

Hot Water Recirculating Pump Rebate Program

REBATE SUMMARY

A rebate of up to $105 is available for the purchase and installation of a qualifying hot water recirculating pump. Rebates are limited to one (1) qualifying hot water recirculating pump per qualified account for the lifetime of the account.

Of the average 69 gallons the typical American uses indoors, approximately 25 gallons are comprised of hot water. With a standard hot water plumbing system, users have to wait anywhere from 30 seconds to 2 minutes for the water at the tap to heat up. This wait time is long enough for the typical person to get distracted and leave the running water unattended, leading to a longer wait time than necessary before using the hot water at the tap. These wasted gallons add up quickly.

A study by the Department of Energy estimated that a household of four people with four hot water fixtures can save anywhere from 3,600 to 12,000 gallons per year if an 'on demand' hot water recirculation system is installed.

The installation of a hot water recirculating pump can save customers water, energy, and money. Customers are encouraged to consult a professional about installing a hot water recirculating pump system that will work best for their individual households.
