical role in coordinating the annual Point-in-Time Count (PITC), collecting data, and distributing results from the annual count. The work of the Housing Authority in this regard meets and exceeds HUD requirements for the implementation and compliance of Homeless Management Information System Standards.

   The FMCoC’s Coordinated Entry System utilizes a common assessment tool – the Vulnerability Index (VI). The VI gave the community a way to identify and triage individuals most at risk. The VI was enhanced to the Vulnerability Index Service Prioritization Decision Assistance Tool (VI-SPDAT), which further triaged individual’s priority for housing and other services.

   All member agencies of the FMCoC have committed to using both the assessment tool and the Coordinated Entry System managed in partnership by FMCoC members. The assessment system is a client-centered process that streamlines access to the most appropriate housing interventions for individuals or families experiencing homelessness.

   The Multi-Agency Access Program (MAP) Point at the Poverello House (Pov) was the first coordinated physical entry point collectively developed by the Community Conversations stakeholder group. The MAP Point at the Pov serves as a physical location of the Coordinated Entry System. The program has proved successful in its first two years and has begun expansion. Main components of this process include:

   1. Assessment,
   2. Navigation and Case Conferencing,
   3. Housing Referral with Choice, and
3. Identify the process for making sub-awards and describe how the ESG allocation is made available to private nonprofit organizations (including community and faith-based organizations).

The City will issue a request for applications for the 2020-2021 program year following the adoption of the consolidated plan by City Council. Prior to this release, the City consulted with the FMCoC on the needs of homeless in the community and the best use of ESG funds per category. Within the HUD defined homeless categories, the City of Fresno has determined the following sub-populations are a high priority for ESG services:

- Unsheltered homeless persons who are living outdoors or in other places not intended for human habitation;
- Chronically homeless persons;
- Homeless veterans;
- Victims of domestic violence; and
- Other homeless persons who have been identified as highly vulnerable.

In addition, the following populations are also a priority for ESG services in Fresno:

- Unaccompanied youth under the age of 18;
- Youth aging out of the foster care system; and
- Households with children.

Proposals that propose to serve these populations will be given additional points in the scoring process. Proposals providing ESG services to populations outside of the identified high priority population will be considered for funding.

Bidders may propose to provide all or a portion of the ESG eligible activities stated above. Qualified/eligible vendor(s) are those agencies that are State certified non-profit entities, validly existing in California, with a tax-exempt IRS determination letter, as of the date the bid is submitted, or public agencies that are qualified to receive ESG funds under applicable federal rules. Qualified/eligible vendors are those that have a minimum of two years’ experience serving the beneficiary populations and a minimum of two years’ experience utilizing federal, state and/or local funding. Requests for applications will be widely distributed to an electronic distribution list of over 500 e-mail addresses.
4. If the jurisdiction is unable to meet the homeless participation requirement in 24 CFR 576.405(a), the jurisdiction must specify its plan for reaching out to and consulting with homeless or formerly homeless individuals in considering policies and funding decisions regarding facilities and services funded under ESG.

During the development of the Consolidated Plan, the City consulted with the FMCoC in making decisions related to ESG funds for the five year cycle. The FMCoC includes representation from the homeless community, which meet the homeless participation requirement in 24 CFR 576.405(a).

5. Describe performance standards for evaluating ESG.

The following performance standards are outlined in the City’s adopted written policies, however, updates to the standards are currently under way:

1. Decrease the number of homeless youth and households with children by 10% from the FMCoC Point in Time Count of January 2016.
2. Increase the percentage of participants in transitional housing that move into permanent housing to 80% or more.
3. Increase the percentage of participants that are employed at program exit to 25% or more.

PUBLIC MEETINGS FOR COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT & HOUSING STUDY

The City of Fresno is developing a 5-Year Consolidated Plan that will assess the current housing market, discuss characteristics of the city’s population, identify community improvement priorities, and outline a five-year plan to fund and implement them. The City estimates approximately $38 million in costs or less under the Federal Community Development Block Grant (CBD), Home Investment Partnerships Act (HOPAS), Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG), and Section 8 Housing Choice Vouchers (HCV) to fund these activities over the upcoming five years.

A separate study called as Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing (AIFH) will also be conducted to identify barriers to access to housing and neighborhood opportunities. The AIFH will seek recommendations to help ensure that Fresno’s neighborhoods are inclusive and free from barriers that would restrict access to opportunities for employment, educational opportunities, and schools.

NOTIFICACIÓN PÚBLICA
REUNIONES PÚBLICAS PARA EL ESTUDIO DE VIVIENDA JUSTA Y DESARROLLO COMUNITARIO

La Ciudad de Fresno está desarrollando un Plan Consolidado de 5 años que evaluará el mercado de vivienda actual, discutirá características de la población de la ciudad, identificará las prioridades de mejoramiento de la comunidad y detallará un plan de cinco años para financiarlo e implementarlo. La ciudad recibe aproximadamente $11 millones en fondos todos los años bajo los programas federales de Subvención en Bloque para el Desarrollo Comunitario (CDBG), Asociación para Inversiones en Vivienda (HOME), Subvención para Soluciones de Emergencia (ESG), y Oportunidades de Vivienda para Personas con SIDA (HOPWA). El Departamento de Vivienda y Desarrollo Urbano de EEUU (HUD) requiere el Plan Consolidado para dirigir cómo y dónde se utilizarán esos fondos durante los próximos cinco años.

También se llevará a cabo un estudio separado llamado Análisis de Impedimentos en la Selección de Vivienda Justa (AI) para identificar barreras a la igualdad de acceso a la vivienda y oportunidades de vecindario. El AI establecerá recomendaciones de política para ayudar a garantizar que los vecindarios de Fresno sean inclusivos y estén libres de barreras que restrinjan el acceso de los residentes a oportunidades como el transporte, el trabajo y la escuela.

Las opiniones y percepciones de los residentes locales constituyen una parte importante de este estudio. Se invita a todos los residentes a asistir a una reunión pública y a participar en la encuesta. Los detalles de la reunión figuran a continuación. Se servirán refrescos y los niños son bienvenidos.

What improvements does your community need? Is housing affordable? How can homelessness be reduced?

The City of Fresno is preparing its five-year Consolidated Plan and working to update its Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice. These plans are required by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and address local and regional needs related to housing, economic and community development, and homelessness.

A Consolidated Plan assesses the current housing market, discusses characteristics of the city’s population, identifies community improvement priorities, and outlines a five-year plan to fund and implement them using funds received from HUD under the federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), Home Investment Partnerships Act (HOME), Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG), and the Housing Opportunities for Persons with HIV/AIDS (HOPWA) programs.

The Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) identifies barriers to equal access to housing and neighborhood opportunities and proposes strategies to overcome those barriers.

The community’s opinions and perceptions are an important part of these planning processes, and everyone is invited to participate. Your input will provide essential information to local policymakers, city staff, housing providers, social service providers, lenders, and affordable housing advocates.

Federal authorities bust drug trafficking ring in Fresno

A federal raid on a Fresno, Calif., apartment complex has resulted in the arrest of 16 people and the seizure of more than $2 million in cash and property, authorities said Friday.

The raid was part of a months-long investigation by the FBI and the Drug Enforcement Administration, which revealed a large-scale drug trafficking operation involving multiple states.

The operation was first reported in August, when federal agents began monitoring the activities of the group, which included drug dealers and money launderers.

The operation was part of a larger investigation into drug trafficking in the Central Valley of California, which includes Fresno, Tulare, and Madera counties.

The money seized during the raid is believed to be proceeds from the sale of illegal drugs.

The operation involved multiple law enforcement agencies, including the FBI, DEA, and local police departments.

The investigation is ongoing, and more arrests are expected.

Federal Funding plan 2020-2024 by Fresno to target HUD, for funds and fair community development

Fresno – The City of Fresno held a meeting on December 09 and 10, 2019 at different sites to address the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development federal funding plan to the Community for 2020 – 2024.

Federal Funding plan 2020-2024 by Fresno to target HUD, for funds and fair community development – Global Messenger

The City of Fresno is developing a 5-Year Consolidated plan to The City’s housing and community development. The City developed a strategy plan to target U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for granting money to programs and projects, addressing the community needs and offering assistance to the eligible individuals. The plan is to guide how Fresno spends an annual $11 million in federal funding.

The purpose of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is to provide housing and community development assistance and to make sure everyone has access to "fair and equal" housing. To achieve these goals, it runs or participates in many programs intended to support homeownership, increase safe and affordable rental housing, reduce homelessness and fight housing discrimination. The Fresno is facing a huge homelessness as compared to the other cities as the homeless individuals also have moved to Fresno from other cities and camping out side of the businesses during the nights and it cold outside.

HUD says it has reduced veteran homelessness by 24% since 2010, helped 3.9 million families buy homes in the last five years and helped more than 450,000 families avoid foreclosure. HUD has also developed a number of case studies to highlight programs it considers successes.

Major HUD programs include Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) that covers economic Development activities such as employment and job training, Incentives for creating jobs, Housing repair and rehabilitation, minor to moderate repairs of homes and Infrastructural Improvements, Street, curbs and sidewalk improvements. Home Investment Partnerships Act (HOME) contains Construction or acquisition / rehabilitation of affordable homes for sale to homeowners. Construction or acquisition / rehabilitation of rental homes for lease to tenants. First-Time Homebuyer down payment assistance, rental assistance to tenants and rental vouchers for the individuals directly payable to the lessors. It is a great opportunity to the first time home buyers that there is down payment assistance available for them to buy a home.

Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG) covers the clauses such as Homeless prevention, Outreach to the homeless, emergency shelters, providing essential services for homeless or victims of domestic violence (Homeless or at risk of homelessness eligibility required) and Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS (HOPWA) that ensures Permanent supportive housing, Housing vouchers, Short-term rent, mortgage, and utility assistance, Case management, Transportation, Meals and nutrition (A member of the family/household must be AIDS/HIV positive).

How will it work?

The workshop gave a detailed insight of all the fundschemes offered by HUD and it has planned on to finish gathering community input, through community meetings, individual interviews, and surveys by the end of next week (end of 3rd week of December). Further, the community members would analyze data and community input to prepare a list of community development priorities and fair housing barriers. After the presentation of draft reports for public review and comment (March - April) the final reports would be prepared for local approval (late April) and will be submitted to HUD (due May 15, 2020).

Capitalism might not want everyone to succeed, but when a society is created to protect everyone under its umbrella you may be surprised at just how beneficial it can be for the community as a whole. The initiatives are entirely a selfless motive to priorities the actual developmental needs and support all those who can be, including the homeless, victims of domestic violence or patients of HIV.

When considering the number of single people and families that are affected by homelessness every year, it's important to initiate such programs through a wide, intersectional lens. Homelessness is an aspect of society that can intersect with many other subjects: from policing, infrastructure, disease and population health, to the local workforce and economy. People of color, LGBTQIA, and other marginalized identities are often more susceptible to being homeless sometime during their lives due to their identity or circumstances but when a community comes together all these societal evils can be fought and conquered.

There are some important statistics to consider when analyzing the current population of people that are homeless. According to a survey conducted by the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) department in January 2013, and reported by NationalHomeless.org:

- HUD found 610,042 individuals to be homeless on a single night in January 2013. – Most homeless persons (85%) are individuals, while 15% of homeless persons are in family households.
- 33% of all homeless people were youths under the age of 24. About 110,000 of them are LGBTQIA youth.

Federal Funding plan 2020-2024 by Fresno to target H.U.D, for funds and fair community development – Global Messenger

57,849 veterans, overwhelmingly 92% male, were homeless on a single night in January 2013. 60% were residing in shelters or transitional housing programs, while 40% were without shelter.

- 48% of homeless individuals (without families) were found to be living without shelter.
- Families experiencing homelessness made up 50% of those who were sheltered.
- Five states, California (22%), New York (13%), Florida (8%), Texas (5%), and Massachusetts (3%), accounted for more than half of the homeless population in the United States in 2013.
- About 1.5 million people will experience homelessness every year.

Major population supports the idea of providing subsidized housing for the homeless. It’s easy to see just how beneficial these programs can be. However, there is an important underlying condition: the housing and healthcare provided needs to be without conditions. Conditional housing and community development may not always be able to take under its shelter, the people or areas of genuine need. The Brightside however remains, initiation and support of “community for community.”

Fresno wants your opinion on how to spend an annual $11M in federal funding

FRESNO, California (KSEE/KGPE) – The city of Fresno wants the public to weigh in on how it spends $11 million of federal money it receives every year.

The funds are earmarked for community needs, but city officials want the community to say what is most needed.

“How they would like for us to prioritize those dollars,” said Director of Planning and Development Jennifer Clark.

“How would they like for us to spend that money over the next five years so that we know what are the best and most important investments to make.”

Two of the three community meetings have already taken place. The third is Thursday at Williams Elementary at 525 W. Saginaw Way.

Anyone unable to get to the meeting can also fill out the survey online.

APPENDIX B: CITY OF FRESNO
REVISED CITIZEN PARTICIPATION PLAN

It is the policy of the City of Fresno (City) to provide for full involvement by the community and its residents in the planning, development, implementation and evaluation of programs funded by the U.S Department of Housing and Urban Development, including the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), HOME Investment Partnerships Act (HOME), HEARTH Emergency Solutions Grant (HESG) and the Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS/HIV (HOPWA) programs.

This Citizen Participation Plan (CPP) sets forth the procedures and guidelines to be implemented by the City to provide for the continuing participation by the citizens of Fresno. The City acknowledges the need for, and the role, of citizen involvement, but also recognizes that the final determination and responsibility for policy development rests with the City Council.
Citizen Participation Plan

Introduction

The City of Fresno (City) is a federal entitlement jurisdiction that receives federal grant funding from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The City of Fresno receives federal entitlement grant funding for the following program:

- Community Development Block Grants (CDBG)
- HOME Investment Partnership Program (HOME)
- Housing Opportunities for People with AIDS (HOPWA)
- Emergency Solutions Grants (ESG)

As an entitlement jurisdiction, the City is required to prepare:

- Five Year Consolidated Plan (Consolidated Plan)
- Annual Action Plan (Action Plan)
- Annual Consolidated Annual Performance Evaluation Report (CAPER)

Under HUD’s Code of Final Regulations for the Consolidated Plan (24 CFR Part 91 Sec. 91.105), the City must adopt a Citizen Participation Plan (CPP) that sets forth the City’s policies and procedures for citizen participation in the planning, execution, and evaluation of the Consolidated Plan, Action Plans, and CAPER. This CPP provides guidelines for the City to provide and encourage public participation by residents, community stakeholders, and grant beneficiaries in the process of drafting, implementing, and evaluating the Consolidated Plan and related documents. The citizen participation process includes outreach, public hearings, community forums, and opportunities for comment.

Definitions

- Annual Action Plan: The Action Plan summarizes the activities that will be undertaken in the upcoming Fiscal Year (FY) to meet the goals outlined in the Consolidated Plan. The Action Plan also identifies the federal and non-federal resources that will be used to meet the goals of the approved Consolidated Plan.

- Citizen Participation Plan: The CPP provides guidelines by which the City will promote engagement in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of the distribution of federal funds, as outlined in the Consolidated Plan, Action Plan, and CAPERs.

- Community Development Block Grant: HUD’s CDBG program provides communities with resources to address a wide range of housing and community development needs that benefit very low and low-income persons and areas.

- Consolidated Annual Performance Evaluation Report: The CAPER assesses the City’s annual achievements relative to the goals in the Consolidated Plan and proposed activities in the Action Plan. HUD requires the City to prepare a CAPER at the end of each fiscal year.
- Department Of Housing And Urban Development: HUD is the federal government agency that creates and manages programs pertaining to federal home ownership, affordable housing, fair housing, homelessness, and community and housing development.

- Displacement: Displacement refers to the involuntary relocation of individuals from their residences due to housing development and rehabilitation activities paid for by federal funds.

- Eligible Activity: Activities that are allowable uses of the CDBG funds covered by the CPP as defined in the Code of Federal Regulations Title 24 for HUD.

- Emergency Solutions Grant: HUD’s ESG program provides communities with resources to serve homeless individuals and families via Street Outreach, Emergency Shelter, Homelessness Prevention, Rapid Re-Housing Assistance, Homeless Management Information System (HMIS), and Administrative Activities.

- Entitlement Jurisdiction: A city with a population of at least 50,000, a central city of a metropolitan area, or a qualified urban county with a population of at least 200,000 that receives grant funding from HUD.

- Five Year Consolidated Plan: HUD requires entitlement jurisdictions to prepare a Consolidated Plan every five years. The Consolidated Plan is a strategic plan that identifies housing, economic, and community development needs and prioritizes funding to address those needs over a five-year period.

- HOME Investment Partnerships Program: The HUD HOME program provides resources to fund a wide range of activities that build, buy, and/or rehabilitate affordable rental or homeownership housing or provide direct rental assistance to low-income people.

- Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS: The HUD HOPWA program provides resources that benefit low-income persons medically diagnosed with HIV/AIDS and their families, including housing and social services, chemical dependency treatment, nutritional services, case management, and assistance with daily living.

- Low- and Moderate-Income: As defined annually by HUD, Low- and Moderate-Income (LMI) is 0-80 percent of area median family income (AMI) for a jurisdiction, with adjustments for smaller or larger families. This includes those individuals presumed by HUD to be principally LMI (abused children, battered spouses, elderly persons, severely disabled adults, homeless persons, illiterate adults, persons living with AIDS and migrant farm workers). HUD utilizes three income levels to define LMI households:
  - Extremely low-income: Households earning 30 percent or less than the AMI (subject to specified adjustments for areas with unusually high or low-incomes)
  - Very low-income: Households earning 50 percent or less than the AMI (subject to specified adjustments for areas with unusually high or low-incomes)
  - Low- and moderate-income: Households earning 80 percent or less than the AMI (subject to adjustments for areas with unusually high or low-incomes or housing costs)
• Public Hearing: Public hearings are designed to provide the public the opportunity to make public testimony and comment. Public hearings related to the Consolidated Plan are to be advertised in local newspapers and made accessible to non-English speakers and individuals with disabilities.

• Substantial Amendments: Amendments are considered “Substantial” whenever one of the following is proposed:
  o A change in the allocation priorities or a change in the method of fund distribution.
  o A change which increases or decreases by 25 percent the amount allocated to a category of funding, or a project or activity budget funded by the entitlement grant programs.
  o To implement an activity using CDBG funds for new programs that were not described in the Consolidated Plan or the current year Annual Action Plan.
  o To change the purpose or intended beneficiaries of an activity approved for CDBG funding, e.g., instead of primarily benefitting lower income households the activity instead proposes to benefit mostly moderate income households.

Roles, Responsibilities, and Contact Information

The City of Fresno is a federal entitlement jurisdiction and is a recipient of grant funding from the federal government.

The City of Fresno’s Charter established a council and manager form of government. Fresno’s City Council is the elected legislative body of the City and is responsible for approving its Consolidated Plan, Action Plans, Substantial Amendments, and CAPERs prior to their submission to HUD.

It is the intent of the City to provide for and encourage citizen participation, with particular emphasis on participation by lower income persons who are beneficiaries of or impacted by entitlement-funded activities. The City encourages participation in all stages of the Consolidated Planning process by all residents, including minorities and non-English speaking persons, as well as persons with mobility, visual or hearing impairments, and residents of assisted housing developments and recipients of tenant-based assistance.

In general, hearings will be held at City Hall due to its central location, convenient access, and disability accessibility. Translation services will be provided when there is an indication that non-English speaking persons will be attending. Other reasonable accommodations will be provided on a case-by-case basis.

Citizen Participation Policies

Public Hearings

The City will hold at least two public hearings per year to obtain residents' views and to respond to proposals and questions, to be conducted at a minimum of two different stages of the program year. Together, the hearings must address housing and community development needs, development of proposed activities, proposed strategies and actions for affirmatively furthering fair housing consistent with the AFH, and a review of program performance. At least one of these hearings is held before the proposed consolidated plan is published for comment. At least one public hearing per year will be held before City Council.

The City Council public hearings will be held at Fresno City Hall, Council Chambers located at 2600 Fresno Street, Room 2097, Fresno, CA 93721. Listening devices, interpretation services, and other assistance to disabled persons or those with limited English proficiency will be provided upon request, ranging up to five business days prior notification to the City Clerk. Requests for disability-related modifications or accommodations required to facilitate meeting participation, including requests for auxiliary aids, services or interpreters, require different lead times, ranging up to five business days. For this reason, it is important to provide as much advance notice as possible to ensure availability. Assistive Listening Devices (ALDs) are available upon request.

Notice of Hearings and Review Periods

To allow the public time to provide comments prior to the submission of approved documents to HUD, the City will hold a minimum 30-day public review and comment period for the Consolidated Plan, Action Plan, and Substantial Amendment. The City will establish a public review period of at least 15 days for each CAPER and amendments to the CPP. Copies of the draft plans will be available to the public at City of Fresno Development and Resource Management, Room 3065, 2600 Fresno Street, Fresno, CA 93721.
The City will place public notices at libraries, recreation centers, community centers, online through the City’s website, and through advertisement in the Fresno Bee in advance of a 30-day public review and comment period.

To ensure that the public, including minorities, persons with limited English proficiency, persons with disabilities, residents of public housing, and LMI residents are able to participate in the public review process, the City will provide residents, public agencies, and other stakeholders with notices on applicable public review periods and public hearings that adhere to the following:

- The notices will be published prior to the start of the public comment period and at least 15 days before the final public hearing and will include information regarding how to request accommodation and services available for persons with disabilities who wish to attend the public hearings.

The notices will be distributed to persons and agencies on the contact list maintained by the City for those parties expressing interest in receiving information and updates related to the City’s Consolidated Plan, Action Plan, CAPER, Substantial Amendments and CPP. Interested parties may request to be added to this contact list by sending an email to HCDD@fresno.gov, by calling (559) 621-8300 or by writing to the Fresno Planning and Development, Room 3065, 2600 Fresno Street, Fresno, CA 93721. The notices will be distributed through a variety of methods, including email, newspaper publications and the City’s website at www.fresno.gov. The notices will include information on how to obtain a copy of the draft documents and scheduled hearing dates, times, and locations.

The public may file comments on draft plans in writing to the Fresno Planning and Development, Room 3065, 2600 Fresno Street, Fresno, CA 93721; via email to HCDD@fresno.gov; by phone at (559) 621-8300. Comments may also be submitted in person to Fresno Planning and Development, Room 3065, 2600 Fresno Street, Fresno, CA 93721, Monday through Friday during business hours, and during the Council adoption hearing.

When necessary or applicable, the City may combine notices complying with several individual requirements into one comprehensive notice for dissemination and publication.

Comments on Adopted Plans

Comments from residents, public agencies, and other stakeholders regarding the adopted Consolidated Plan or related amendments and performance reports may be submitted in writing or verbally to the General Contact at Fresno Planning and Development, Room 3065, 2600 Fresno Street, Fresno, CA 93721. Written comments will be referred to appropriate City staff for consideration and response. The City will attempt to respond to all comments within 15 business days and maintain a correspondence file for this purpose.

HUD officials will consider public concerns regarding the City’s plans and programs described in this Citizen Participation Plan. Written concerns may be submitted to: Kimberly Nash, Director Community Planning and Development Division U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development San Francisco Regional Office, Region IX, One Sansome Street, Suite 1200, San Francisco, CA 94104-4430.
Availability of Draft and Approved Documents

The draft and final versions of the Consolidated Plan, Action Plan, all related amendments, records, and regulations will be available online at the City’s website: www.fresno.gov. Hard copies of all documents will be available at Fresno Planning and Development, Room 3065, 2600 Fresno Street, Fresno, CA 93721 and upon written request. If the City is unable to provide immediate access to the documents requested, it will make every effort to provide the documents and reports within 15 business days from the receipt of the request.

During the 30-day public review and comment period, copies of the document will be available to the public for review at libraries, recreation centers, community centers, and through the City’s website at www.fresno.gov.

Displacement Policy

As part of the CPP, the City must maintain a displacement policy. Displacement refers to the involuntary relocation of individuals from their residence due to housing development and rehabilitation paid for with federal funds. The City will continue to use existing federal and state relocation guidelines, as applicable, to minimize displacement and to alleviate the problems caused by displacement. Both the federal government and the State of California have specific requirements dictating the amount of benefits and assistance that must be provided to lower income persons and households relocated from their homes as a result of displacement. Depending on the funding source, displaced persons may be offered one or more of the following:

- A rent subsidy for another unit
- A cash payment to be used for rent or a down payment on the purchase of a dwelling unit
- Moving and related expenses

The City’s rehabilitation programs may also incur relocation issues when they provide minor additions to existing dwellings in order to address overcrowding. Any temporary relocation costs are included in the rehabilitation package offered to clients.

Technical Assistance

The City will, to the extent feasible, respond to requests for technical assistance from entities representing LMI groups who are seeking federal entitlement funding in accordance with grant procedures. This may include, but is not limited to, providing information regarding how to fill out applications, other potential funding sources, and referrals to appropriate agencies within and outside the City. "Technical assistance," as used here, does not include the provision of funds to the entities requesting such assistance. Assistance will also be provided by Department of Housing staff to interested individuals and resident groups who need further explanation on the background and intent of the Housing and Community Development Act, interpretation of specific HUD regulations, and project eligibility criteria for federal grants.
Development of the Fair Housing Study (AI or successor study)

In developing the Fair Housing Study, the City will consult with community-based and regionally-based organizations that represent protected class members, and organizations that enforce fair housing laws, including the Fair Housing Council of Central California and other nonprofit organizations that may receive funding under HUD’s Fair Housing Initiative Program (FHIP) or that may have other specialized knowledge of fair housing within the city.

- Introductory Public Hearing: During the preparation of the Fair Housing Study, at least two hearings will be held to obtain the views of the general public on fair housing-related data and affirmatively furthering fair housing in the City’s housing and community development programs. The first public hearing will solicit input on fair housing issues in the city and shall be held during development of the Study, before the draft is published for comment.

No later than the date of the first public hearing on the Fair Housing Study, the HUD-provided data and other supplemental data will be made available to the general public. This may include a link to HUD’s website where the data can be readily accessed.

- Publication of the Proposed AI: When complete, the City will make available the draft Fair Housing Study for a period of no less than 30 days in a manner that affords citizens, public agencies, and other interested parties a reasonable opportunity to examine its contents and submit comments. Notice of the public comment period on the draft Study will be published in the Fresno Bee. The public notice shall include a brief summary of the content and purpose of the draft Fair Housing Plan, the dates of the public display and comment period, the locations where copies of the draft document can be examined, how comments will be accepted, and when the document will be considered for action by the City Council.

A second public hearing will be conducted during or after the 30-day public comment period on the Fair Housing Study during which the City will address identified factors contributing to fair housing issues, and proposed fair housing goals and priorities for affirmatively furthering fair housing. Any comments or views of residents of the community received in writing, or orally at the public hearing, will be considered by the City in preparing the final Fair Housing Study and a summary of these comments or views shall be attached to the final AFH.

- Revisions to the Fair Housing Study: The City may revise its Fair Housing Study under the following circumstances:
  - A material change occurs. A material change is a change in circumstances in the City that affects the information on which the Fair Housing Study is based to the extent that the analysis, the fair housing contributing factors, or the priorities and goals of the Study no longer reflect actual circumstances. Examples include, but are not limited to:
    - Presidentially declared disasters, under Title IV of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5121 et seq.), affecting the jurisdiction that are of such a nature as to significantly impact the steps the City may need to take to affirmatively further fair housing
    - Significant demographic changes
    - New significant contributing factors in the city, and
    - Civil rights findings, determinations, settlements (including voluntary compliance agreements), or court orders
  - Upon HUD’s written notification specifying a material change that requires the revision.
APPENDIX C: PUBLIC COMMENTS AND CITY RESPONSES

Housing and Community Development Commission (HCDC)
Public Hearing – May 13, 2020

Upon call for public comment, the following 2 people addressed the HCDC.

1. Sheng Xiong, Leadership Council for Justice and Accountability: Ms. Xiong noted that the Consolidated Plan presents a critical opportunity for the City to address the severe affordable housing needs in Fresno as well as the environmental and neighborhood health conditions that impact neighborhood health and wellbeing, and indicated she would be submitting additional written comments before the 20th. Ms. Xiong then expressed hope that the plan will address the following: promote new development of affordable housing and expand housing choice throughout Fresno, including locations in higher-income neighborhood and neighborhoods with fewer residents of color, rather than continuing to allow the concentration of housing affordable to low-income residents solely in low-income neighborhoods of color. The exclusion of other neighborhoods potentially conflicts with the City’s duty to affirmatively further fair housing under fair housing and civil rights laws; also with regard to residents wishing to remain in a community like Southwest Fresno that might not want to leave due to personal choice such as family ties- they deserve a consolidated plan that spends targeted investments of block grant funds and other resources available to decrease the disparity gap within the City of Fresno. Residents should not have to leave their community because the city has allowed severe disinvestment in these neighborhoods, many of which lack basic services and amenities such as sidewalks, street lights, curbs and gutters, grocery stores, retail outlets, and mixed and middle-income housing, and which exhibit high racially and ethnically concentrated poverty. Ms. Xiong indicated that her organization wants to assist the City in developing a prosperous final Analysis of Impediments that meets its objectives by analyzing and eliminating housing discrimination in the City of Fresno and promotes fair housing choice for all persons regardless of wealth, race, income, or place.

[City Response: The public comment has been considered and accepted.]

2. Mariah Thompson, Director of Central Valley National Lawyer’s Guild: Ms. Thompson asked why the plan specifies N/A for Goal Outcome Indicator for Fair Housing, unlike the other items for which more specific values are listed. Ms. Thompson then asked the City to further build out the section of the plan which discusses property that is owned by the City that could be utilized in achieving some of the goals of the plan, and expressed that there is a lot of opportunity there, especially if compared to the Housing Element.

[City Response: The City has revised the plan to include information regarding the process under which parcels are considered for disposition by the City, including compliance with AB 1486 which requires priority consideration for affordable housing.]
The revision also includes information about parcels for which this process is currently underway and a list of land noted as vacant on the City’s current inventory. The City funds Fair Housing as an administrative activity. Administrative activities do not require goal outcome indicators under HUD guidelines. However, the City has accepted the comment and will consider preparing Fair Housing as a separate activity with specific goals in subsequent Annual Action Plans and Consolidated Plans. The public comment has been considered and accepted.

City Council Public Hearing – May 14, 2020
No comments were provided pertaining to the 2020-2024 Consolidated Plan or 2020-2021 Annual Action Plan. One comment which was provided is presented in the appendix to the 2020 Analysis of Impediments.

Public Review Period Written Comments Received – February 28, 2020 – May 20, 2020
1. Elisabeth Robledo: Email indicating lack of translation of plans provides a barrier in communication and equal participation of all shareholders (full email attached following this summary).

[City Response: The City’s adopted Citizen Participation Plan does not require translation of public review documents. Although not required, the City provided Spanish and Hmong translation of notices and promotional materials, and interpretation services at community meetings and Public Hearings. The City will also provide Spanish and Hmong translations of the final Consolidated Plan, Annual Action Plan, and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice. The draft documents were optimized for ADA/accessibility which allows for translations utilizing machine translation services. The City will assess cost-effective means of translating draft documents as well as revisions and final versions in the future. The public comment has been considered and accepted.]

2. Emily Brandt: Email asking why the Plans were not available in Spanish and Hmong-language versions given that agendas were (full email attached following this summary).

3. Nicole DiBuduo Linder, Marjaree Mason Center: Email requesting clarification and corrections to various elements of the Plan with regard to victims of domestic violence (full email attached following this summary).

[City Response:

- HUD provides robust data analysis tools populated from the 2011-2015 American Community Survey (ACS) and Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy (CHAS) data sets. Where available, this data was used to allow for comparable statistics.
- Homeless/unsheltered individuals were identified as a high priority on page 195 consistent with homelessness being identified as the highest priority in surveys, focus groups, and community meetings. However, given that services and shelter for victims of domestic violence are the next highest-rated ESG-eligible need after the homeless needs in the 500-person community survey, the City agrees to move the item from the ‘priority’ list to the ‘high priority’ list.
- The Emergency Solutions Grant is a federal entitlement grant, and the size of the grant is determined by HUD using a formula based on census and other data.
- City staff agrees with and recommends the following changes and corrections to the Consolidated Plan:
  - Add ‘Housing’ to ‘Type’ for Marjaree Mason Center on Table 2
  - On page 20, “Street to Home” will be corrected to “Steet2Home”
  - On page 44, “Marjaree Mason Center 2017-2012 annual report” will be corrected to “Marjaree Mason Center 2017-2018 annual report”
  - On page 70, add the following language to ‘Victims of Domestic Violence’ section: “Special needs of this population include confidentiality, safe housing, accessibility, mental health services, education, and outreach.”
  - On page 136, Marjaree Mason has been added to the institutional delivery structure
  - On page 137, “Victim Services” added to the list of Homeless Prevention Services Summary; please note that this is narrative only as this is not an available option in the corresponding HUD reporting tools
  - On page 195, move ‘Victims of domestic violence’ from the ‘priority for ESG services’ section to the ‘high priority for ESG services section’
- The public comment has been considered and accepted.]

4. Ivanka Saunders, Leadership Council for Justice and Accountability: Email requesting additional transparency, commenting on various elements of the Consolidated Plan strategy, and commenting on specific actions in the Annual Action Plan. (full email attached following this summary).

[City Response:

- The City made substantial effort to increase the transparency, traceability, and engagement of the community in the development of draft plans, and has provided a more detailed summary of the citizen participation in the development of the draft plan than in prior Consolidated Plans and Annual Action Plans. The City will continue to strive to more clearly articulate the connections between direct citizen engagement and participation, and the priorities and objectives of its plans.

- All public participation was accepted for consideration in the preparation of the draft plans. Public comments received during the public review period are included in this document.
- A concise summary of past performance is included with the Consolidated Plan in accordance with HUD requirements. A more detailed summation of goals and outcomes for the 2015-2019 Consolidated Plan is included in the Consolidated Annual Performance Evaluation Report.
- The City will forward comments regarding zoning, density, commercial and industrial linkage fees for affordable housing trust fund, inclusionary housing policy, and reduced fees for residential development that addresses affordable housing to the Advance Planning Division for consideration in the City’s General Plan and other applicable planning activities.
- While the Consolidated Plan does not require affordable housing developments utilizing HUD funds to also leverage the sources of funding identified under the heading ‘Apply for Available Funding to Support Affordable Housing Development,’ the City supports additional funding where appropriate and viable, and several examples are presented in the City’s 2019 Housing Element Annual Performance Report.
- The plans do not fund or encourage industrial development in Southwest Fresno.
- The 2020-2021 Annual Action Plan does not program funds for nonprofit community services to specific activities. The City will consider applications based on their alignment to the final Consolidated Plan strategies as adopted by City Council.
- Any increase in Community Housing Development Organization Set-Aside would require reduction of other HOME-funded activities such as tenant-based rental assistance or affordable housing development. The City’s analysis concludes that the proposed allocation is consistent with the market conditions and community need.
- The following recommendations included in this letter are strongly supported by the City’s analysis and Consolidated Plan:
  - Promote and expand housing choice throughout the jurisdiction of Fresno, prioritizing high opportunity areas
  - Invest in infrastructure, rehabilitation, and public services in concentrated areas of poverty
  - Align with the Surplus Land Act (AB 1486) to prioritize affordable housing in the disposition of City-owned property
  - Utilization of HUD entitlement funds for:
    - Special needs housing
    - Neighborhood infrastructure
    - Housing rehabilitation
    - Fair housing services
    - Parks and park improvements
    - Rehabilitation of mobile homes
- The public comment has been considered and accepted.

Thank you for your response. While I am working with the issue of connectivity, it’s quite possible others have experienced similar issues and may be a potential barrier to public engagement.

However, the primary issue of concern which prompted this message is the lack of clarity in communication. While it appears the meeting’s agenda is provided in multi-language format, the plan itself is seemingly provided only in English, which serves as a barrier in providing critical information to our community members and stakeholders.

Furthermore, in visiting the website for supplemental, supportive documents regarding the plan, it was noted the documents, including the plan itself appear to be available only in the English format, which again provides a barrier in communication and equal participation of all shareholders. Please advise regarding this matter, as a means of providing the community with the necessary information to allow for equity and access, as well as foster more full and complete participation and community engagement.

Please explain why the Fresno City Consolidated Plan, the Impediment to Fair Housing and the Annual Action Plan are not available in Spanish and Hmong language versions. Having agendas available in Spanish and Hmong is only partially useful if the documents themselves are not available. Enabling translation services and public comments in languages other than English really has no meaning if people cannot read the documents on which they’re being asked to comment.

I ask that you review Title VI Executive Order 13166 pertaining to federal agencies and federal programs with a view to making all Fresno City government documents available in three languages: English, Spanish and Hmong.

Thank you!

Dear Mayor Brand, Councilmembers and members of the Housing and Community Development Department,

Thank you for allowing Marjaree Mason Center to participate in the interview process for the 2020 Annual Action Plan and for the City’s ongoing investment in the critical work we do in providing emergency shelter and crisis support for adults and children fleeing domestic violence in our community. This effort is a true partnership and we are grateful to serve alongside you. After reviewing the draft annual action plan, I have a few comments/questions for your consideration.

- Page 18 - It would be more accurate to also add the word “housing” to the type of services Marjaree Mason Center provides.
- Pages 33-34 - Domestic violence shelters and services are listed among the highest need for both development and services. However, at the end of the report on page 195, domestic violence is not listed as a high priority. I urge you to please list domestic violence as a high priority item.
- Page 43 - Why was 2011-2015 data used for a 2020 assessment on disabled and victims of crime? It is extremely outdated and does not accurately reflect current need. Fresno Police Department has a robust tracking system and 2019 domestic violence call data should be included rather than data that is old.
- Page 44 - It lists the Marjaree Mason Center 2017-2012 annual report (numbers are backwards.)
- Page 44 - The statement that Fresno Housing Authority is prioritizing domestic violence victims on their list is misleading and gives a perception that FHA has a way of prioritizing victims on a general interest list. In speaking with representatives of FHA, they do have a displacement referral process that CAN prioritize victims, however, it is not a part of their general prioritization.
- Pages 70-71 - Victims of domestic violence are listed as a special needs populations. However, none of the specific needs for addressing the population were identified in that section. Special needs such as confidentiality, safe housing, accessibility, mental health services, education and outreach should be identified for the special population of adults and children fleeing domestic violence.
- Page 74 and 77 - It clearly shows that domestic violence shelters are a highest need for survey respondents. In addition, domestic violence was named as a priority in the Street2Home plan. Again, it needs to be listed as a high priority on page 195.
- Pages 135-136 – Marjaree Mason Center should be listed on Table 32: the chart of institutional delivery structure.
- Page 141 – Now is the time to increase ESG. If we didn’t have an infusion of HEAP/CESF/HHAP funds from the state, there would be a desperate need for emergency shelter (which is an ongoing issue.) Please consider readjusting the allocations accordingly so that there are increased funds for emergency shelter.
- Page 196 – The measurement of homeless households with children based on the PIT count is extremely shortsighted since most families with children are NOT captured in PIT. This has been an ongoing conversation within the community. To use that measurement to capture homeless children would be inaccurate.

In December 2019, the Fresno Bee reported a study by the California Department of Justice that shows among California’s 10 largest cities, Fresno had the highest rate of verified domestic violence calls to police for help in 2018 – far more calls per 1,000 residents than any other big city in the state and verified domestic violence calls in the City of Fresno continue to increase.

I strongly urge you to move “victims of domestic violence” from a priority to a high priority on page 195 of the ESG allocation prioritization. Marjaree Mason Center and other community partners remain committed to serving this population. Please consider this vulnerable population as a priority in your plans to end homelessness in our community. Should you have any questions, please don’t hesitate to contact me at 559-487-1319.

Re: Comments on the City of Fresno’s 2020-2024 Draft Consolidated Plan and Annual Action Plan

Dear Mr. Morgan,

Thank you for this opportunity to submit our comments on the City of Fresno’s 2020-2024 Draft Consolidated Plan (Draft Plan). These comments aim to assist the City in developing a Final Consolidated Plan (Final Plan) that will allow the City to achieve the goal of the Department of Housing and Urban Development’s (HUD’s) Community Planning and Development Program (CPD) “to develop viable urban communities by providing decent housing and a suitable living environment and expanding economic opportunities,” principally for low- and moderate-income persons in accordance with applicable laws and regulations.¹ The 2020-2024 Consolidated Plan is a critical opportunity for the City to address the severe affordable housing need in Fresno and the environmental and neighborhood conditions that impact resident health and well-being that have only worsened with the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Draft Plan Fails to Contain Detailed Interview Transcripts of Citizen Participation

where, and the demographics of the communities from which the information came. Such information bars the public from obtaining a thorough understanding of the issues, barriers, and solutions as they relate to each community. It also denies the public from seeing a transparent process of identified priorities found by local experts during the development of the Draft Plan and from making fully informed comments on the Draft Plan.

The Draft Plan Fails to Provide Accurate and Complete Information Regarding Public Comments Not Accepted

The consolidated plan must provide a summary of citizen comments or views on the plan and a written explanation of comments not accepted and the reasons why the comments were not accepted. The Draft Plan clearly does not accept all public comments made during the public participation process, as it is inevitable that comments by the hundreds of participants will in some way conflict. Failure to explain the views provided during the public participation process and the City’s reasons for not accepting them, impedes an informed review of and comment on the Draft Plan by the public. It further undermines the transparency in the consolidated planning process which would be achieved through compliance with the Federal Regulations and HUD Guidelines.

For instance, some residents at the West Fresno community forum stated that all block grant funds should be used for projects in West Fresno, given the long history of neglect of this community by the City. West Fresno residents argued that their community continues to suffer from severe disinvestment in its neighborhoods, many of which lack basic amenities and services such as sidewalks, street lights, curb and gutter as well as grocery stores, retail outlets, and mixed and middle-income housing; and exhibit high rates of racially and ethnically concentrated poverty. At the Mosqueda Center workshop, participants there made specific requests on supporting homelessness services, youth programs, and workforce training for vulnerable populations. Thus, South Fresno has a long-outstanding need for and stands to benefit greatly from targeted investment of block grant funding and other resources available to the City of Fresno in the community. It is by these means that the City of Fresno can create equitable communities.

We therefore recommend that the City re-release the Draft Plan with an accurate and complete summary of views not accepted and the City’s reasons for not accepting those views for a new 30-day public comment period.

The Draft Plan Fails to Evaluate Past Performance
Among its several functions, the consolidated plan serves as a “management tool for assessing performance and tracking results.” Section 24 CFR §9.1. Section 24 CFR §9.200(c) requires that consolidated plans include an evaluation of past performance, in order to facilitate citizen review and comment on the plan each year. “Evaluation of past performance provides a context for the current plan and serves as a basis for current objectives and outcomes” (Desk Guide, p. 62). On page 7, the Draft Plan’s evaluation of past performance is inadequate and cannot rightly be deemed an “evaluation”. While the Draft Plan provides minimal quantitative data of the goals that were completed, there are still no sufficient qualitative descriptions, and no explanations to allow a reader to understand why the City failed to achieve all of the prior year’s goals. Likewise, for the funding categories where the City claims to have made progress in achieving its goals, the City provides no supporting evidence to allow the reader to assess the City’s judgment regarding its success. For goals that are still “pending” there is no discussion of plans that will be used to overcome the barriers to complete the goals.

Recommendations to Include in the Consolidated Plan

Given the City’s severe shortfall of affordable housing which disproportionately impacts low-moderate income residents and particularly, extremely low-income residents, residents of color, and large families, the City is obligated to identify and adopt actions necessary to address barriers to affordable housing in its consolidated plan. In addition, these same vulnerable citizens are the most impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic and the recovery from it will be slow and difficult without concise planning by the City. The actions adopted by the City must:

- Allow funding of CDBG towards health services and construction of more medical clinics/offices within the communities of South Fresno. While Clinica
Sierra Vista, for example, has expanded within low-income communities, there is still a high need for quality healthcare access in under-served populations. CDBG funding can also be aligned with other resources, like CARES dollars, to build a stronger medical system within low income, where currently, residents have to travel to the northside of Fresno for care.

- Include actions that promote and expand housing choice throughout the jurisdiction of Fresno. This includes actions that promote new development of affordable housing and expand housing choice in locations in higher income neighborhoods and neighborhoods with a lower proportion of residents of color, rather than continuing to allow the concentration of housing affordable to low-income residents to be placed solely in low-income neighborhoods of color. The City’s identification of housing in low-income neighborhoods of color, to the exclusion of other neighborhoods, potentially conflicts with the City’s duty to affirmatively further fair housing under fair housing and civil rights laws. 42 U.S.C. §§ 2000d, 3601, et seq., 5304(b)(2), 5206(5)(7B), 12705; Cal. Gov. Code § 11135.

Part of that housing choice also allows low income residents to remain in a community, like Southwest Fresno, that they may not want to leave due to personal choice such as generations of family ties. They deserve a consolidation plan that spends targeted investment of block grant funds and other resources available, to decrease the disparity gap within the communities of Fresno. Residents should not have to leave their community because the City has allowed severe disinvestment in their neighborhood.

As a reminder, the City has created a map which identifies publicly owned land. These properties should be leveraged with CDBG funds to build affordable housing in line with the Surplus Lands Act. Also, the City should use the Identified High Opportunity areas to support affordable housing projects. In addition to locations to build, the City of Fresno’s Housing Element lists Program 7-Special Needs Housing; Program 21-Neighborhood Infrastructure; Program 22-Housing Rehabilitation; and Program 26-Fair Housing Services; that can and should be supported by CDBG funds.
Exhibit 4: Email – Ivanka Saunders, Leadership Council for Justice and Accountability

- Re-designate and rezone residential land to higher densities in growth areas. The City of Fresno’s General Plan Land Use Map designates large segments of growth areas slated for development in the coming years under the low, medium low, and medium density residential land use designations. All new growth areas should include a range of residential densities, including high and urban density residential land use designations, in order to promote housing affordability.

- Require Developers to Achieve Minimum Residential Densities for Individual Parcels. The Final Plan should include a program to require developers to achieve minimum residential densities in accordance with land use designations of specific parcels rather than allow developers to achieve the average minimum density over a set of parcels by reducing density on certain higher density parcels and increasing density on certain lower density parcels. Failure to require developers to achieve minimum residential densities of higher designated parcels will add to the shortfall of parcels at sufficient residential densities, including multi-family apartment housing, necessary for the creation of units affordable to LMI populations.

- Adopt an Inclusionary Housing Policy. The Final Plan should include an action item that calls on the City to develop and adopt an inclusionary housing policy requiring new residential development to provide at least 20% of the units at rates affordable to low-income residents. At least 10% of these units should be reserved for residents at or below 30% AMI in order to help address the severe shortfall of affordable units for this population.

- Adopt a Commercial and Industrial Linkage Fee. The Final Plan should include an action for the City to undertake a nexus study for a commercial and industrial linkage fee based on the impact of new commercial and industrial development on the need for affordable housing (including for low-wage workers who may be employed at new commercial establishments who don’t provide true living wages with benefits). Funds generated through the fee should be provided to an Affordable Housing Trust Fund to support the development of affordable housing projects in new growth areas and other areas affected by new commercial and industrial development.

- Reduce Fees for Residential Development that Addresses Affordable Housing Needs. The Final Plan should include an action item to assess and adopt remaining opportunities to reduce or waive fees, expedite processing, and provide incentives for new residential development to include an affordable housing set-aside or includes units that meet the needs of any of Fresno’s special needs populations under the Plan, including for example large families with five or more persons at or below 80% AMI.

- Apply for Available Funding to Support Affordable Housing Development. The Final Plan’s Strategic Plan should state that the City will work collaboratively with community partners and stakeholders to identify projects and apply for all available funding sources to support projects that help meet the City’s need for affordable housing.
  - Available funding sources include the Affordable Housing and Sustainable Communities, Infill Infrastructure Grant Program, SB 2 Planning Grants, various tax credit programs, the Multifamily Housing Program, and many more state and federal programs. Yet, none of these programs are mentioned anywhere in the Draft Plan.
  - The City should also seek and use existing funds for projects that address public infrastructure, services, and facilities’ needs in CDBG-eligible neighborhoods and are thus supportive of housing in those locations. Such funds include for example the California Active Transportation Program, the various programs associated with SB 1, Sustainable Communities Grant, Clean Mobility Options Program, Low Carbon Transit Operations Program, Transit and Intercity Rail Program, Measure C, and many more local, state, and federal programs.

- The Final Plan must modify the City’s non-housing community development strategy to include language that the City will allow and promote the expansion of environmentally sustainable industrial development in Fresno only where it will not negatively impact existing low-income residents and neighborhoods of color. For example, within the City’s Southwest Fresno Specific Plan there is language that discusses the planned solutions for improving the quality and health of the community by doing a heavy duty truck study to reroute the high diesel trucks outside of the community. Also, Southwest and South Central Fresno are the recipients of the AB617 Community Air Protection Plan that has created strategies to reduce emissions and promote improved air quality.

- Include Policies Supportive of Parks in the Non-Housing Community Development Plan. The City's Parks Master Plan confirms that low-income South Fresno neighborhoods disproportionately lack park acreage and functioning and well-maintained park facilities compared to other Fresno neighborhoods. Access to safe and healthy green and recreational space in which to play is essential for community health and therefore to the consolidated plan’s Non-Housing Community Development Plan. Additionally, the Plan should identify funding sources that it will actively pursue to maintain, update, and new parks in alignment with the Parks Master Plan. Funding sources should include programs like the Urban Greening Grant Program, those related to Proposition 68, and others affiliated with the California Climate Investments.

- Include Recommendations Proposed by Community Members
  - Residents have stated that more outreach and technical assistance is needed for those that live in mobile home parks. When asked of their knowledge of tenant rental assistance and rehabilitation programs, residents did not know how to access this information. According to Housing Element Program 10A Mobile Home Parks, the City should support tenants and landlords to find resources to assist with the maintenance and preservation of their homes. This should be in alignment with the efforts that originate from the Consolidation Plan.
  - Recommendations for the Planned 18 Projects to meet Annual Goals
    - Project #3: Senior Paint Program
      The hired contractor should work with youth development sources to create apprenticeships to learn the trade of painting.
    - Project #4: Affordable Housing Development and Rehabilitation
Exhibit 4: Email – Ivanka Saunders, Leadership Council for Justice and Accountability

HOME funds should only be loaned to local affordable housing landlords that do not have a record of unethical property management and who have not had a history of citations for substandard housing actions.

- Project #5: Community Housing Development Organization Set-Aside
  More funds should be appropriated to this project. The Set-Aside should be aligned with a Housing Trust Fund so that there is a sustainable funding stream and so that more than 2 single-family housing units can be created.

All of these recommendations set before you are of utmost importance to create a better quality of life and healthier living conditions for all Fresno residents. More than ever, it is important to implement these recommendations as we see more serious implications due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Homelessness, substandard living conditions, and failed infrastructure systems have been part of the City of Fresno’s biggest challenges before COVID-19 hit Fresno. We urge you to incorporate these recommendations so that the City of Fresno can not only recover quickly from the pandemic but rise above the poor standards that we were already fighting to improve.

Thank you for your consideration of our comments. We look forward to working together to create a consolidated plan that complies with applicable legal standards and sets the City on a path towards addressing the housing and community development needs of its low-income neighborhoods. APPENDIX D: COMMUNITY SURVEY

One method for obtaining community input was a 29-question survey available to the general public, including people living or working in the City of Fresno or other stakeholders. The survey was available online and in hard copy, in English, Spanish and Hmong, from October to December 2019. Paper copies were available at the public meetings and other related events held throughout the study area. A total of 500 survey responses were received, including four that were completed in Spanish (although 28% of the English version respondents indicated that they live in multi-lingual households).

Following are full copies of the English, Spanish, and Hmong survey instruments and a report of the combined survey results.

Fresno Housing & Community Needs Survey

Your Opinion Counts!

The City of Fresno is developing a 5-Year Consolidated Plan that will assess the current housing market, discuss characteristics of the city’s population, identify community improvement priorities, and outline a five-year plan to fund and implement them. A separate study called an Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) will also be conducted to identify barriers to equal access to housing and neighborhood opportunities and will propose strategies to overcome those barriers.

These plans are required by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for the City to receive Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and other federal funds. In addition to prioritizing housing, community development, and homelessness needs, the plans will also look at whether everyone has similar choices for housing regardless of their race, ethnicity, national origin, sex, religion, whether they have children, or whether they have a disability.

An important part of these studies is hearing from members of the public on issues of community needs, housing needs, and fair housing.

Your answers are confidential. Information will be reported in combination with other survey responses and in summary format to protect your privacy. Please do not write your name or other personal information anywhere on the survey. You may stop the survey at any time without losing any benefits that you otherwise receive. If you have any questions about the survey or the studies, please contact Mosaic Community Planning at info@mosaiccommunityplanning.com or 470.435.6020.

¡Tu Opinión Cuenta!

La ciudad de Fresno está desarrollando un Plan Consolidado de 5 años que evaluará el mercado actual de la vivienda, analizará las características de la población de la ciudad, identificará las prioridades de mejora de la comunidad y describirá un plan a cinco años para financiar e implementar tales mejoras. También se llevará a cabo un estudio separado denominado Análisis de Impedimentos para la Elección de Vivienda Justa (AI) con el fin de identificar las barreras al acceso equitativo a la vivienda y a las oportunidades en el vecindario y propondrá estrategias para superar esas barreras.

Estos planes son requeridos por el Departamento de Vivienda y Desarrollo Urbano (HUD) de los Estados Unidos para que la Ciudad reciba la Subvención en Bloque para el Desarrollo Comunitario (CDBG) y otros fondos federales. Además de priorizar las necesidades de vivienda, desarrollo comunitario y las necesidades personales sin hogar, los planes también analizarán si todos tienen opciones similares de vivienda, independientemente de su raza, origen étnico, nacionalidad, sexo, religión, si tienen hijos o si tienen alguna discapacidad.

Una parte importante de estos estudios es escuchar a los miembros del público sobre cuestiones de necesidades de la comunidad, necesidades de vivienda y vivienda justa.

Sus respuestas son confidenciales. La información será reportada en combinación con otras respuestas de la encuesta y en formato de resumen para proteger su privacidad. No escriba su nombre u otra información personal en ninguna parte de la encuesta. Puede parar la encuesta en cualquier momento sin perder los beneficios que de otro modo recibiría. Si tiene alguna pregunta sobre la encuesta o los estudios, comuníquese con Mosaic Community Planning escribiendo a info@mosaiccommunityplanning.com o llamando al 476.435.6020.
